A Package in New York.
Mussolini Signs.
From Ocean to Ocean.
Labor's Plan.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

GREATER New York is interesting. From the office where this is written you can see steamers headed for the lower bay and the ocean, new skyscrapers of Brooklyn, the East River's row of big bridges, scows hauling rocks from tunnels now being excavated, and big buildings in Wall Street, where they have finished a day of "highly mixed movements."

TO remind you that not everything is cheerful, even in rich New York, a package lies at the edge of the water, in front of the Central Vermont Railway pier, No. 29. Under newspapers covering the package lies a man, dead.

Some time in the morning, drunk with bootleg liquor, he fell into the river and was taken out at 8:45. At half-past four he still waited for somebody to take him to Potter's Field. A few weeks ago, another dead man from the river lay all day in the same place.

If that man, freed from "misery and civilization," amounts to nothing, EVERYBODY amounts to nothing.

What happened to his soul when the water choked him happens to others that die in soft beds, surrounded by expectant heirs.

IN Rome yesterday, at 11 in the morning, Mussolini entered the Vatican for the first time in his life, and signed papers restoring the Pope's temporal power, freeing the popes from self-imposed imprisonment that has lasted 50 years.

Fifteen years ago a rampant radical, opponent of the church and organized government, Mussolini little thought that as head of the Italian government he was to sign an accord with the Pope and unlock great bronze doors opened yesterday for the first time in 59 years to signify the Pope's personal freedom.

BEGINNING next week you may go from New York to Los Angeles by railroad and airplane in 60 hours. The New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads, with wide-awake presidents and financially powerful, will haul and fly you across the continent.

The New York Central starts its airplane-railroad service a little ahead of the Pennsylvania.

GEN. ATTERBURY, of the Pennsylvania, intelligently, as a first step in his plans, secured the services of Col. Lindbergh to map out his transcontinental line and supervise its work. That will help him and the Sante Fe, collaborating with the Pennsylvania.

RAMSAY MACDONALD reveals part of his plans for taking idle workmen off the "dole," giving them employment and wages.

He is a Laborite and a Socialist, and it may surprise our high finance to read that he proposed to lend British railroads public funds to modernize their equipment, thus creating work for mechanics, laborers and manufacturers.

That's not anarchy, exactly.

AN UNCUT first edition of De Quincey's "Confession of an English Opium Eater" is sold in London for $5,500. That book "uncut," and consequently unread, would lose value if its leaves were cut.

A BOOK that would be worth $5,500, or $55,000, is Voltaire's copy of the "Spirit of Law," by Montesquieu, with annotations in Voltaire's fine handwriting on the margins of many pages.

RICHARD E. ENRIGHT, for years head of New York police, says murderers should be put to work to support their families, instead of being sent to the electric chair.

Working and producing, the murderer would be more useful than lying in quicklime, outside the prison wall.

Mr. Enright also advises that thieves be imprisoned and employed long enough to make them repay those whom they have robbed.

The murderers would approve his suggestion, the thieves not.

JOSEPH COHEN'S fish store is bombed in Chicago and he is puzzled. Usually stores are bombed when the owner declines to join associations and pay. But Mr. Cohen says, "I belong to every fish dealers' association in existence."

THE National Association of Mutual Savings Banks opposes "any move to establish an alliance between savings banks and the Federal Reserve."

Savings bank depositors think such a decision should not be reached hastily. If the Federal Reserve would let savings banks enjoy some of the 15 and 20 per cent usury prosperity, and if savings banks would pass it along to depositors, they would like it.

COURT ORDER GIVES GIRL TO FATHER

Case Should Be Passed on Here, Judge Says, Taking Daughter From Mother

BOSTON, Mass., June 8.—Six-year-old Barbara Bakewell, for whose custody Benjamin P. Bakewell, secretary of the Duquesne Steel Company, Pittsburgh, sued his estranged wife, Mrs. Estelle Dunn Bakewell, daughter of the millionaire head of the Fisk Tire and Rubber Company, will return to Pittsburgh in the custody of her father.

Judge Wait, of Supreme Court, before whom proceedings over the custody of the child were heard, so directed yesterday, and Barbara, who has been in the custody of her mother, was turned over to the father without appearing in court.

Judge Wait did not pass on the merits of the case, other than to grant the father's petition for a writ of mandamus, directing the mother to turn the child over to him. Final custody, he stated in his finding, should be passed upon by the courts at the place of domicile in Pennsylvania.

Helen Won't Make Bare Legs Issue At Wimbledon

LONDON, June 8.—(AP.)—A Berlin dispatch to the Daily News today quoted Helen Wills, American tennis champion, as saying she would not start the fashion of playing without stockings in the coming Wimbledon contests, but she would follow the leader if the weather was very warm and the other women wanted to go barelegged.

"If there's a strong public opinion against bare legs, then it's stockings for me every time," she said. "But other women players will not find me letting them down if they specially want me to go barelegged."

FIRMS TO CURB COAL POLICE ON EDICT

Property Protection Limit Termed Final Betrayal of People by Liberties Union

Pittsburgh industrial corporations prepared today to obey the new regulations laid down by Gov. John S. Fisher for the industrial police who are to supplant the coal and iron police under the terms of the Mansfield law. If they felt nettled over the rules they did not show it.

At the same time, these new regulations were described by at least one foe of the coal police system as the "final step in the betrayal of the people."

Capt. L. J. O'Neill, head of the Carnegie Steel Company's police force, by far the largest body affected by the new law, said the company had long been complying with most of the new regulations.

Most important among them is the requirement that industrial police shall not exercise authority outside of the company property they are hired to protect.

COAL FIRM TO OBEY

"Our men do not leave the company property while on duty," said Capt. O'Neill, "except to guard the paymaster when he is en route to the mills. They do not wear their uniforms except when on company property."

Capt. O'Neill said the company would not immediately comply with the requirement that the police wear forest green uniforms, because uniforms of the old style were bought for the men only a month ago, and companies have until October 1 to make the changes demanded.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company has indicated that it will cheerfully comply with the new regulations. It was the actions of its coal and

OFFICER DYING IN SOUTHERN STRIKE RIOT

3 More Policemen, Organizer Shot and 44 Textile Union Camp Dwellers Arrested

GASTONIA, N. C., June 8.—(AP.)—Chief of Police C. J. Aderholt, who was seriously injured last night in a fight between guards about the tented colony of striking Loray cotton mill workers and city policemen, was barely alive today, hospital attaches reported. Artificial means of respiration were being used. Chief Aderholt was wounded in the lungs with birdshot.

Three other men were in hospitals, a fifth was nursing birdshot wounds and 44 members of the National Textile Union were in custody charged with assault with intent to kill.

The city, which for several hours last night was thrown into a turmoil, had grown calm with rapid work by special police detectives in rounding up suspects. A request for troops made to Gov. Gardner met with a statement that the local officials should handle the situation if possible and the request was withdrawn.

A. J. Roach, a patrolman, was peppered by scores of shot and was regarded as being in a serious condition while it was expected that Patrolman Tom Gilbert would recover. Patrolman Charles Ferguson received a number of shot in his arm and shoulder and Joseph Harrison, of Passaic, N. J., who claims to be a National Textile Workers Union organizer, was struck in the arm and side. Harrison was held under guard at the hospital.

The police charge that the shooting was done by the guards posted around a tent camp where 150 strikers lived after eviction from their homes. The officers said the only shot fired by them was accidental, a patrolman's gun being discharged when he fell to the ground to avoid a load from a shotgun.

Near Death

MRS. MARY COPELY THAW

Mrs. Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, is near death, according to her physician, who says it is a matter of days.

PNEUMONIA CLIMAXES FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw is near death, the Sun-Telegraph learned today.

If her passing is not a matter of hours, it is a matter of days, Dr. Marshall revealed.

Mrs. Thaw lies in a shaded room of the Thaw mansion at 1165 Beechwood boulevard, which has been her world for four years.

86TH BIRTHDAY NEAR

Age and sickness have weakened her to the critical point. Mrs. Thaw will be 86 on Friday. Dr. Marshall said a passive congestion of the lungs existed. A telephone call to the Thaw home brought the information that pneumonia had set in.

Mrs. Thaw's children all have been told of their mother's critical condition. Those who are not already there are hurrying to her bedside. Her children are Mrs. Alice Copley Whitney, former Countess of Yarmouth; Countess Margaret Carnegie de Perigney, Josiah Copley Thaw and Harry Kendall Thaw.

HAD BROKEN HIP

Mrs. Thaw's battle against illness has been heroic. Physicians have marveled at her continued resistance. Four years ago, while coming from services in the Third Presbyterian Church, she slipped, fell down the church steps. Her hip was fractured. Since that accident she has been confined to her bedroom in the Thaw mansion, severed from the outside world, cheered by her children, physicians and her spiritual advisor, the Rev. W. L. McEwan.

"Mrs. Thaw is a woman of wonderful vitality," Dr. Marshall said today.

Mrs. Thaw's has been a life rich in philanthropy and experience. She met the man she married—William Thaw—in a romance of the Civil War. She gave of the Thaw millions freely to charity and science. Tragedy overtook her at sea, for she was on a steamer bound for England at the moment Harry Thaw fired the shot that killed Architect Stanford White.

STOOD BY BOY

The love she had for her own was best illustrated then. When her steamer docked in England, she took the first boat returning to the States. During her son's trial she was in the courtroom every day. Hundreds of thousands of the Thaw fortune were used in the defense.

Mrs. Thaw was born in Armstrong County, Pa., in 1843. Twenty-four years later she and William Thaw, millionaire patron of art and science, were married.

BEER SENTENCE DODGER TAKEN

Fenton Wilt, a former Pittsburgh attorney, adjudged guilty of contempt of court by Federal Judge W. H. S. Thomson on April 26, 1923, in the once famous "flat beer" case, is under arrest in Detroit, Mich., and will be brought to Pittsburgh for sentence. The charge involved beer that had been seized by the government and later sold to saloonkeepers.

Two other defendants in the case, John Douglas, Jr., former clerk of courts of Allegheny County, and William A. Kelton, former prohibition group head in Pittsburgh, also declared in contempt, served one year each in jail, after a long legal battle in which they carried their appeals to the United States Supreme Court.

ILLNESS CAUSED DELAY

Testimony at a hearing before Judge Thomson disclosed that the beer had been hauled in trucks owned by Douglas. Because of illness of Attorney Wilt he was not given his sentence with the other

Count, Free on Bail In Rum Case, Sails

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS.)—Count Maxenee de Polignac, French nobleman arrested Thursday as the alleged head of in international bootleg ring catering to New York's "Four Hundred," was beyond the 12-mile limit this morning. He was allowed to leave on the liner Paris for France in $25,0000 cash bail after assuring the authorities that he would return here to stand trial.

If the Count should change his mind he may remain in France in safety. There is no law, nor treaty, between France and the United States by which the Count could be extradited.

BASEBALL BAN STIRS BOROUGH

A storm of protest over refusal of the Bellevue school board to permit use of the high school athletic field for ball games on the Fourth of July broke at a meeting of the Bellevue Board of Trade last night.

The Board of Trade, in accordance with custom, had arranged to have two ball games played as part of the Independence Day program, only to have the school board refuse use of the field, it developed.

All professional, semi-professional and even high school ball games have been banned, a letter to the trade organization from James W. Graham, secretary of the school board, revealed. Objection by nearby residents to noise and damage to property is said to have been responsible for the school board's action.

BURGESS PROTESTS

"The high school athletic field is the only public playground in Bellevue," declared Burgess W. J. Longmore at last night's meeting. "On an occasion like the Fourth of July, it would seem that rules

TROTZKY ASKS ENGLISH VISIT

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 8.—(AP.)—Leon Trotzky, former Red army leader, who is now in exile here, today asked Premier MacDonald, Great Britain's new Labor prime minister, for authorization to visit England "for urgent medical treatment and scientific work."

After Trotzky had sent a telegram to Mr. MacDonald, the exiled Russian's son gave the British consul at Pera a letter from his father, asking a visa on the grounds of the necessity for very urgent medical treatment and the desire to survey the publication of his autobiography in English.

BABE RUTH ILL, NOT 'THROUGH'

A victim, according to official pronunciamento, of "muscular heart trouble," the great home run slugger of the New York Yankees will be out of the game for an indefinite period.

The more optimistic of Ruth's intimates said he would be back in the Yankees' lineup within a week o. 10 days; the more pessimistic inclined to the belief that Ruth would not don his uniform again for a month and a half at least and possibly for the rest of the season.

Certainly there appeared to be no basis for early reports that Ruth's baseball career was over. Efforts to learn the Babe's exact condition were hampered by the wall of mystery with which his illness has been shrouded. At the West Eighty-sixth street apartment where Ruth and his bride of two months, Mrs. Claire Hodgson Ruth, are living, enough has been learned to indicate that a brief vacation is all the slugger needs to put himself right again.

2 Reported Dead in Crash

Two men were reported fatally injured and a woman seriously hurt in an automobile accident on Washington road near Brookside boulevard today. An excited woman telephoned the county morgue shortly before noon to report the accident and an ambulance was sent to the scene.

VOTE CHEATER FIRED BY CITY

Edward Alston, Bureau of Water employe, found guilty of election fraud yesterday, was suspended by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, today. He was served with a five-day notice of the filing of a charge of conduct unbecoming a public official before the Civil Service Commission. Shindel, it was said, will resign.

GRIMES SEEKS TENTH VICTORY

Burleigh Grimes today will endeavor to ring up his tenth victory of the season, and the undefeated Pirate ace is extremely anxious to record this triumph, inasmuch as his opponents are his former clubmates of the Flatbush. The Robins reached town this morning to begin a series. Southpaw Watson Clark probably will oppose the spitball marvel.

The Pirates held to their pace yesterday by defeating the Braves, 6 to 2, thereby holding fast to the honor position. The Cubs crowded into second place, owing to the defeat of the Redbirds, who were trimmed for the third time in succession by the onrushing Giants.

With the Brooklyn club in Pittsburgh are Johnny Morrison and Eddie Moore, former Pirates. Morrison has just been purchased from the Kansas City club of the American Association. Jughandle Johnny worked in the relief role in Chicago yesterday.

The Pirates and Dodgers will rush to Brooklyn tonight, a game being scheduled for Ebbets Field Sunday. The series will be resumed here Monday.

Ocean Fliers Hoping To Hop Off Tomorrow

OLD ORCHARD, Me., June 8.—(INS.)—Wearied by repeated postponements of the start of their proposed flight to Paris in the Yellow Bird, the members of the crew of the French monoplane are spending much of their time playing golf on the links of the Old Orchard Country Club.

Both the Frenchmen and Roger Q. Williams and Lewis A. Yancey, of the American monoplane, Green Flash, are hopeful, however, that the weather man will issue a report today favoring a take-off tomorrow morning.

Lawyer Loses Fight To Escape Pen Term

CHICAGO, June 8.—(INS.)—Denied a new trial, Charles S. Wharton, prominent criminal lawyer, today was putting his affairs in order preparatory to entering Leavenworth Penitentiary June 13 for a two-year term.

Wharton was convicted of conspiracy to rob the mails. The charge grew out of a $133,000 mail robbery in 1927 at Evergreen Park, near here.

Army Flier Killed As Parachute Fails

COON RAPIDS, Iowa, June 8.—(AP).—W. G. Slingerland, 25, Mount Clemens, Mich., was killed because his parachute failed to open when he leaped from a stalled airplane. Slingerland was piloting one of six Army planes to an airport dedication at Sioux City.

Mme. Schwimmer Sails for Berlin

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, recently denied citizenship by the Supreme Court because of her pacifist views, sailed shortly after midnight today for Europe on the French liner Paris to attend at Berlin the twenty-fifth anniversary meeting of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance.

When she sailed she had in her possession special papers issued by immigration authorities providing for her re-entry into this country. A passport had been denied because she was not a citizen.

Polish Fliers Test Plane for Sea Hop

MILAN, Italy, June 8.—(AP.)—The Polish trans-Atlantic plane which is undergoing tests here yesterday reached a speed of 130 miles an hour. The fuel consumption was so low that the aviators believe they can make the crossing from Dublin, Ireland, to Chicago, without a stop.

Missing Oil Witness Has Heart Attack

CANNES, France, June 8.—(AP).—James E. O'Neil, former president of the Prairie Oil Company, whose presence in the United States has been sought for more than four years, in order that he might be questioned in connection with the Teapot Dome oil case, is recovering from a recent heart attack. These attacks have recurred frequently since he took up residence with his wife and daughter at Villa San Antonio on the Riviera.

Swedish Flier's Hop For America Delayed

STOCKHOLM, June 8.—(INS.)—The scheduled flight of Capt. Albin Ahrenbergh, who plans to attempt the westward Atlantic crossing from Sweden to America, was postponed today until Monday, because of unfavorable weather conditions over the Scandinavian Peninsula.

Capt. Ahrenbergh planned to leave tomorrow morning, but this has been found impracticable. The flight is to be made by way of Norway, Greenland and Iceland.

Corey Must O.K. Ex-Wife's 'Bid' to Wed Prince

PARIS, June 8.—(INS.)—"The woman pays and pays" and, according to reports, the pre-nuptial contract of Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, former wife of the Pittsburgh steel magnate, with Don Luis Ferdinand, Prince de Bourbon, contains clauses that will provide for the cousin of King Alfonso of Spain during their entire married life.

Negotiations between Prince Luis and Mabelle have been in progress for more than a year, but Mabelle makes no decisions without her former husband's consent, friends say.

The marriage will doubtless take place before the end of the summer and it is stated that more than $250,000 is involved and that the prince's invalid mother and brother have a profit sharing interest in Luis' good fortune.

Plane Carrying Orchestra Lost in Fog, Makes Port

A tri-motored airplane from Cleveland was lost in the fog above Carrick for 20 minutes or more early today after it had taken off from Bettis Field, McKeesport. The ship carried Pilot Merle Kane and eight members of a flying Akron (O.) orchestra.

Carrick residents watched the ship's distress with interest and at Mayer Field, Bridgeville, preparations were being made to send up a ship to lead the tri-motored plane out of the fog when it finally found its bearings and headed for Akron. It was believed that the pilot had simply lost his sense of direction in the fog.

The plane made good time to Akron and Cleveland after it found its course, being reported in its hangar at the Cleveland Airport an hour after it flew out of the fog. The Bettis Field register shows the ship as the property of Universal Air Lines of Cleveland.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF STUDENT BAFFLES OFFICIALS

JUDGE'S SON FOUND SHOT AT COLLEGE

Authorities Differ Over Theories of Suicide and Murder in School Tragedy

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP.)—Whether Bramwell Linn, 21, an honor student at Haverford College, whose body, with a bullet wound through the head, was found in his room on the campus, committed suicide or was slain remained undetermined today. Official opinion differed.

The student was a son of Judge William B. Linn, of the Pennsylvania Superior Court. He was to have been graduated today and was to have received a special prize for improvement in scholarship.

Judge Linn joined with George Frankenfield, coroner of Delaware County, in expressing the belief that the student had been slain. Those entertaining the suicide theory included Capt. Samuel Siegle, of the Haverford Township police, and District Attorney W. J. McCarter, of Delaware County.

RIFLE IN CORNER

Clothed only in underwear, Linn's body was found on the floor of his room in Lloyd Hall by Robert Doughty, Jr., a classmate. A .22 caliber rifle stood in a corner of the room.

After an autopsy, Coroner Frankenfield said that Linn had met his death from a bullet which entered the back of the head and lodged at the base of the brain. The Coroner said there were no powder marks, indicating that the shot had been fired from a distance.

McCarter thought that Linn stood the rifle in the corner and then, with his hands behind him, pulled the trigger.

Frankenfield stated that an inquest would be held Monday night. Doughty and three other students, Wendell W. Blanche, Wayne, Pa.; Ralph Atkinson, Salem, O., and John G. Hartman, York, Pa., all close friends of Linn, who had been held for questioning, were released late last night.

NOTE HINTS SUICIDE

A note, which Linn gave to Doughty to turn over to Hartman, read:

"The soggy old prohibitionists will get a great kick out of this. They'll say it was booze, but it was not. They'll say I was insane, but I'm not. I'm both sane and sober. I want to pass out of this life as unknown as I came into it."

Several poems were found on the floor beside Linn's body. Some of them told of love that had "lighted and then flickered."

Linn was a member of the staff of the Haverfordian, college publication, and nearly every month it contained contributions from his pen. Fellow students said he was a deep thinker and had taken no interest in college athletics.

Children Get $16,000 In Death of Mother

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., June 8.—A Jefferson County jury gave a verdict for the children of Mrs. Mary Perri, of Punxsutawney, in the sum of $16,000 against the Mahoning Ice Cream Company, of this place, as the result of Mrs. Perri's death in an automobile accident.

MINISTER'S OVERTURNED CAR AFTER PLUNGE INTO DOWNTOWN DITCH

When the automobile in which she and her husband were driving plunged into an excavation at Fifth avenue and Market street last night, Mrs. C. W. Tinsley, 47, of 329 Cornell avenue, West View, wife of the Rev. C. W. Tinsley, pastor of the West View Methodist Episcopal Church, was injured about the chest and arms. The hole was dug by workmen of the Duquesne Light Company making repairs to underground cables.

two defendants, and it was deferred until May 12, 1928. Continued illness caused further postponements and in the mass of Federal Court business it was evidently forgotten until a few days ago, the discovery being made in the District Attorney's office in checking up undisposed cases.

Assistant United States Attorney Zeno Fritz on Thursday obtained a bench warrant for Wilt and a search for him started under the direction of C. L. Keep, in charge of special agents of the Department of Justice. His investigation led to the arrest of Wilt in Detroit.

FORFEITED BEER SOLD

Testimony at the hearing showed that Wilt was not heavily involved in the violation of the court order for the beer destruction.

The suit involved several hundred barrels of beer seized in raids, which were removed from the warehouse of the Standard Ice Company, River avenue, and some sold to saloonkeepers after it had been condemned as forfeited to the government and ordered destroyed by Judge Thomson. The violation of the court order first became known to Federal authorities when some of the purchasers complained of having bought "sour" beer.

In the prosecution of the contempt proceedings, the government was represented by Judge George V. Moore, of Common Pleas Court, then an assistant United States attorney.

His Cash Stolen At Police Chiefs' Convention

ATLANTA, Ga., June 8.—(AP.)—Chief Inspector George E. Henry of the Baltimore Police Department received a first hand lesson on the ravages of the much discussed "crime wave" and paid $35 for it.

He left that amount in a billfold in his automobile on a downtown street as he prepared to depart homeward from the convention of the International Association of chiefs of police. When he returned to the car the billfold was gone.

TAFT TIRED OUT, IN HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Over-exertion on a recent trip to Cincinnati and gall bladder trouble have sent Chief Justice Taft to the Garfield Hospital here for rest and observation.

Hospital authorities say he is in no danger and his condition is satisfactory. Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Clayton, his personal physicians, do not expect an operation to become necessary, and believe a complete rest for several days will enable him to recuperate.

The chief justice made a brief visit to relatives at Cincinnati after the close Monday of the arduous winter session of the Supreme Court. He returned yesterday en route to his summer home in Canada, and, dissatisfied with his physical condition, he stopped for an examination and rest.

He left for Cincinnati Monday night after an exceptionally busy session of the court in which he was very active despite his 71 years. The court managed, before it recessed for the summer, to dispose of most of the cases before it for the first time in many years.

State Police Printer To Link 105 Towns

HARRISBURG, June 8.—(INS.)—One hundred and five cities and boroughs will be connected in the state police printer system when installation is completed, Maj. C. M. Wilhelm, the deputy superintendent, said yesterday. Several others are considering such installation, Wilhelm said.

The system will be used to send messages concerning commission of crimes anywhere in the state, with Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Scranton and Harrisburg as central receiving stations.

FIRMS PROMISE POLICE CURB

iron police, culminating in the killing of John Barkowski, that precipitated the demand that the authority of these privately paid officers be curbed.

To enforce the new rules Gov. Fisher has created the new position of secretary of industrial police, with Capt. George Lumb as incumbent.

CONDEMNED BY UNION

In behalf of the executive committee of the Pittsburgh branch of the American Civil Liberties Union, W. Ellison Chalmers issued a statement condemning the new regulations as "the final step in the betrayal of the people of Pennsylvania."

"They do not, in any sense," said Chalmers, "correct the evils of the system which Gov. Fisher himself characterized as 'vicious,' and the fact remains that the authority of the coal and iron police by the entire procedure has been widened and enlarged.

"It is a mistake to assume the regulations confine the police to company property. The new rule reads 'confine their activities to the protection of the property.' This can only mean that on the assumption that they are enforcing the protection of company property they may roam over the entire state, as the Mansfield law actually allows them."

One of the new regulations declares that "industrial police shall not use undue violence in making arrests, unnecessarily display or use weapons," and a third requires corporations to make a monthly report.

VIOLATORS LOSE RIGHTS

Violations of any of these regulations "will result in the immediate revocation of commissions."

The act itself sets forth that industrial police have the powers and prerogatives of police of first-class cities and of constables. One of the Governor's orders requires corporations to file with him copies "of their regulations for the conduct of their industrial police."

The remaining regulations order each concern to file with the governor a plan showing the location and character of the property, require the wearing of forest green uniforms and a badge, and prohibit charging fees for arrests, service of warrants or other police duties.

The terms of the law direct that a bond of $2,000 must be furnished, but a corporation may put up a blanket bond of $50,000 for any number of police. Each police, who may be employed by coal companies or public utilities, must be certificated by three citizens, and he must be a citizen of the United States and a resident of Pennsylvania for one year. He is required to take the oath upon appointment.

LABOR CABINET TAKES HELM IN BRITAIN

International News Service.

LONDON, June 8.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald's appointments to his new Labor cabinet were officially confirmed by King George at Windsor Castle today when he turned over the seals of office to the new government.

Premier MacDonald and his government colleagues arrived from London in a special train. The men wore silk hats and either frock coats or morning dress. Miss Margaret Bondfield, minister of labor, and the first woman ever to hold a post of cabinet rank in the British government, wore a long black coat and a black hat trimmed with white ribbon.

Although MacDonald on many occasions in the past has shown himself far from anxious to be swayed by the desires of radical elements in his party, it was thought that he might appease the "left wing" circles by choosing at least one important cabinet member from among their ranks.

He elected, however, to pick a "safety first" cabinet, selecting men of straight Laborite policies, and leaving the radical elements sadly out in the cold. Chief disappointment is expressed over the fact that John Wheatley, leader of the Labor extremists and a member of the first Labor cabinet of 1924, is not in the cabinet. Neither is James Maxton, fiery supporter of the Wheatley faction, who was a prominent figure in the campaigning for a Labor government.

The new cabinet, however, is bound to meet with approval of Tories and Liberals alike, for it is accepted as proof that no particularly drastic policies will be undertaken by the Labor regime. All the newspapers, even the Tory organs, agreed that Premier MacDonald had done a good job in making his selections.

A low pressure area in the form of a narrow trough extends from Eastern West Virginia southwestward over Tennessee and Arkansas to Texas, thence northwestward over the Rocky Mountain states to Alberta, with centers of disturbance over Western Tennessee, Utah and Alberta. Cloudy weather is general throughout the low pressure, and generous rains occurred from the Middle Atlantic coast southwestward throughout the low pressure area to Texas.

FINAL FARM AID ACT DUE SOON IN SENATE

Congress Passes Saturday Holiday to Speed Work In Hope of Long Recess

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Hoping to start a real vacation in the near future, Congress decided not to take today off but to get on with its work.

With the farm relief bill before the Senate for final action and the census-reapportionment measure in conference for adjustment of minor differences, leaders felt free to go ahead with plans looking to an early adjournment until September.

Those plans depend chiefly upon the success of efforts to obtain an agreement for a Senate vote on the tariff bill about mid-October and the failure of export debenture advocates to hold together a sufficient majority in that chamber to bring about a deadlock with the House on the farm bill.

The Senate Democrats have been called to confer on the tariff vote proposal Monday, and apparently are willing to accede to the Republican leaders' wishes if, in the words of their own leader, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, they are assured "reasonable time for a discussion of all amendments that may be offered."

An agreement fixing a time for a vote on the tariff bill, on which hearings will be started Wednesday by the Senate Finance Committee, will require a two-thirds majority. If the Democrats decide to support the move, the strongest opposition thus far indicated will be that of Republican independents.

Senator Robinson, meanwhile, is leading the opposition to acceptance of the joint conference report of the farm relief legislation, which recommends elimination of the export debenture proposal voted by the Senate, 47 to 44, over vigorous administration objections through a coalition of Democrats and Republican independents.

The report was accepted by the House with little debate and was made the order of business in the Senate today at the request of its pilot, Chairman McNary of the Agricultural Committee and the Joint Conference Committee, displacing the proposal of Senator Nye, (Rep.) of North Dakota, to bring repeal of the national origins clause of the immigration act before the chamber.

Presenting a revised farm bill regarded as acceptable to President Hoover, action on the report is not expected until next week. Senator Robinson has announced his intention to try to force a House vote on the debenture plan, a move which administration leaders of that chamber have thus far successfully blocked through representatives in the joint conference negotiations.

regarding use of the field might be lifted for the sake of the community celebration."

Several others spoke against the stand of the school board, contending that the ball games were the principal features of the Independence Day program and that failure to provide games would mean a serious loss of revenue for the celebration.

Burgess Longmore, T. A. McNary and Peter Cray were appointed a special committee by President John W. Vickerman to confer with the school board to ask that the ban be lifted. Another session of the board of trade was called for Tuesday night.

BOARD EXPLAINS

In a letter to Vickerman regarding use of the field, Secretary Graham, of the school board, said:

"The school board has always co-operated in matters of this kind and are very glad to give you the use of the field for this celebration but must ask that all ball games be eliminated.

"Unfortunately this piece of ground is not large enough for professional or semi-professional baseball and in addition, the wire netting used for the protection of the Sheraden avenue residences has been taken down. You probably know all games have been eliminated this spring, including the boys' high school games."

WILLIAM TALLMAN

TALLMAN NOTE BRANDED FAKE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—(INS.)—The escape of William Tallman, dapper radio operator and alleged slayer of Mrs. Virginia Patty at Los Angeles, still baffled police today.

Is he still on the Admiral Benson, now en route to Portland, or did he jump into San Francisco Bay as the steamer came into the harbor from San Pedro?

Police say there are circumstances which point to either conclusion.

A note found in his cabin, hinting the possibility of suicide, was branded a forgery today, after police compared the handwriting with that of Tallman.

Radio advices received from the Admiral Benson said that Tallman was observed slinking through the engine room of the vessel a short time before it docked at San Francisco, where officers were waiting to take him into custody.

This led authorities to believe that he might be hidden in the afterhold of the ship.

All hatches have been ordered sealed and it will be thoroughly searched when it reaches Portland tomorrow. A search of the ship at sea yesterday, however, failed to reveal any trace of the fugitive.

That Tallman might have jumped overboard as the ship passed Golden Gate was indicated by the fact that a life preserver from the Admiral Benson was found on the shore of Baker's Beach.

20 Hurt as Mob Storms French Prison

LIMOGES, France, June 8.—(AP.)—Twenty persons were seriously injured here today in an outbreak of rioting incident to storming of the prison by a mob of 10,000.

The disturbance followed return of a sentence of life imprisonment for Charles Bartaud, son of a local merchant who was convicted of two sordid murders, but by a strange twist of court procedure saved from the guillotine. The mob formed outside the prison and demanded Bartaud be handed over to them.

G.O.P. HOSTS GATHER FOR JUBILEE

20,000 Throng Ripon, Wis., For Celebration of Birth Of Republican Party

RIPON, Wis., June 8.—(AP.)—A 75-year-old echo was picked up in this historic little town today and amplified to gigantic proportions by the thousands come to attend the Republican diamond jubilee celebration.

Its genesis was a meeting in 1854 of a handful of political-conscious pioneers who, moved by the crushing defeat of the Whig party and the threat of slavery to gain a foothold in the North, were determined on drastic action.

The same building that sheltered the leaders of this then remote hamlet, nestled in the green wooded hills of the new state of Wisconsin, was the center of today's ceremonies commemorating the birth of the Republican party three-quarters of a century ago.

Secretary of War James W. Good made the address of the day, surrounded by notables of the party, come from all parts of the country.

Fourteen bands, cavalry, military escorts, Ripon College R. O. T. C. unit, drum corps, historical floats, and a two-ton elephant, symbol of the G. O. P., featured the three-mile parade.

On the front of the little white school, facing the rows of spectators in the amphitheater, was a tablet with this inscription:

"Birthplace of the Republican party. In this school house, March 20th, 1854, was held the first mass meeting in this country that definitely and positively cut loose from old parties and advocated a new party under the name Republican."

LINDY AND ANNE HIDDEN IN FOG

BOOTHBAY HARBOR, Me., June 8.—(INS.)—Happily isolated today somewhere out in the misty privacy off here, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his bride, the former Miss Anne Morrow, were enjoying to the utmost a temporary seclusion afforded them by atmospheric conditions.

Fog shrouded the little power cruiser, Mouette, soon after the craft, with Lindbergh at the helm, was seen to pass Point Pemaquid here, heading presumably for a harbor anchorage.

William Wincapaw, airplane pilot for the Curtiss Flying Service of New York, was the keen-eyed scout who saw the Mouette arrive. Fog wrapped them round about and even stilled the betraying sound of their chugging motor. The small army of reporters, reinforced by an auxiliary of photographers in launches and tugboats, was definitely checkmated, at least for the time.

The most popular theory as to Lindy's destination was the obvious one—that he was headed for the Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow summer home at North Haven, 35 miles from here. From the Morrow place came word that no preparations had been made there for visitors so far as could be seen. The big "cottage" and the "honeymoon villa" were both shuttered and unoccupied. A lone caretaker patrolled the premises, evincing no intention of entertaining guests. It didn't look as if Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were expected.

Meanwhile, all the summer resorts along the coastline from Cape Porpoise, from which point Lindy and Anne sailed yesterday, to North Haven kept a late watch for the Double Eagle. Crowds watched along the waterfront in Portland, and press planes and newspaper automobiles scurried up and down the coast.

But Lindy and Anne were wrapped in the seclusion of the friendly fog.

Noted Theologian Smiles At Approaching Doom

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP.)—Down into the silences of the "valley of the shadow of death" walks Dr. Ozora S. Davis, Alone, fearless, confident.

Victim of an incurable malady, the noted theologian has heard surgeons pass a final sentence upon him—a year, perhaps longer, perhaps only a few days, and then the book ends.

But there is no fear in the heart of this gentle, snowy-haired veteran of the pulpit who rose from a penniless newsboy to become moderator of the Congregational Church and president of one of its chief fountainheads, the Chicago Theological Seminary.

WORLD INTERESTING

True, he has retired from the moderatorship and has become President Emeritus of the seminary. But his hand is steady, his eyes twinkling clear and his laughter hearty as he sits in his study in the new $1,200,000 Seminary building—fruit of his 20 years as its head—talking of his life, what he has seen in his 62 years, and of tomorrow.

"Excuse me if I am not as active as once," he said. "I've been a plaything for the surgeons." He tilted back in his chair, chuckling at the phrase.

"Of course, I don't want to go—this is a mighty interesting world and I'm having a mighty good time in it. But I'm no more afraid of it than I am of walking through the door to this study. For I know that I shall have a spiritual body to do with as I please and I won't have to worry about the aches and pains of this poor physical body.

"I'm a gentleman of leisure now. I'm going to write some books, a biography of Victor F. Lawson, travel some, and lecture to my classes. It's hard to make a Vermont Yankee quit work, you know.

AUTHOR OF 13 BOOKS

"This world has been very good to me. Think of the things I've seen—the procession of scientific marvels in my time. Our problem now is how to provide personal control to direct for the common good and moral ends these tremendous engines we have devised.

"And the young people today—they are the finest I have known. They are more honest, fearless, more trustworthy. They do some things that make me shiver, but they insist on doing their own thinking, for which I thank God.

"I believe there is more religion in the popular mind today than ever."

Author of 13 books on religion, and many pamphlets, he has only one plumb-line for religion—the Golden Rule.

A woman's leap from the third floor window of a rooming house at 801 Sundusky street early today, police say to escape arrest, was thwarted when a policeman sent to arrest her caught her foot, and with the aid of his comrade pulled her back into the room after a struggle.

She was Betty White, 25, and according to Patrolmen Robert Groves and John Donovan, of the North Side Station, would have plunged to the street had not Groves succeeded in getting a bulldog hold on her left foot.

They were called to the place by the proprietor, who told them the woman had created a disturbance. When they entered her room she was lying across the bed, but dashed toward the window when informed she was under arrest. She had cleared the sill before the policemen could reach her, and was pulled back only after a struggle. At North Side station she was charged with disorderly conduct and at a Morals Court hearing was fined $10. Police said she did $25 damage to a padded cell while awaiting a hearing.

U. S. REPARATIONS EXPERTS SAIL AMID ALLIES' PRAISE

RATIFICATION LOOMS FOR DEBT PACT

Nations Expected to Indorse Terms Placed on Germany As World War Penalty

By ROBERT W. THOMPSON.
International News Service.

PARIS, June 8.—Their work completed, the American delegates to the successful reparations conference boarded the Cunard liner Aquitania today at Cherbourg to sail for the United States.

Headed by Owen D. Young, chairman of the committee of reparations experts, and Thomas W. Lamont, the delegation left here this morning.

AMERICANS PRAISED

The delegates, who had devoted many months to solution of the tangled reparations problem, leave France accredited by the nations of the world with making settlement of the vexing affair possible. French newspapers were lavish today in their praise of Young, whose splendid diplomacy and untiring effort are held responsible for the settlement.

All that remains now is for the individual governments to sanction the terms agreed upon by the German and Allied delegates for apportioning the costs of the World War. When the 14 delegates wrote their names on the final report of the conference in the Hotel George V here yesterday afternoon, the problem which had upset international relations for 11 long years was ended.

The feeling was expressed in authoritative circles today that governmental sanction of the agreement would be forthcoming from all nations, and that the Young plan would go into effect in the autumn as scheduled.

TO PAY BY 1989

Under the terms of the plan, the amount of reparations Germany must pay to the allied nations and the extent of each year's annuity is set forth. At the end of 1989, the total figure will have been paid, and the costs of the World War virtually liquidated.

Under the scheme outlined Germany will pay over 59 years a debt having a capital value of approximately $8,800,000,000, and an eventual value of about $26,964,000,000.

The final report was signed in a simple ceremony, all the delegates who participated in the conferences, with the exception of J. P. Morgan and Dr. Albert Voegler, being present. Morgan sailed for home a week ago, and Dr. Voegler, formerly second in command of the German delegation, resigned from the conference when one of the many deadlocks which threatened the eventual success of the parley, was reached.

HEFLIN RENEWS FIGHT ON SMITH

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Senator Heflin, of Alabama, yesterday challenged "any Southern Democrat" to stand up in the Senate and say he favored the nomination of Alfred E. Smith for President in 1932.

No Senator responded. Only a few Democrats were present at the time.

The Alabaman declared that the purpose of the forthcoming Democratic dinner in Washington was "to boost Raskob" and to continue him as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

RICHMOND, Va., June 8.—(AP.)—The executive committee of the anti-Smith Democrats in Virginia in session here heartily indorsed the letter written them by Bishop James Cannon, Jr. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, urging opposition to state Democratic leaders who aided in the campaign for Alfred E. Smith last year.

The committee, meeting to make arrangements for the anti-Smith convention at Roanoke June 8, made public a statement announcing that every Democrat who voted against Smith would be admitted to the convention as a full-fledged delegate.

No other qualification will be required.

The committee expressed itself as amused at the apparent contradiction in the Attorney General's opinion that anti-Smith Democrats may participate in the Democracy primary, and the efforts of Barney Bowman, Richmond Democratic Committee chairman, to bar aspirants for committee membership who voted for Hoover.

LAWYERS HELD IN ROADHOUSE KILLING

Three Attorneys, Two Shot In Battle, Accused of Starting Fatal Resort Row

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 8.—(INS.)—Three Elkhart lawyers were under arrest today for investigation of charges that they precipitated a roadhouse fracas in which Edward Blankert, pool room proprietor, of Mishawaka, was shot to death.

They are Orrin H. Markel, former state senator; Alexander Sievers and Hawley O. Burke.

Burke was shot in the left arm and Sievers in the chest, but neither was wounded seriously.

Blankert was killed in a fight which started, it is alleged, when one of the attorneys shouted "There isn't a white man in this place."

VIDOR, GRIFFITH FRAUD CHARGED

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—(AP.)—Marjorie Berger, Hollywood counselor, today was named in two new federal grand jury indictments charging she falsified the income tax returns of Raymond Griffith, film actor, and King Vidor, director.

Miss Berger previously had been indicted five times in connection with alleged fraudulent income tax returns made for Tom Mix, cowboy screen star; Eleanor Bordman, actress wife of Vidor, and others.

One of the new indictments charged Miss Berger returned a report in 1925 on which the total tax for Vidor was $2,222.76, while the correct amount was asserted to have been $25,906.31. The government listed Vidor's income at $146,806.14. Vidor was named several weeks ago in a criminal information for his alleged part in the fraud.

The other indictment charged Miss Berger with a discrepancy of more than $5,500 in Griffith's tax in 1926. She listed his total income at $115,154.79.

PROFESSOR DIES IN 13-STORY PLUNGE

Footprints on Radiator Near Window Cause Police to List Death as Suicide

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP).—Russell Gordon Smith, 36, professor of sociology at Columbia University, yesterday jumped or fell to his death from a window of a thirteenth floor Park avenue apartment, where he was visiting.

Police who listed the death as suicide, said footprints on the cretonne covering of a radiator near the open window indicated he had jumped from the window.

Prof. Smith, who recently underwent a major operation for a lung ailment, had called on Mrs. Ethel Clyde, who had been a friend of his family for many years.

During the visit he complained of feeling ill and walked into a room adjoining that in which he had been talking with Mrs. Clyde. The butler went to get him a glass of water and on returning with it found the professor gone. Looking out of an open window the butler saw the body lying on the pavement below.

PROHIBITION PROFITABLE, SAYS DORAN

Tells East End Minister It Has Netted $247,000,000 In 9 Years' Operation

The liquor laws have yielded the federal government $460,502,792.76 in gross revenues and at least $247,324,307.76 net during the nine years prohibition has been in force, according to J. M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition.

The statement is made in a letter to the Rev. A. R. Robinson, chairman of the East End Ministerial Association, who asked Doran for "authentic information regarding the cost of prohibition enforcement and the revenues therefrom."

Total cost of prohibition enforcement during the fiscal year 1928 was $5,615,137.74, according to Doran.

LETTER GIVEN OUT

The correspondence between Dr. Robinson and Commissioner Doran was prompted by figures given out by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which the Pittsburgh minister questioned. In part Doran says:

"Receipt is acknowledged of of prohibition to the taxpayers of your letter of May 15, inclosing a newspaper clipping on the total cost of prohibition to the taxpayers of the country as outlined by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, in a pamphlet entitled, 'Prohibition and Your Income Tax.'

"During the nine years since the effective date of prohibition the expenditures for the Prohibition Bureau, Coast Guard and customs incident to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment total $141,178,485. The collections from fines and penalties and the revenue from taxes on distilled spirits and fermented liquors total $460,502,792.76. It is apparent that the collections by far overbalance the expenditures. Even if $72,000,000 estimated in the pamphlet as the cost of the Department of Justice for the enforcement of prohibition should be added, there would still be a balance of $247,324,307.76 over and above the total expenditures accredited to the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

5,000,000 TOTAL

"During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, the expenditures for the prohibition bureau, coast guard and customs border patrol total $27,487,209.91. The collections from fines and penalties, the revenue from taxes on distilled spirits and fermented liquors and proceeds from the sale of seizures and fines collected incidend to prohibition cases terminated under customs laws total $21,872,072.17. This shows the total cost incident to the enforcement of prohibition for the fiscal year 1928 to be $5,615,137.74.

"If to the total cost is added the $9,000,000 estimated in the pamphlet as to the Department of Justice for the enforcement of prohibition for the fiscal year 1928 the net cost would be $14,615,137.74.

Due to the manner in which cases are docketed in Federal courts no segregation as to classes of cases is made by the Department of Justice, therefore, it is not possible to obtain actual figures as to the expenditures of that department incident to the enforcement of the prohibition laws."

FLOOD WRECKS TOWN, 4 DIE

WIBAUX, Mont., June 8.—(AP.)—A 15-foot wall of water from Beaver Creek, swept through Wibaux following a cloudburst yesterday, claiming four lives and causing property damage estimated at $200,000.

The flood struck without warning and buildings were carried from their foundations as the water raged through the town.

The Rev. A. A. Seifert, pastor of the Methodist Church, heard the roar of the approaching water and ran to the church, one of the most solid structures in town, to open its doors to those seeking safety. A few moments after he had returned home to get his wife, the flood struck. The parsonage was twisted from its foundation and carried several blocks before it rested against a railroad viaduct. Both the minister and his wife drowned.

Sever Knutson, 56, a farmer, was trapped in his home and drowned when the building was destroyed. R. A. Thompson, 70, who lived on the creek bank, was the fourth victim.

Fully three-quarters of the buildings in town were damaged by the flood, which inundated two-thirds of the area of Wibaux to a depth of eight feet.

PLAINVIEW, TEX., June 8.—(INS.)—Two farmers were killed and six other persons were seriously injured today in the wake of a tornado which demolished nine houses and uprooted trees here.

NEGROES FIRM, 'PROM' OFF

EVANSTON, Ill., June 8.—(AP.)—There will be no junior "prom" at the Evanston Township High School this year because 15 Negro students will not relinquish their right to attend as members of the class.

The "prom," scheduled for June 14, has been definitely abandoned, subsequent to the action of the Evanston Country Club in refusing to allow the class the use of its club house if the Negroes attended.

Members of the school faculty, class officers and the "prom" committee were unable to dissuade the Negro group from participating. There are 700 students in the junior and senior classes eligible to attend the function.

TASK BAFFLING CRIME BOARD

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Hoover's law enforcement commission is encountering rough going in its quest of the causes and curatives of American lawlessness.

This much was candidly admitted today by ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham, the chairman. After numberous meetings with the committee and consultations with cabinet officers, he describes the task set out by President Hoover as "baffling and perplexing," and ordered another 10-day recess so the commission can get enough data to make a start.

The principal difficulty, the chairman said, is the lack of reliable statistics of the crime situation in the United States.

To try and get a start the commission is going to the courts and the police bureaus of the country for their figures. They constitute the only place the commission can go.

British Embassy Still Wet, Expected to Remain So

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—Out of the confusion among members of the diplomatic corps on whether the British Embassy will be dry, one single fact emerges—the embassy is now wet and may very well remain so in the future.

Members of the corps have closely followed developments in the diplomatic liquor situation since Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, recently expressed willingness to forego the privilege of importing intoxicants if the American government asked it. They point out that so far the ambassador has not by either word or action decreed his mission arid territory

Sir Esme has not announced that his embassy will be made dry by his refusing to import any more liquors, nor has he indicated that he has taken such action to stop the importation of liquors in the future by his staff. Reports that he had done so have been discredited by the embassy as being "not entirely accurate."

The only action which Sir Esme Howard has taken in the matter has been to inform Secretary Stimson that he was "thinking of not importing any more liquors" for his embassy. Previous to his imparting this information to the secretary, the Ambassador was known to feel that there was considerable uncertainty among the members of the corps regarding the importation privilege.

Intimations that the entire corps might go dry are generally and emphatically characterized as "absurd."

TEXAS BEAUTY SHOW OPENS

GALVESTON, Tex., June 8.—(AP.)—A mile long grandstand beside the Galveston seawall was in readiness for the opening this afternoon of the international pageant of pulchritude in which 44 beautiful girls from this country and abroad will vie for honors.

The beauties from foreign lands attracted much attention as they calmly awaited the contest in which each hopes to be named "Miss Universe," but the American girls lacked only the exotic in their appeal to the fast swelling crowd of visitors.

A long round of pre-pageant entertainment for the pretty candidates ends with a luncheon at noon today. Last night they appeared at a midnight show at a Galveston theater.

The sports clothes parade, the initial pageant attraction, starts at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Several other features will precede the choosing of "Miss Universe" Tuesday night.

Miss Kentucky, Katherine Arnold, the only girl ever to be given an officer's commission on the staff of the Governor of Kentucky, arrived last night. Miss Arnold, whose home is in Danxille, recently was named colonel on the staff of Gov. Flem D. Sampson.

Children Begin Sea Trip Alone When Pair Miss Ship

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—The two young children of Mr. and Mrs. A. Roland Tree started a trans-Atlantic voyage all alone today. HOOVER PLANS BUSY SUMMER

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(AP.)—President Hoover, "condemned to work this summer and stay in Washington," has no plans for an extended vacation, even though Congress does take a more or less lengthy recess while the tariff bill is being rewritten for the Senate's consideration.

As far as he can see ahead now, his vacation is already under way, such as it is, in the form of weekend visits to his fishing preserves near Frederick, Md., and at the headwaters of the Rapidan River in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

He selected the latter for a visit today and planned to stay over night. Having been there several weeks ago, before it was made ready for his excursions, he wanted to look over the place again and examine particularly the condition of the roads.

Auto Guest Injured In Crash Gets $650

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 8.—John Wright, Washington, received an award of $650 by the jury here in his suit against his friend, Joseph Reinbold, also of Washington. Wright received an injured jaw while riding in Reinbold's car when the latter struck a pole.

MRS. CASSLER HELD FOR JURY

VALPARAISO, Ind., June 8.—(AP.)—Mrs. Catherine Cassler of Chicago, once convicted of murder and later freed, yesterday was bound over to the Porter County grand jury in connection with the murder of Miss Cameola Soutar, 24-year-old girl whom she accused of friendliness with her husband.

The woman was remanded to jail without bond, awaiting action of the grand jury.

Jury Holds Driver In Death of Boy

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 8.—At an inquest yesterday, the coroner's jury recommended the holding of Elmer Edward Lindquist, 22, of Daisytown, Pa., to face charges of manslaughter at the next term of court. Edward Layton, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Layton, of this city, suffered fatal injuries when he was struck by the automobile driven by Lindquist in East Maiden street, recently.

Move Started to Canonize Omaha Convent Founder

OMAHA, June 8.—(AP.)—An inquiry rare in America has been begun in the Omaha diocese of the Roman Gatholic Church, seeking to canonize Mother Mary Magdalene, an Italian noblewoman, who came to this country about 50 years ago, died 30 years ago at Evanston, Ill.

The inquiry is scheduled to open June 16, before a tribunal constituted by Bishop Joseph F. Fummel. It will be in the nature of a trial, but more searching than any civil court action. Every step in her life from birth will be minutely scrutinized.

The Rev. Albert Kleber, rector of the Major Seminary of Meinrad, Ind., who made application for the inquiry, will act as "attorney" for Mother Mary Magdalene. He must prove each assertion as to her eligibility to sanctity. The Rev. Peter Cannon of Omaha has been appointed "prosecutor." He will oppose and attempt to disprove each point in the nun's favor.

It may be 20 years or more before the "evidence" is all in and the records filed with the Pope in Rome, it was declared, and it may be months or years before the highest tribunal renders final judgment.

There are no canonized saints in North America, church officials here said. About four years ago, the Jesuit martyrs of North America were beatified, but the process for their canonization has not yet been instituted.

Flower Show Setting to Be Unusual

I HEAR that the Civic Club is planning a setting that is entirely different from any of its preceding efforts for the flower market which will be conducted on Tuesday in William Penn way between Sixth avenue and Strawberry alley. A gay and original effect is to be produced for the market, so the committee says, and the members, while remembering that the real reason for the event is the sale of flowers, are planning booths where other articles will be displayed. Everything, they say, from gay-colored balloons for the youngsters to country delicacies for the epicure, will be for sale.

Francis S. Guthrie heads the executive committee, and helping him direct the work are Mrs. Carroll P. Davis, Mrs. Joseph Dilworth, Mrs. William Frew, Mrs. James D. Hailman, Mrs. Pitt O. Heasley, Mrs. Roy A. Hunt, Miss Mary L. Jackson, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., Mrs. Frank A. Leovy, Mrs. Haines Allen Machesney, Mrs. Howard Hale McClintic, Mrs. Francis J. LeMoyne, Mrs. T. H. B. McKnight, Mrs. Benjamin Page, Mrs. Samuel A. Pickering, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. George P. Rose, Mrs. William Watson Smith, Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., and Mrs. John Woodwell.

AGAIN the horse show, and social events in connection with the show, continued yesterday to make society folks unmindful of the usual summer activities. There were a great many women exhibitors, and of course their friends were there to see them. Children, free for a few days from their governesses and lessons, were there, too.

After the show yesterday J. Frederic Byers, chairman of the committee, entertained with a dinner for the committee members and judges. There was dancing after dinner.

Mrs. William Christopher Robinson was again occupying her box yesterday. She wore a shell pink silk crepe sport dress and a simple white felt hat. In the Robinson box I noticed Mrs. Harvey N. Van Voorhis in a tan wool dress and a brown bangkok hat.

Mrs. Cyrus R. Miller was in a red and white print ensemble and a white straw hat.

During the day I noticed Jane Allderdice and her sister, Nancy, who'll come out in the fall, and Mrs. James McKay, the former Marjorie Babcock, all in riding habits.

A black and white polka-dot ensemble was worn by Mrs. Henry Coffroth, of Greensburg, with a black and white straw hat to complete her costume.

Most attractive was Mrs. Robert Trimble, who exhibited her ponies in one of the classes. She wore a French blue silk crepe dress with a felt hat of the same shade, and a velvet jacket in a deeper shade of blue.

I s. Mrs. T. M. Girdler watching the show with much interest. Yesterday she was in a lighter-than-navy silk ensemble, with beige and lighter blue polka dots. Her felt hat was one of the popular beige shades.

From her automobile, parked by the ringside, Mrs. Dorwin J. Donnelly was watching the jumps. She looked very cool in a grey crepe silk dress and grey felt hat.

Again this year Mrs. L. F. Crouse, of Ebensburg, came to Pittsburgh for the show. She wore a tan coat over a dark blue and beige striped dress and a tan straw hat.

Mrs. Donald Scott Rodgers, in a white crepe silk sports dress and large eggshell straw hat, was entertaining in her box Mrs. George L. Craig, Jr., Mrs. Robert Deans and Mrs. Albert Davis, the latter two of New York, and Walter L. Dowling. A jade green knitted ensemble and a green felt hat were worn by Mrs. Craig. Mrs. Deans was charming in a blue and white checked silk, and Mrs. Davis was again in riding costume.

A colorful costume I noted was Mrs. Charles Arrott's. She chose a vivid red knitted dress and cardigan and a red felt hat. I saw her talking with Mrs. James Drayton Heard, who wore pink handkerchief linen and a wide leghorn hat. With them was Mrs. Charles Jones in a simple one-piece white silk crepe sports dress, over which she wore a long green quilted jacket.

BOARD TO NAME METRO CHIEF

In view of the interest in the forthcoming referendum election for the approval of the Pittsburgh metropolitan charter, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will publish daily brief statements by Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the commission. In this series the provisions of the charter will be set forth in plain language shorn of its legal verbiage.

By JOSEPH T. MILLER,
Chairman Metropolitan Plan Commission.

The board of commissioners governing the Consolidated City are empowered by the charter to select one of their own members as president.

The president of the board shall have executive direction and management of the administrative service of the Consolidated City.

He shall have the power to appoint and remove the employes of his own office and by and with the consent of the board of commissioners he shall appoint the heads of all departments of the Consolidated City.

In addition, he shall have the power of direction and command, acting through the directors of the several departments, over all officers and employes of the administrative service.

At any time he may injuire into the conduct of any department, office or service, or of any officer or employe.

(To Be Continued.)

Voters are invited to propound any proper question regarding the charter and these will be answered promptly if addressed to Chairman Joseph T. Miller, 519 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope. Some answers to inquiries of pertinent interest will be published in the Sun-Telegraph.

G. O. P. CHARTER DRIVE GAINS

The Republican organization throughout the county is rapidly swinging into line for the metropolitan charter, according to Chairman John T. Small and Secretary W. H. Ziefel of the campaign committee of Republicans, in favor of the metropolitan district. They are directing the work of organizing the practical political units from its headquarters in the Hotel Henry.

"We are busy seeing a lot of people and finding the general sentiment for the metropolitan district growing stronger, as the people get to understand that the charter does not take any local powers away from the 122 municipalities in the county," declared Chairman Small.

Two meetings at which the metropolitan charter will be discussed are scheduled for this evening.

At 8 p. m. a community meeting will be held in the Bradford Woods School, at which William Bradford and E. A. Young will speak. At the same hour Lewis W. Hagmaier, of Aspinwall, and Dan B. Dougherty, of Dormont, will address another community meeting in Pine Township.

CHURCHES PLAN 'LOYALTY DAY'

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Signed by Henry Ford, J. C. Penney, and others, a proposal to proclaim Sunday, June 30, as Loyalty Sunday, a day dedicated to the "Hoover program of law enforcement" was made public yesterday.

The proposal has received the indorsement of the General Assembly of the Northern Presbyterian Church and the Anti-Saloon League of America.

"The American people have been summoned by President Hoover to pledge anew their loyalty to the laws of the land," the proposal said. "It is fitting that this summons should be answered first and most decisively by the churches of the United States. We urge that Americans of whatever faith join on that day in a solemn resolution to observe the law, beginning that observance in their own home and extending it in so far as they are able through the communities in which they live."

SERMONETTE

"THE CALL TO GREATHEARTS"

By Albert Edward Day, Pastor of Christ Church.

ONE of the most dangerous heresies of our times is the cult of Lighthearts. As citizens they refuse to worry about civic corruption or poverty. As churchmen they come to their church seeking not a challenge but comfort, not a revelation of the woes of the world but charming poetry and alluring rhetoric and aesthetic stimulation. One of the most brilliant preachers in America declared in private conversation the other day, that the most hopeless men in his church, as far as any contribution to the making of a better world is concerned, is one of the most charming men personally. But he simply will not permit himself to believe any fact about the world that gives him discomfort.

He who is the central figure of the New Testament never betrayed a mood that could by the wildest fancy be associated with the lightheart. He spoke about his own joy but it was not the joy of the irresponsible fawn leaping through the woods or lying in the reflected light of plashing fountains. It was not the joy of the aesthetic who surrounds himself with art and beauty and closes his heart against everything that has a suspicion of rigor. It was the joy of the greatheart who grapples with everything that belongs to a life of moral responsibility and of social obligation and finds his happiness, not in the avoidance of suffering, but in the sharing of suffering and in the triumph over it.

What Jesus was he summoned us to be; not craven cowards who go through life dodging every unpleasant thing and hiding our eyes from every unlovely sight but heroes who gaily shoulder every day the cross which a manly attitude toward life offers us and who gallantly accept the sword placed in our hands and march out to meet the dragons which infest the paths of the world.

Dr. Albert Edward Day, Pastor

To live dangerously, to risk everything on a single great adventure is to live greatly and to put one's self in the way of great achievement and of great service to man and to God.

The church represents a hazardous adventure in behalf of a better world. It proposes not merely a selfish salvation, but an examination of all social institutions in the light of their effect upon human welfare and an expulsion of whatever cripples human life. Such a program involves great hazard but offers a thrilling challenge. Will you not enlist in this noble human enterprise and take your place among the greathearts of history?

OHIO RALLIES TO TAX-CUT MOVE

Eastern Ohio has been included in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's campaign for the reduction of taxes on earned incomes.

Following the successful canvass in northern West Virginia there has been unceasing demand for petitions for circulation in the adjoining counties of the Buckeye State and the work of obtaining signatures in East Liverpool, Steubenville, East Palestine and Youngstown has begun.

SENTIMENT SPREADS

In Ohio the sentiment against the present tax on incomes of professional men and women, salaried people and wage earners has resulted in the same outspoken objection that was raised in Pittsburgh when the question of the downward revision of the income tax was first considered.

The office forces in the various departments of the Weirton Steel Company at Weirton, W. Va., today are signing petitions being circulated there. It is one of the largest industries in the Ohio valley that has indorsed the movement. At the same time the business men of Weirton are supporting the drive too lift the burden from the income of wage earners.

BEAVER VALLEY 100 PER CENT

Employes of the Union Drawn Steel Company in the Beaver valley district have given 100 per cent approval to the canvass, their petitions received today being the largest turned in this week.

In Pittsburgh more than 1,000 petitions are still in circulation in the business district. These include some of the largest iron and steel industries, office buildings and among groups of professional men.

Real Estate

A house on 170x225 feet in Baldwin avenue, Greentree, has been sold by Philip B. Heckler to John T. Henninger. The property had been held at around $13,000.

A house in Dormont avenue, Dormont, lot 30x100 feet, has been sold by Fred L. Chambers to James B. Shea for $12,000.

In Mt. Lebanon, Pete Donati sold to James T. Hibbard a house on 40x134 in Lavina avenue, Mt. Lebanon. Mr. Hibbard deeded in return a tract in Bethel Township.

The Freehold Real Estate Company sold for Jacob Shaffer to Erwin F. Lowry a brick and tile dwelling in Cascade road, Edgewood Acres, for $12,500.

The German United Evangelical congregation of Temperanceville has purchased from Henry W. Schmidt a house on 36x111 feet at 1142 Strahley place, Twentieth Ward, for $9,000. The property will be used as a parsonage.

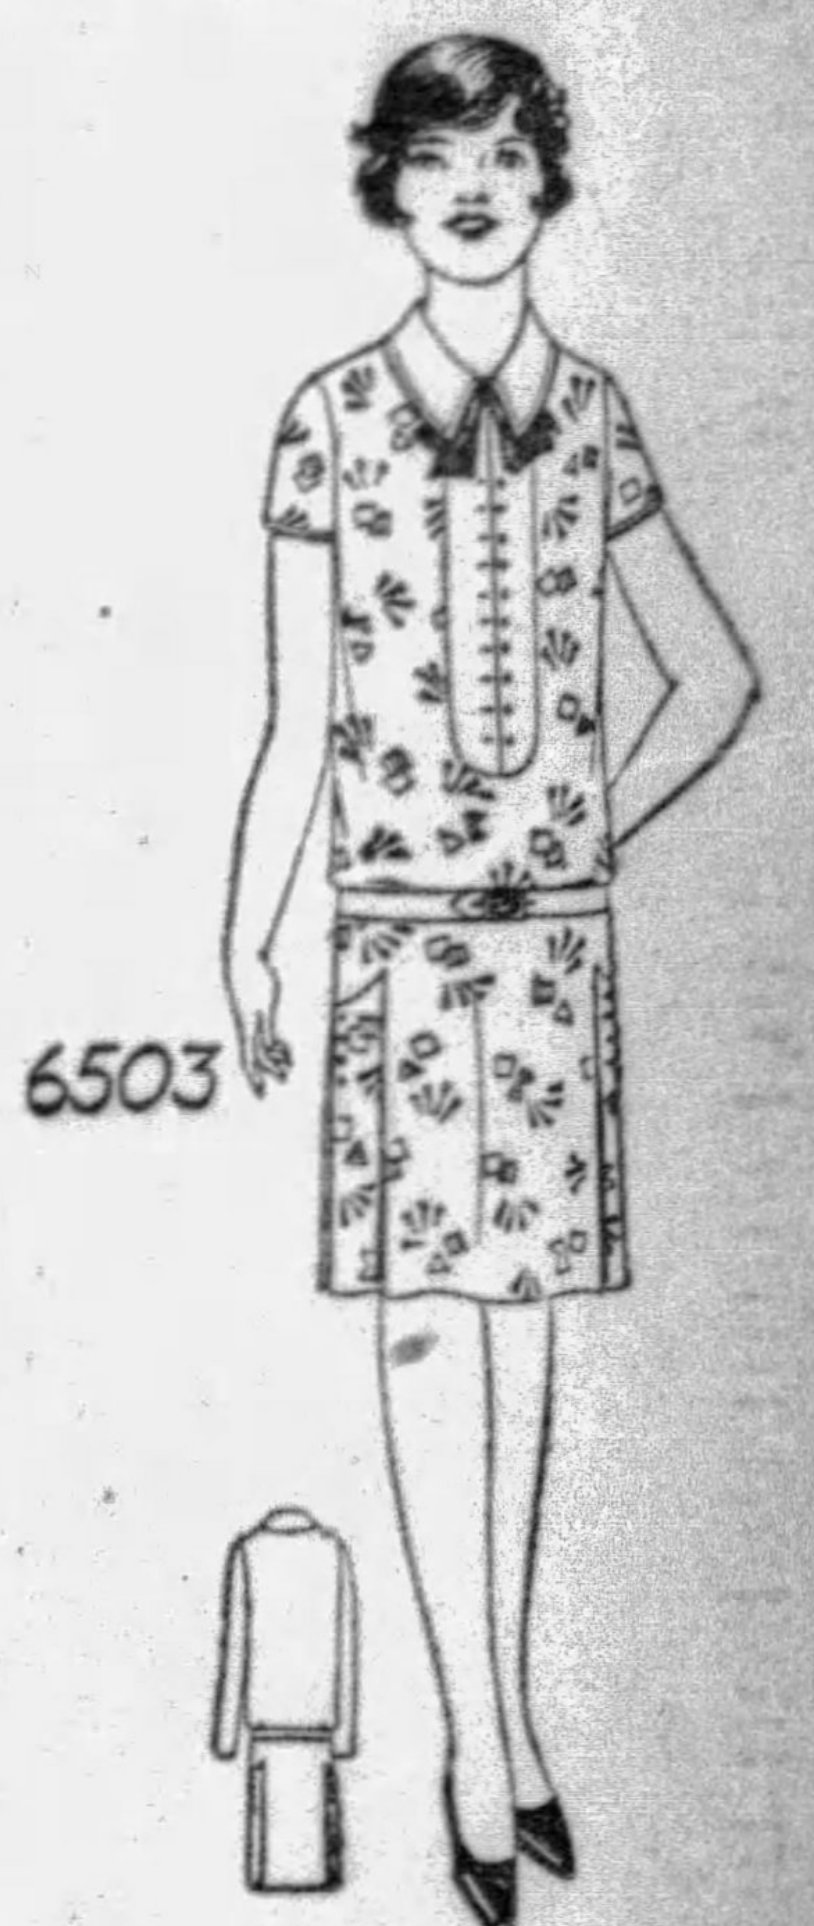
The will of Liva E. Barnes, Pittsburgh paper wholesaler, who died aboard the steamship Tjisalak in the China Sea, May 10, distributes an estate estimated to be worth between $200,000 and $250,000. His daughter, Frances Louise Plumer, is chief beneficiary. Attorney Ellsworth Jordan filed the will.

A bequestof $5,000 was made to his brother, Truman R. Barnes, and one of $2,000 to his sister, Julia L. Martin. Several bequests were made to employes.

Mr. Barnes and his daughter with a photographer were touring the world when he was stricken with heart trouble. His body was buried at sea.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A PLEASING MODEL FOR SCHOOL OR HOME.

Printed linen and organdy are here combined. Tub silk, and cotton prints are also desirable. The front outlines a deep vestee trimmed with buttons and simulated button holes. At the sides the dress is shaped in a deep curve above plait inserts, which supply graceful fulness. A rolled collar trims the neck. The fitted sleeve may be made in wrist length as pictured in the small view or in short length as shown in the large view.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the dress for a 12-year size will require 3⅛ yards of 39-inch material. For vestee, collar and belt of contrasting material, ⅝ yard is required 39 inches wide and cut crosswise. To bind outer edges of front collar, and sleeves, and the curved edges above the plaits will require 3½ yards 1½ inch wide of bias tape or binding.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Girl Sues Taxicab Firm for $15,000

Ruth O'Brien, a minor, through her father, William O'Brien, asked $15,000 damages from the Pittsburgh Transportation Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging she was seriously injured through reckless driving of a taxicab. She alleged she was thrown from her seat as the cab was driven on Smithfield street at Sixth avenue May 16 last and suffered a broken nose and other injuries.

Watson Property Assessed $10,000

The City of Pittsburgh was awarded $10,000 as benefits assessed against property at Third avenue and Grant street owned by the late D. T. Watson and held by the Fidelity Title and Trust Company as trustee for the home for crippled children he endowed by his will. The award was entered as a consent verdict. The board of viewers had assessed $15,000 benefits due to the widening of Grant street, which was subsequently reduced to $12,250.

Two Held for Court In Auto Theft Case

James Crawford, 23, of 5325 Broad street, and Harold Hauss, 19, of 134 South Aiken avenue, arrested at Yellow Springs, Blair County, by Corp. Darner, of the state highway patrol, were held for court on a charge of larceny by Justice James A. Hernon, of Sharpsburg. They are alleged to have stolen an automobile owned by J. L. Dasch, Etna, in Wilkinsburg. A suitcase full of cigarets was found in the car they were driving.

Sacred Heart Church Is Seeking $10,000

Efforts to raise $10,000 through collections in the Sacred Heart Church will be made Sunday in an effort to meet gifts totaling that sum. Two members of the congregation have offered $10,000 provided the congregation raises a like amount

MME. HOMER IN PITTSBURGH PERIOD ON AIR TONIGHT

REA, MALONE, BAKER TO GIVE CITY BOOST

KDKA Will Send Special Program to Byrd; WCAE Offers New Banjo Outfit

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

Mme. Louise Homer, famous Metropolitan Grand Opera star, known and loved the world over, will be guest artist in the last of the Pittsburgh Periods to be broadcast over KDKA at 10:01 o'clock tonight.

Mme. Homer is a Pittsburgher. She was born and reared in this city. Her father, William Trimble Beatty, was the founder and first minister of the Shady Side Presbyterian Church and was the founder of the Pennsylvania College for Women. When 15 years old, Mme. Homer left Pittsburgh to study voice in Philadelphia, later going to Boston as a pupil of Sidney Homer, whom she later married. After studying in Paris she made her debut in Vichy, France, where she was proclaimed by one of the most critical audiences in Europe. Successes in London and the Metropolitan Opera followed her rapidly.

FOSTER SELECTION

Mme. Homer will be accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Katherine Homer.

Boosts for Pittsburgh will be given b James Rea, new president of the Chamber of Commerce; James F. Malone, president of City Council, and Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

KDKA will go "Pittsburghesque" in its programs tonight, giving Stephen Foster's "Old Black Joe" at 6:30 and again at 8:30 p. m., and then bringing the evening to a grand climax with a special local program for Commander Byrd at 11:05 o'clock.

WCAE will have the Cavalcade again at 8 o'clock and the Blue and White Banjo Boys, a new outfit, at 11:01. The Babson Period, WJAS at 8:30, looks good as well as the usually popular Nit Wit Hour at 9 p. m.

From the campus of the University of Chicago WLS will broadcast the inter-fraternity sing at 10 o'clock. Twenty-eight fraternities will join in the jamboree which will last two and one-half hours. WLS operates on 345 meters.

"HARVARD NIGHT"

Tonight will be Harvard Night in Commander Byrd's camp at Little America, 11,000 miles from Pittsburgh. The program will consist of Harvard selections sung by a quartet and played by the City Arms Orchestra especially for Dr. Bradford Coman, 1920, medical director; Joseph DeGanahl, 1925; Frederick Crockett, 1930, dog driver; Norman D. Vaughan, 1930, dog driver, and Edward E. Goodale, dog driver. Mme. Louise Homer, guest soloist of the Pittsburgh period at 10 o'clock, has been invited to sing for Commander Byrd and his men during this program. Music by Don Bestor's Orchestra will complete the evening.

Harvard graduates or Pittsburghers having messages to be sent to Commander Byrd on tonight's program should communicate with P. A. Boyd at Atlantic 4854.

BOOST PITTSBURGH

JAMES REA KATHERINE HOMER LOUISE HOMER

Citizens prominent in Pittsburgh civic life and the music world will combine to "Boost Pittsburgh" tonight in the last of a series of radio programs sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Mme. Louise Homer, Metropolitan contralto, who was born and reared in this city, will sing "Last Night the Nightingale" as one of her numbers. Her daughter, Katherine Homer, will play the accompaniments. James Rea, new president of the Chamber of Commerce, will share verbal boosts of our city with James F. Malone, president of City Council, and Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology. The Pittsburgh Period will be heard over KDKA at 10 o'clock.

HOLLYWOOD HAS EXCITEMENT AS ACTORS' EQUITY COLONIZES THERE

By DOROTHY HERZOG
(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, June 8.

WELL, folks, as you know by now, we've got a new subject to get hot and bothered over.

Yes, Actors' Equity has finally colonized in ye flicker village. It was nigh onto 48 hours ago that official A. E. sent forth an edict instructing members—and there are over 2,000 in Hollywood—to sign no more contracts unless they be Equity contracts. The highlight of such a contract stipulates a 48-hour week. Not an hour more. Indeed, the day of health and dignity has come to the lowly sinema.

The purpose of Actors' Equity is fair play. Hitherfore, the producer has had everything his way. He was the king pin. His word spelt command. The actor took it or left it. On the other hand, a few stars were won't to raise merry you-know because of their box office popularity, which hurt the producer no end—financially and otherwise.

George Arliss

With Actors' Equity stripping the bandage from Old Lady Justice's eyes, there'll be no more hoity toity carryings-on from either faction. The actor will work 48 hours a week. Exit skulking the 18-hour or more day. Subsequently, the actor's health will not be burned to shreds from working too long under the cruel incandescent lights or in the illy ventilated sounds stages.

THERE'S really the spice of quaintness in visualizing what a sturdier scale such an institution may give nomadic Hollywood.

George Arliss, who was among the first to battle for Actors' Equity, is now a Warner star. He has a clause in his contract that he quit work daily at 4:30 p. m. Doesn't matter what time he begins, provided 'tis no earlier than 9 a. m.

Corinne Griffith

Corrine Griffith is another star whose contract calls for an eight-hour day.

There may be others. If so I don't know of them. Why, only recently, Marion Davies worked from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. making scenes for her new picture. You know very well one can't survive such deadly hours.

I know a director who is an awfully nice person, but he's a megaphone owl whose energy is appalling. Eighteen or 20 hours on a stretch, day after day, means nothing to him. But to his players—law, they're wrecks.

On the other hand, there are snooty actors who simply cannot stand success. They are always late, thereby holding up the company and costing terrific overhead losses. The producer humors them because they are screen nuggets. With Actors' Equity to appeal to, however, he can smack them soundly and be upheld.

Oh, yes, we've got excitement in Hollywood.

Everyone Talks As Equity Comes

EVERYBODY'S talking A. E. All eyes smoulder as the subject is discussed. Groups fall greedily upon the current tidbit in cafes, drawingrooms, studios, beaches. It's rather swell to zoom again.

There's no flighty talk of "a strike." The actor contends Equity does as much for the producer as it does for him. Why should there be a strike? But if the producer proves adamant to organized Equity's demands this is what may happen:

The cameramen are strongly organized.

The writers have banded together.

The theater projectionists are members of the A. F. of L.

A strike means they all walk out. It would debit millions of dollars lost to producer and exhibitor. Of course, such talk is exhilirating across a cup of coffee, but in reality—no. To squelch any enthusiasm for war, remember the income tax.

It was about 10 years ago that Actors' Equity organized in New York under the generalship of John Emerson and Frank Gilmore. They brought fair play into the theater. A girl's life was her own. She didn't have to vamp her way to a job or live on imagination. Only recently, I am told, a Broadway producer was called on the Equity carpet for getting too careless with the president's english when job applicants came to see him.

Booze Seized in Erie Expected Here Today

A caravan of trucks transporting ale and liquors seized by Government agents in raids on 12 warehouses in Erie late Wednesday was expected to arrive in Pittsburgh today, under protection of armed guards. Twelve men, including Myer Gold, said to have amassed a fortune in rumrunning, were arrested. Gold posted $10,000 bail to appear when required by Government officials.

Shriners Mix With Extras

SCREENALITIES: A group of costumed Shriners were visiting JOHN BARRYMORE'S "General Crack" set. Hundreds of extras were dolled up in gypsy costumes. The assistant director called them on the set. Imagine his chagrin when he found Shriners mixed with 'em! . . . RALPH INCE went to sleep in front of his Malibou Beach house. Which was perfectly all right, except Ralph wore only trunks. The sun baked him almost a third degree burn. After a week of suffering in bed, Ralph is up and about again. . . . HARRY GREEN, comedian, did the same thing. He visited GEORGE BANCROFT at George's Santa Monica Beach house and went to sleep in the sand. When he awoke he wished he hadn't. Harry is also under a doctor's care now, and limping about with the aid of a cane. . . . FANNIE BRICE has arrived. She's to make two talkies for United Artists. You should laugh with her, no. . . . SAM JANNEY, playwright, came West to do a talkie script for First National. Having finished it, he purchased a car with which to drive East. Mr. Janney had never driven a car before. Word reaches F. N. that he was killed in an automobile accident at Victorville. . . . And—that's all.

Eve Unknowingly Accepts Invite to Party to Be Given for Don

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. On landing in the island he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he meets Eugenie, Nahuli's white wife. Then in wandering about Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. Eugenie invites him to her cottage on Tantalus Hill. She tells him he has been delivering opium and warns him. Among revelations is that Nahuli forced her to marry him to save her father from prison. Don Carlos spends his time working on a play from which he expects success. He and Eugenie fall in love. On Ruth's wedding day Big Tim goes on a vacation—disgusted. Then David learns of the affair between his wife and Don Carlos. At a gay party Don Carlos thinks he hears a movement in the bushes and goes to investigate. Nahuli threatens him again. But before he can bring about revenge he meets his death. Then, as Don Carlos and Eugenie are happy together, Eve arrives from the States, but she is not received cordially by her husband.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXV.

"LISTEN to this, old dear," Ruth was telling her husband. "This is rich."

"Does my opinion matter anything to you?"

"Don't try to be funny with me, old dear. Or I'll come back to haunt you some of these days, just as Don Carlos' wife has done."

"What?" ejaculated Al.

"Nothing but. Here's an item in the paper which says that Mrs. Don Carlos Whiting, wife of our rising young genius, has come to the islands to live. I bet Don Carlos never put that little bit of news in the Advertiser. I never heard whether they were divorced or not, did you, Al."

"Er, no, I never heard her mentioned but once. He didn't seem to want to talk about it very much, if you're asking me. It apparently wasn't a howling success—that marriage. Not like ours is going to be."

"Poof! Don't be so sure that we are going to be a howling success. Never tempt the gods too far, my own."

Afterward, Ruth wondered if some little premonition had not come to her.

"Wonder what Eugenie will say about the blonde appearing on the scene," she ventured, seeking for conversation.

"Because gentlemen always prefer them, fair husband," she retorted.

"Personally, I prefer bonds," he smiled back at her. "And I'll take my women dark." He bent over to kiss her dark bobbed head lightly.

"Well, I don't imagine that Eugenie will storm about," Ruth was answering her own question. "She isn't that sort. Don't you think she is lovely, Al?"

"Not half as lovely as you are, sweetheart."

"Then I'll take mine pretty."

"Do you know what would be lots of fun? Let's ask Eleanor to have a house party for Don Carlos; sort of introduce him to the Maui people. I'll tell her she can have the pleasure of introducing a social and artistic lion to the Island of Maui. She'll fall for that."

It was one of Eleanor's pet vanities that she liked to bring out any new artist; to sponsor them in her own little social set.

"Eleanor! Eleanor! Wake up!" Ruth was bending over her, shaking her shoulder.

"What's happened? Has Sam Lung spoiled the roast for tonight's dinner? Or has Paul been thrown from that wild devil of a new broncho of his? I knew something terrible would happen. I felt it in the air today. Spill it, young lady."

"Nothing has happened, old funnyface. I want you to do something for me."

"Wheedler!"

"I want you to invite the best looking man in the Hawaiian Islands for a house party this week-end. It's only Monday, and you'll have plenty of time to get a crowd together. Oh, Eleanor, he's a dream to look at and an old peach besides."

"What's the idea? Want to make Al jealous?"

"No, silly."

"Is he attached, or must I dig up a fair blonde as a foil for your dark beauty? You can't tell me you're not personally interested in him, you little devil."

"He's what you'd call in double harness right now, my dear. He's got an adorable dark sweetheart, and very suddenly his fair blonde wife has arrived."

"Nothing doing, young lady. You don't get me mixed up in any island scandal," Eleanor held up her hands in mock horror. "He sounds too dangerous."

"Oh, pelase, Eleanor. It won't be a mess. He's a very well-behaved young man. You'll adore him. Mother does—she made a conquest of him the day he arrived. And we've been friends ever since. Why, even the Big Boy likes him. That ought to be credentials enough for anyone."

"We-ll-ll, yes. If your father likes him I might consider it. Who else will we have over? Some of the army crowd? They're always good fellows on a house party."

So they wrote and mailed the invitations.

The day following the scene at the bungalow Col. Drinkwater had come into town and absorbed Eve's attention. The next day was Wednesday, and Eve had put on her prettiest frock, a jade green point d'esprit over goldcolth, which had made even hardened Col. Drinkwater stop in bewilderment when he saw the beauty of her as she came into the wicker lounge. It was the night of the tri-weekly dance at the Moana.

"My dear, you're the most stunningly beautiful woman I have ever seen! You're gorgeous! You're heavenly! You're all that's wonderful! You'll knock Honolulu cold!"

"And you are just about a dozen drinks ahead of me," she laughed.

"'Pon my word of honor, I haven't had a drink," returned the colonel. "I wanted to do all my drinking with you tonight, my dear."

Eve gazed at him critically. He didn't look so fat tonight. He really looked distinguished, in spite of the slight rim of fuzz which passed for hair on the colonel's nearly bald head. And on every hand, people were welcoming him back to the islands after his vacation.

They were invited up to one of the rooms to have some drinks with a friend of the colonel's—a captain McNulty, as funny an Irishman as Eve had ever met. Others dropped in; the captain's room at the Moana promised to be a rendezvous for a gay party.

Later that evening, when they were dancing on the lanai of the Moana to the music of a Hawaiian stringed orchestra, the colonel murmured in her ear:

"My dear, I have an invitation to a corking good house party over on Maui for this week-end. At the Howells' ranch. They're wonderful people, Paul Howells and his wife, Eleanor. Eleanor is always bringing out some young artist and giving him a social start. They leave it to me to bring some feminine admirer of mine." He smirked at Eve.

"You win, if you are interested. They're some of the best people in the islands—these Howells. Want to meet them?"

"Sure," Eve eagerly accepted.

CLARA WAS RIGHT

By LOUISE PEPLE ARMSTRONG

Daily Short Story

JEFFERSON WEST watched the couple across the palm-studded foyer of the hotel—his employer, Old Man McIlwaine, and the girl in gray. Mr. McIlwaine was not actually old, he was, in fact, a rather well preserved man of 50 years, with a lithe erect figure, sandy hair and mustache and uncompromising steel-blue eyes. The clerks who worked for him called him Old Man McIlwaine in bitterness and resentment, for he was a hard and pitiless taskmaster, took no excuses, made no allowances for work poorly done.

Jeff had held on to his job by the skin of his teeth for nearly two years. He had to admit to himself that during that time he had learned much; if Mr. McIlwaine was exacting he was a good disciplinarian and turned out trained workers. The boys who left the McIlwaine Audit Company of their own free will got excellent positions. But in spite of faithful service Jeff had not during the term of his service received so much as a nod of commendation from the boss, and his pay envelope contained the same modest amount of greenbacks on the first and fifteenth of each month. He had expected a raise in January.

Well, here was something . . . Old Man McIlwaine with an unknown and very attractive woman. And Jeff remembered having seen them together at the theater a week ago.

Mrs. McIlwaine had been to the office several times, she was a tall, angular, formidable-looking female with a disquieting expression in her eye. Jeff was certain she knew nothing of her husband's friendship and attentions to the girl in gray.

At the theater he had turned away in the crowd to avoid them, but now Jeff had an idea. He was considering his future in the auditing business. He would go over and speak to the old man, smile in a quiet, knowing manner. Jeff arose from the table near the balcony where he had been seated.

"Wait here," he said casually to his companion, a pretty little brunette flapper, "I've got to speak to a friend."

"The music's started again, Jeff," the girl complained, pouting. "Let's dance!"

"You wait here a minute," Jeff said, turning to cross the floor.

The crash of cymbals announced the beginning of the opening number. Couples left their tables and quickly crowded the polished floor; they got in Jeff's way and he in theirs. A tall man glared at him, stepping on his feet. Jeff scowled and pushed past him, for he saw that Mr. McIlwaine and his companion had arisen and were moving to the entrance.

Just as he almost reached them there was a tug at his elbow, and an insistent voice in his ear. "Come on, let's dance, Jeff. Let the old daddy and his sweetie go—much they care about you!"

In the instant he had been detained the couple slipped away. Jeff looked down into the vacuous face of the little flapper, daubed with rouge, her petulant lips a brilliant carmen, dark hair plastered to her head flat behind her ears. He could have slapped her good and hard. Who was she, little pleasure-hound, to interfere with his career, ruin a splendid chance? He had the goods on the old man, and had been prevented from confronting him by this chit of a girl!

Jeff took her roughly by the arm, steered her out of the crowd. In the lobby of the hotel he faced her, wrath in his eyes.

"W—where are we goin', Jeff?" she questioned uncertainly.

"I'm taking you home, Clara," he said briefly.

"You're mad at me for stopping you from speaking to that soft ole guy? What difference did it make?"

What difference did it make? Grimly, he piloted her out.

The girl wrenched her arm free from his grasp. "You can't treat me rough like that. Eddie Tiller asked me out tonight, and . . ."

"All right, after this go with him," Jeff said indifferently.

Next morning he was half-hour late getting to work. "The boss has been asking for you," Tom Davis told him significantly as he took his seat at the desk in the main office.

So he turned wearily and went toward the glazed door at the end of the room on which the word "Manager" was painted in large black letters. He pushed it open and entered, feeling hopeless and disgusted. He was thinking he might have strode in this morning with insolent assurance, late as he cared to come, if only last night that silly girl hadn't hung on his arm.

"I see you're late this morning, Jeff," said Old Man McIlwaine.

"We've got a big job in Dundee," said Mr. McIlwaine after a pause during which Jeff grew restless and ill at ease. "It means a lot to the firm."

Jeff nodded respectfully. Why didn't he go on? The whole office knew about that job in Dundee . . reorganization of a bank, and the McIlwaine Audit Company would go over the books before the new officers took charge, putting the final stamp of approval on all past transactions. Will Haney, the old man's pet, would probably take half dozen of the fellows over . . . but why was the old man discussing it with him?

"I'm going to put you in charge of the Dundee work, Jeff, and I'm going to raise your salary. I've been watching your work, seen the improvement in it. You're thorough and dependable . . .the sort of man I want to tie up with this firm."

Jeff stood up, speechless with emotion. At first, it was pure gratitude and the honest conviction of success; then the old man spoke, changing his thoughts.

"Saw you at the Blake Hotel with a mighty pretty little girl last night."

So that was it? Mr. McIlwaine knew Jeff had observed him with the girl in gray . . . the Dundee job was a bribe to buy his silence. Jeff's wrath arose, and with it a contempt for the old man.

"And the peach you took to the Blake . . .I don't suppose Mrs. McIlwaine . . ."

"Ah—yes," the old man had turned back to his desk and was rummaging absently among the papers there. "Yes, he repeated vacantly. "Mrs. McIlwaine's niece . .. Grace Amaesworth. Came to the city unexpectedly while my wife was away. Engaged to an ensign in the Navy, and is in a great hurry to get her trousseau made as they're to be married before he starts on a world cruise. I was mighty glad Mrs. McIlwaine got home this morning to help her . . .Take her about at night. As host of a lively young person, I'm not so good. Rather spend a quiet evening with a book."

He looked up and smiled at Jeff, and suddenly he appeared very human, and very tired. His shoulders sagged as though under the weight of great responsibilities.

Jeff flushed and dropped his eyes, stammered in confusion. "About the Dundee work . . . I can't begin to tell you, Mr. McIlwaine, how I appreciate your confidence in me, sir."

Mr. McIlwaine arose, clasped his hand and slapped him on the back. "Confidence, Jeff. That's a great word. It makes organizations like this audit company. I'd never have thought of putting you in charge at Dundee if I hadn't been studying you, hadn't been absolutely sure of your loyalty to the company and me."

Jeff left the office of the manager with mingled feelings of triumph and shame. He wanted desperately to achieve work for work's sake, justify himself in his own eyes, justify Mr. McIlwaine's faith in him. He'd thought McIlwaine a crusty old grouch . . .mustn't be too sure of his own judgment hereafter. There was Clara, for instance . . .foolish little person, but a cute kid. And she had certainly done him a good turn, hanging on his arm and holding him back from making a fool of himself . . . .

And that is why Clara, the flapper, received a box of roses and a penitent note from Jeff that afternoon. "Gee, he really like me!" she sighed. And a strangely serious expression came into her pretty brown eyes. She was dressed to go out, and gazing into the mirror she stifled an exclamation and catching up a handkerchief rubbed some of the scarlet from her lips. She surveyed herself critically before nodding approval. Jeff had said, she remembered, that he didn't like it; his approval had suddenly grown very important to her.

"I was just run-down, no good for anything, could eat very little, was restless all the time, and had nervous crying spells. I did not sleep any at night and just dreaded for night to come. My sister-in-law recommended the Vegetable Compound to me one day and my husband brought home a bottle. I began getting better when I was taking the second bottle and now I have a good appetite, take care of my people when they are sick and do my own work too."—Mrs. G. L. Hawks.

"When I was a girl of 13 I was pale and run-down, my back ached and I had no life in me. My mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got it for me and after taking six bottles I was like a different person. It made me strong and well and did wonders for me. The best I can say is not enough. I took three bottles more about a year ago and it helped me again. I am taking it now in the tablet form and find it a wonderful help. I will answer letters from women about it."—Mrs. Glenn Linn.

The flu left me in a run-down condition. Friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has given me more vigor and has helped me to be more active. I do clerical work and cleaning and pressing and I am able to work every day and to work some at home too. I used to feel so weak and tired I had to lie down often. Now I have a good appetite, my nerves are better and I feel well and strong. I recommend the Compound whenever I can, for it gives results."—Mrs. Grace A. Felton.

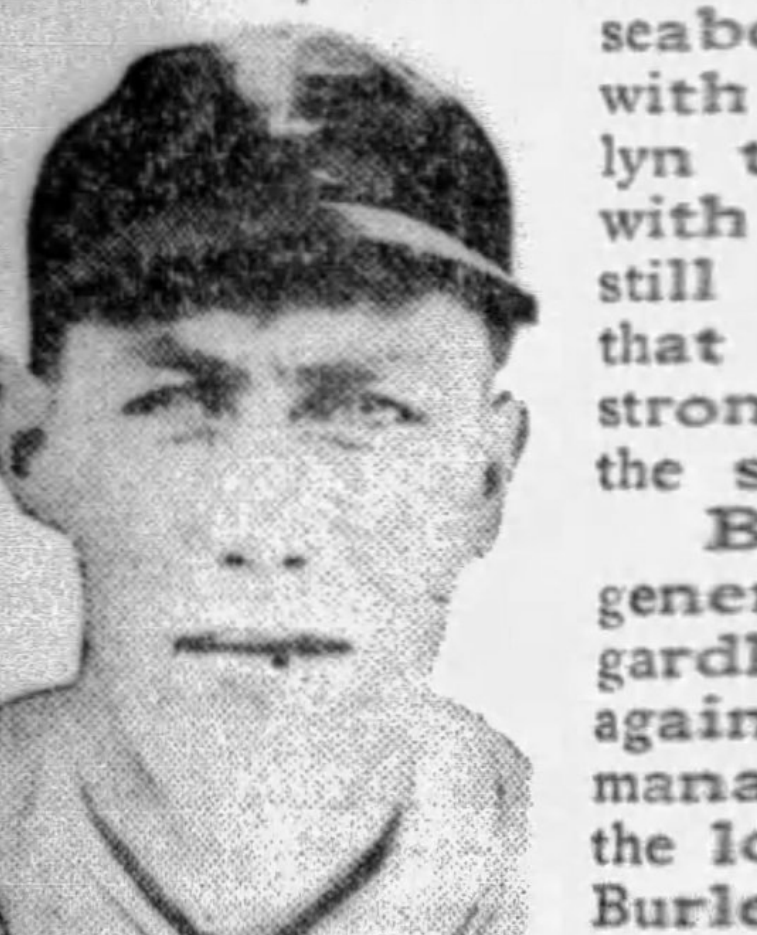
Hard Program for Bucs. Likely to Hold Up End. Quartet Behind Grimes. ◆ Boxer Card in Defeat. Reds' Fielding Record. Wingo May Be Pilot.

PLAYER-AWARD ABOLITION AIDS GAME

THE Pirates have completed the first half of the home series against the East with four victories to their credit against two defeats, but the harder part of the competition with the seaboard clubs is to come. Three games with the Robins here and one in Brooklyn tomorrow will be followed by four with the Giants, and if the Bucs are still in first place at the conclusion of that tough program it will be the strongest evidence yet produced as to the strength of the Bushmen.



Ervin Brame.

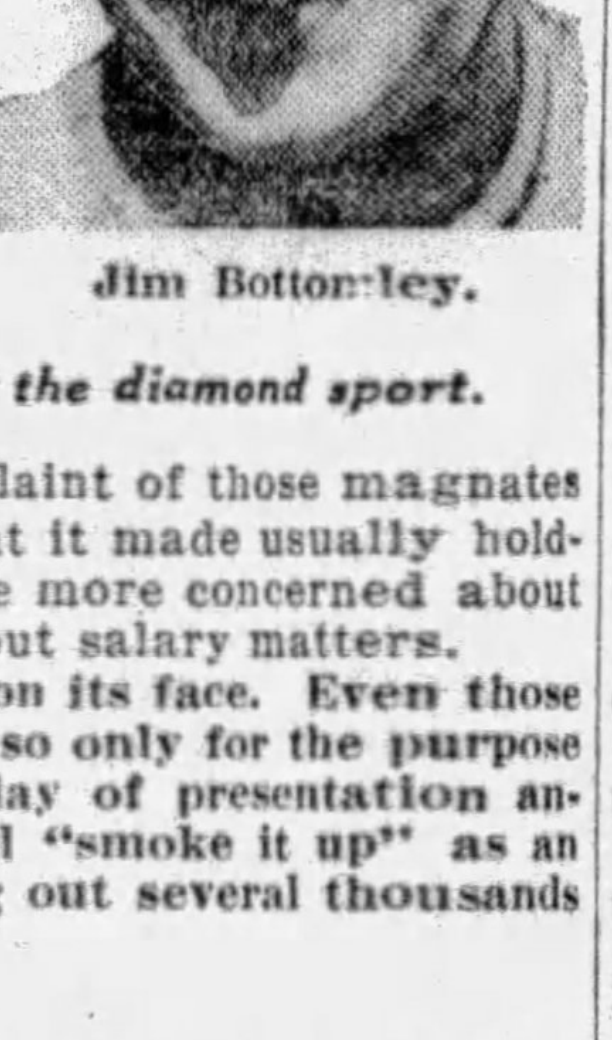
Brooklyn has not been looked upon generally as a formidable foe, but regardless of how they may be playing against other teams the Dodgers usually manage to make plenty of trouble for the locals. Last year, for instance, even Burleigh Grimes was able only to break even with them in six games. As to the Giants, they are beyond question the toughest club in the league to defeat right now.

HOWEVER, a team that has won 23 of its last 31 games, as the Corsairs have done, may be depended upon to take care of itself against any kind of opposition. Unless a hitting slump develops the Bucs are likely to come through with a creditable record, as the pitching at present is better than at any time this season. Ervin Brame showed again yesterday that he is able to hold up his end as a regular. He now has four victories and a tie to his credit, without a defeat, and has done relief duty in seven other games.

Remy Kremer has won four of his last five games, Steve Swetonic has won his last two engagements and Larry French is due for a brace. A strong quartet to back up Burleigh Grimes, who goes after his tenth straight win today. The consistency of the Pirates is shown by the fact that they have lost fewer games than any other club in eiher league this year, with the exception of the Athletics, who have not been defeated twice in succession since the season opened.

ST. LOUIS today will be the scene of the final act in the National league's end of an annual ballyhoo that has for several years been one of the most widely discussed topics in baseball.

Today is Jim Bottomley day in the Mound City, and to the popular first-sacker of the Cardinals will be presented the bronze medal and $1,000 gold prize emblematic of the honor he won in being voted the most valuable player in the National League last year.



Jim Bottomley.

AND this will be all. There will be no more. About a month ago the American League, at a special meeting in Cleveland, voted to discontinue the practice of having a "most valuable player" named each year, and at yesterday's session in Cincinnati the National League decided to do the same thing. The abolition of the custom of having an individual proclaimed the most valuable player in his league no doubt will meet with the approval of every fair-minded fan with the best interests of the game at heart. It is a step in the right direction for the welfare of the diamond sport.

GAME goers were not interested in the complaint of those magnates who opposed the award on the ground that it made usually holdouts of the athletes who received it. They are more concerned about the kind of ball a man plays than they are about salary matters.

They objected to it because it was unfair on its face. Even those few clubowners who favored its retention did so only for the purpose of the ballyhoo. They figured that on the day of presentation annually, such as today in St. Louis, they could "smoke it up" as an extra attraction to such an extent as to bring out several thousands of extra customers.

BUT no player can win a ball game, much less a pennant, without the aid of his teammates, and it was unfair to the other members of the club to have the honors given to one man. Such a custom was apt to cause petty jealousies not conducive to the success of a club, and every team will be better off for having no great "I am" on it.

The system started with automobile awards by a firm of car manufacturers in 1911, when the winners were Frank Schulte in the National and Ty Cobb in the American. The automobile awards in 1912 went to Larry Doyle and Tris Speaker; in 1913 to Jake Daubert and Walter Johnson, and in 1914 to Johnny Evers and Eddie Collins. Since the leagues themselves took it up, the American in 1922 and the National in 1924, the winners in the American have been George Sisler, Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Roger Peckinpaugh, George Burns, Lou Gehrig and Mickey Cochrane in the order named, while in the National the award has gone to Dazzy Vance, Rogers Hornsby, Bob O'Farrell, Paul Waner and Jim Bottomley.

Rogers Hornsby.

NATIONAL LEAGUE pitchers are complaining that the difficulty of keeping Rogers Hornsby from hitting is being increased greatly by what they term a tendency on the part of some umpires to give the Rajah "all the best of it" at the plate. "It seems that they miss most of the strikes I throw at that guy," said one hurler. "I have had him three-and-two and laid the next one clearly over the plate, only to hear it called a ball. A pitch to him that cuts a corner appears to escape the observation of the umps. It has got to be three or four inches inside the edge of the plate before a pitcher gets the justice of having it called a strike. Believe me, Hornsby gets plenty of strikes. No wonder a fellow can hit .400 when he often gets four or five strikes in a time at bat."

THAT the Giants were suffering only from temporarily unsteady pitching and the absence of Manager John McGraw when they were on the verge of the National League cellar a few weeks ago is demonstrated by their continued sensational dash that has carried them to within three and a half games of first place. They won six out of seven games in Chicago and St. Louis during the first two stops on their present western trip, and of their last 16 contests they have lost only two.

All of which means some great battles at Forbes Field next week when the Giants come here for a string of four games on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. McGraw and his colorful troupe have long been the strongest drawing cards to visit this city. They

GRIMES READY FOR ROBINS

TEAM TITLE MAY GO TO U. S. C.

CHICAGO, June 8. — (AP.) — Having set one new world record and twice tied another in the trials of the annual N. C. A. A. track and field championships here yesterday, athletes from 79 universities and colleges prepared to attack and possibly shatter a dozen existing marks in the finals today.

Pete Rasmus, of Ohio State University, set a new world's record for the discus throw when he tossed the missile 159 feet 1¾ inches in leading the qualifiers for the finals. This performance beat the former record of 158 feet 1¾ inches, made by Bud Houser, of the University of Southern California, in 1926.

After Rasmus made his record-breaking throw, Ed Moeller, of Oregon, unwound himself and came near tossing the platter out of the place. He registered a toss of 159 feet 10 inches, but his mark was not allowed because he had the misfortune of fouling, swinging his foot out of the circle when he sent the disk hurling into space. He qualified, however, and will have another chance to beat Rasmus' mark in the finals today.

TIE CENTURY MARK

Running the 100-yard dash in 09.5 seconds is becoming so commonplace for Eddie Tolan, the University of Michigan great Negro sprinter, that there was merely an arching of eyebrows among the frozen few spectators when both Tolan and George Simpson, the Ohio State speedster, won their preliminary heats in record time.

Tolan, who won the 100-yard dash in the Western Conference outdoor championships two weeks ago in :09.5, reeled off his preliminary heat running like a machine. He broke the tape about two yards ahead of Toppino, of Loyola University of New Orleans. Then Simpson, who was beaten by a whisker by Tolan in the Big Ten championships, came right back and stepped off his preliminary heat in :09.5. Claude Bracey, the Dixie flyer, from Rice Institute of Houston, Tex., and Cy Leland, of Texas Christian, both turned in :09.6 in capturing their preliminary heats.

Harlow Rothert, of Stanford, set a new national collegiate meet record of 50 feet 3 inches in qualifying in his specialty, the shot put. The big Californian surpassed the former record made by John Kuck, of the Kansas State Teachers' College, by 2¾ inches.

Judging from the performances in the trials, the records face wholesale slaughter in the finals, and Stanford, the 1928 team champions, probably will be supplanted in the scramble for the 1929 title, as the Cardinal school has only three athletes entered.

U. S. C. THREAT

The University of Southern California and the University of Washington appear to be the dangerous threats, with Illinois and Ohio State looming up in the background. Southern California qualified eight men in five of 10 events in which preliminaries were held, landing a trio, the Payne brothers and Webber, in the low hurdles.

Washington had seven men in five events, with Illinois, the Big Ten outdoor champion, qualifying six men, and Ohio State five.

One of the Buckeyes, Howard Kriss, probably will be missing in the finals, due to a pulled tendon. He fell flat at the half-way mark of his heat of the 220 and had to be assisted off the field. He qualified previously for the broad jump.

BOWEN WINS HEAT

Reginald (Pete) Bowen, intercollegiate quarter-mile champion from the University of Pittsburgh, qualified easily in the 440, though Walters, of Northwestern, turned in the best qualifying time. Both men won heats.

Snellenbach, Duquesne University sprinter, ran third in his heat in the century, failing to qualify, but finished second to George Simpson in the 220 and will start in the final of that race today.

JIM STRONER

Third base recruit of the Pirates, who has been farmed out to the Indianapolis Club, of the American Association, under an option that gives the Pirates the right to recall him on two days' notice. Jim was sick at the start of the season and now is in need of work and can't get it here with Pie Traynor on the job every day.

NOTABLES SEE PAULINO BOX

HOOSICK FALLS, N. Y., June 8. —(INS.)—William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, and a party of 30 sport experts and notables were here today to watch Paulino Uzcudun work out in preparation for his milk fund bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium on June 27. They will leave tomorrow evening.

For the first part of his workout yesterday with Benny Touchstone, the Basque heavyweight appeared to be somewhat of an easy mark for a left, and was plastered quite freely by the Florida fighter's tantalizing jabs. He got inside Touchstone's guard finally, however, and peppered his sparring partner freely.

MAX EASES UP

LAKEWOOD, N. J., June 8.—(INS.)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, is easing up on the German heavyweight's training program for the Paulino bout. Jacobs fears that Maxie has been overworked and may go stale.

Schmeling laid off boxing yesterday, but got plenty of exercise. He played 18 holes of golf at the Lakewood Country Club links in the morning and another 18 in the afternoon.

UNCLE ROBBIE'S ILL FORTUNE PERSISTS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

You hear about different people having a lot of luck, but there are two kinds, and if you want further particulars, just step into the Schenley hotel any time today and interview Uncle Robbie on the subject.

Robbie took one in the solar plexus in Florida when the medical sharps told him that Glenn Wright was unfit for duty; shortly after the race started the Brooklyn manager saw Jake Flowers, his best bet on the infield, leave to undergo an appendix operation; about the same time "$25,000-dollars a year" Dazzy Vance came up with an interior ailment, and now as Uncle Robbie gets his first sight of Pittsburgh, he picks up the paper and reads where one Burleigh Grimes will oppose his last place club.

ROBINS ILL FATED

The fellow who claims he had the seven-years-itch for eight years used to travel with the Robins, but even this gentleman had nothing on Uncle Robbie when it comes to drawing the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune that Shakespeare or some other bard dwelt upon.

Well, anyhow, the Robins are with us and the newest bird of the flock is a former Pirate. The reference is to Johnny Morrison, he of curveball fame, who has just been purchased by Brooklyn from the Kansas City Blues. Jughandle Johnny pitched a part of the game in Chicago yesterday. Eddie Moore also is with the Flatbush team.

The Duke of Burleigh has had four rest days and should be in rare form as he goes after his tenth unbroken success. He is likely to be opposed by Watson Clark, clever southpaw of the Brooklyn staff.

WIN OVER BRAVES

The Pirates defeated the Braves again yesterday and pulled farther away from the Cardinals, but the skidding of the Redbirds meant that the New York menace was becoming closer so to speak. The Cubs vaulted over the Redbirds and today are in second place, with the onrushing Giants dangerously close to the Cards. The Men of McGraw have won six of their seven games played on the big tour.

Ervin Brame rang up his fourth victory of the season for the Pirates as they downed the Braves, 6 to 2. Undefeated this season, Brame was not as effective yesterday as he had been in other contests, yet he pitched a clever game.

Lack of control on the part of Eddie Brandt coupled by George Sisler's loose fielding contributed much to the Freebooters' victory in the finale with the Tribe. Brandt walked the first three Pirates to face him, but he might have emerged from the mess at the cost of not more than one run had Sisler not thrown the ball to centerfield in trying for a double play. Two Pittsburgh counters were made in the inning.

Sisler's failure to make a play on Pie Traynor's easy roller of the third was even more costly, the home team riding to three tallies after getting this "break" Comorosky's three-bagger was the pivotal punch of the round. The Polish Flyer also connected for a single to hold to his fast offensive clip, and he starred in the outfield with six putouts.

JACOBS, WRIGHT WIN

LONDON, June 8.—(AP.)—Helen Jacobs, of California, and Jack Wright, of Montreal, advanced to the semi-final round of the mixed doubles of the North London tennis championships yesterday by defeating Tucker and the Hon. Mrs. Cecil Campbell, 6-2, 6-4, and W. Cole and Mrs. Beamish, 8-6, 6-4.

Fight Results

At Buffalo—Fidel LaBarba defeated Tommy Paul, 6 rounds; Pablo Blanco defeated Charley Pinto, 6 rounds.

At Erie—Billy Jones won by a technical knockout over Georgie Nichols, 5 rounds; Tony Fuente knocked out Harry Slaughter, 5 rounds; Virgil Kincaid defeated Rudy Ceder, 10 rounds; Ray Collins and Joey Smith drew, 6 rounds.

At San Francisco—Young Corbett defeated Al Van Ryn, 10 rounds.

N.L. to Discard Player Award After '29

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(AP.)—Discontinuance of the "most valuable player" award, after this year, was decided upon by National League club owners at their annual meeting.

The magnates discussed the lively ball now in use in the league and decided to continue it because, as they said, "a few good hits make the game more interesting."

TOURNEY FAVORITE

STEVE SLIVKA

Inasmuch as Joe Curto, winner of the William Randolph Hearst Trophy, emblematic of the Western Pennsylvania junior amateur golf championship, sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, will not be able to defend his crown this year, little Steve Slivka, now only 15, who captured the sub-junior class honors last year, is the ranking favorite to cop the second annual event, at Schenley Park, July 11. Steve scored a 70 last year to rank second only to the winner, who was in the junior class. He hopes to turn in a score in the 60s this time.

SPILLS FEATURE HORSE SHOW

The second day of the sixth annual horse show at the Allegheny Country Club passed yesterday, with events rapidly leading up to the climatic championship events slated for this afternoon.

A large field of entries saw Windsor, a Richard K. Mellon hunter, entered by the Rolling Rock farms, outstanding in a number of classes and ranked with Happy, of the Paddock stables, and Rathfarnum, a thoroughbred owned by W. C. Stevenson, as a good guess for the hunters' championship.

RIDER TAKES SPILL

Sensations of the day were the header taken by David I. McCahill, up on White Rock, and by a jockey from Molly McNeil, after she stumbled on the in jump of the in-and-out of the open jumping class for hunters and jumpers.

Molly McNeil was a little shaky about her jumps and started to refuse the in-and-out, but changed her mind in time to make the leap. The rider lost his balance and fell in the dust while Molly McNeil went on over the out jump. Molly, owned by Miss Elizabeth M. Bovard, was good enough to take the red ribbon in the class, in spite of the accident.

The McCahill spill came when White Rock, a little skitish, bolted after a jump. Mr. McCahill fell and was dragged several feet, uninjured, while he gamely held his mount's bridle.

FINALS TODAY

Today is the most eventful of the three-day show and is expected to draw the largest crowd in the history of the affair, provided the weather remains clear. The first two days were considered ideal for such an event, and show a remarkable improvement on the sluggish, disagreeable days of recent years. Yesterday's awards:

W. J. Platt, Corson In Philly Final

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(AP.) —W. J. Platt, Whitemarsh Valley, and Philip L. Corson, of Plymouth, will meet in the 36-hole final today for the golf championship of Philadelphia.

In the semi-finals at North Hills yesterday Platt defeated Gerald D. McHugh, his 18-year-old club mate, 2 up, and Corson eliminated J. Griffith Boardman, Ashbourne, 1 up.

Bravo Brame!

Billy Jones Stops Nichols at Erie

ERIE, Pa., June 8.—(AP.)—Billy Jones of Philadelphia, won a technical kayo over George Nichols when the latter's seconds threw, in the towel in the sixth round of the scheduled feature 10 rounder here last night. Jones knocked the Buffalo boy down three times in the fifth. Jones weighed 174 and Nichols 165.

Yank Ryder Cup Team Home Today

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS.) — The American Ryder Cup Golf team, which lost to England, but which produced the winner of the British open in Walter Hagen, will be tendered an official reception at City Hall today following their arrival from Europe. Hagen's companions are Joe Turnesa, Horton Smith, Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen and Johnny Farrell.

SLIVKA AFTER TOURNEY CUP

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Little Steve Slivka, who finished first in the sub-junior division last year, considers himself, and is considered by others, a prime favorite to win the second annual West Penn junior amateur golf tournament for the William Randolph Hearst trophy, being sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. The tourney will be held Thursday, July 11, over the Schenley Park municipal links.

Young Steve (he is only 15 now) played might fine golf, a 70, to lead the sub-juniors last year, and he has improved his game wonderfully since that time. With Joe Curto, last year's champion, out of competition this year, having passed the age limit of 18, Steve is conceded as having a fine chance to cop the honors if he qualifies on the Schenley Park Golf Club's caddie team, which appears to be certain.

OPEN TO ALL

The tournament is open to all amateurs, no matter where they may reside, who are under 18 years of age and are not attending classes above high school grade. The entries have been pouring in since the announcement early this week of the tournament date, and the Tournament Editor is confident that last year's entry list of more than 600 will be surpassed.

Caddies who plan to enter the tournament must qualify in the qualifying tests to be staged by various clubs. The first of these will be held Monday at Edgewood.

For the benefit of caddies from distances, boys who may wish to enter individually, the Golf Tournament Editor will be glad to consider their entry, provided a letter from the caddie-master of the particular club accompanies it, stating that his club will not be able to hold a qualifying test because of lack of entries.

DON'T DELAY!

Don't delay in sending in your entry, boys. Send your entry, and a picture, if you can, to the Golf Tournament Editor of this paper. All are welcome, and, let's go!

GERMANS WIN

HAMBURG, Germany, June 8.—(AP.)—Germany's Davis Cup team gave the experts a jolt yesterday by scoring victories in both of the opening singles matches against Italy. Dr. Landmann, Germany, conquered Stefani, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, and Hans Moldenhauer defeated the Italian ace, Baron De Morpurgo, 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

STILL HITTING

UNIONTOWN, June 8.—Released by the Fairmont club of the Mid-Atlantic League, Bill Helmick, for years termed the "Greene County wonder," has joined the Nemacolin club of the Pleasant Valley League. He is playing second, hitting in the cleanup spot and batting around .400.

SIMONICH PULLS OUT OF MATCH WITH DUNDEE

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

It seems that if it isn't one thing it's another with the Joe Dundee match that the Meyers brothers have signed for their North Braddock bowl one week from next Monday night.

Everything appeared lovely a week ago, when Dundee's manager, Max Waxman, came here and signed to let Joe fight Joe Simonich, of Butte, Mont., in a bout to serve as a tuneup for his 15-round championship battle with Jackie Fields at Detroit, July 11, and Joe Basco, of Barberton, O., manager of Simonich, accepted the match on behalf of his man.

Then, a few days ago, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Jack Dempsey's pal, who is promoting the Dundee-Fields battle and is guaranteeing Dundee $50,000 for his end, put up a squawk to the effect that he wouldn't stand for Dundee fighting anywhere and running the risk of injury before boxing for him. Waxman immediately got in touch with him and yesterday notified the promoters that he had ironed out the difficulty and secured Fitz's permission to go ahead with the Simonich bout. And just then, as they say in the story books, THEN—

A wire came from Basco announcing that Simonich was pulling out, feeling the time is too short to enable him to prime for the meeting with Dundee, a bad body punisher.

SEEK SUBSTITUTE

Late last night, consternation was reigning among the Meyers brothers and their matchmaker, Jules Beck, as they were burning up the wires trying to urge Simonich to reconsider and at the same time sending out feelers to the managers of other boxers who shape up as if they might fill the bill as opposition for Dundee.

It's a tough life, this matchmaking game. Just when you think you have something in the palm of your hand, you suddenly discover you only think you have.

The plan of staging a double windup of two 10-round bouts and rounding out the bill with two six-round preliminaries, which will be tried out in the Meyers Bowl next Monday night, looks like a good one, for the reason that the first 10-rounder always may develop a topliner for a future show, and topnotch talent isn't so plentiful around here that the promoters can afford to pass up the opportunity of digging up just a little more. Tony Herrera and Phil Goldstein are the main event artists Monday night, with Jackie Rodgers and Eddie Burl, the latter of Buffalo, in the other long-distance affair. Bobby Burns and Young Nanci box the second bout and Paul Balint and Mickey Hart the opener.

AMATEUR FANS STIRRED

The local amateur boxing fans are steamed up over the meeting between Andy Andrucci, of the Willow Club, and Slip Lehr, of the North Side A. C., which will feature the open-air show on the grounds of the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., California avenue, Monday night. It will be the first clash between these stars, although the natural rivalry between them is keen.

Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, will box Maxie Strub, of Erie, in the semi-final to a battle between Eddie Anderson and Billy Wallace in the Taylor Bowl, Cleveland, next Tuesday evening. Johnny Datto and Chuck Feldman also are on the card and there will be two other bouts to fill out the program.

A $1,000,000 gate is the aim of the Milk Fund boxing show to be held in the Yankee Stadium, New York, Thursday night, June 27, with Max Schmeling, the German star, and Paulino Uzcudun in the 15-round main bout. The advance sale already is said to have passed the $250,000 mark. Tickets sell at $3, $5, $7, $10, $15, $20, $25 and $50, tax included. Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, as in past years, is chairman of the committee staging the show to provide milk for the babies of New York.

MILK FUND CARD

Otto Von Porat and K. O. Christner will be the principals in the 10-round semi-final of the Milk Fund show. Other bouts will be between Johnny Grosso and Angus Shaw, Jerry Pavele and Jackie Saunders and Roy Wallace and Primo Uvaldo.

The big show will not be broadcast by radio, but arrangements have been made for some 400 working press reservations at the ringside to accommodate reporters from all over the country.

Andy Martin, of Boston, is to return soon to Erie, where he recently defeated Eddie Reed, of Philadelphia, in a bout in which he tested out his newly-mended hands. He's due for a shot soon in the Meyers Bowl against one of the leading featherweights.

Due to a mixup in dates on the part of Bobby Amster, of New Jersey, and his manager, the boxing show originally scheduled for next Monday night at the Washington (Pa.) Gardens has been moved back to next Thursday night. Amster meets Battling Sizzy in the main bout.

Drivers to Qualify At Altoona Tuesday

ALTOONA, Pa., June 8.—Qualification heats for the 200-mile international automobile classic on the Altoona Speedway here next Saturday will get under way on Tuesday, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Paul C. Pommer.

The track having been definitely approved by Val Haresnape, secretary of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, it is now open to the drivers entered in the big event one week from today.

It is expected that every car entered will be at the track by Tuesday, as most of the drivers are already on the scene, busily engaged with their mechanicians in giving their cars a minute looking over.

Chester Co. Gunner Wins State Title

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., June 8.—W. B. Cochran, president of the Chester County Gun Club, won the state championship at 16 yards in the second day's shooting of the annual Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Association trapshooting tournament here yesterday.

Cochran led a field of 116, breaking 199 birds out of a possible 200. Fred Meiss, Hazelton, was second with 197 and Steve Crothers, the new doubles champion, and J. M. Hawkins finished in a split for third with 196.

Joan Zerbe, a 14-year-old miss, won the women's championship with a score of 87.

Next year's shoot will be held at Harrisburg. The tournament will be concluded today with a handicap event.

Long's Sport Comment

can come to Pittsburgh in sixth place and draw more fans than any other club that may be at or near the top.

ON ACCOUNT of the terrific clip at which the Bucs and Giants are going, and the prospect that first place may be at stake at that time, the McGrawites are likely to bring out larger crowds than ever next week.

To avoid last-hour rushes and to enable the fans to get their seats in advance, Secretary Sam Watters, of the Pirates, has already opened a public sale of tickets for any of the four games scheduled. The sale is now on at the Grand Theater Arcade, at Spalding's, at 6025 Penn avenue, and at Forbes Field. Mail orders also are being filled.

WITH Infielder Jim Stroner released to Indianapolis under an option that gives the Pittsburgh club the right to recall him on two days' notice, the Pirate crew is now one man under the limit of 25 that will be in force in the major leagues from June 15 to August 31. The Corsair crew consists of 10 pitchers, three catchers, seven infielders and four outfielders. Possibly there will be a change or two in the make-up of the club before trading time closes at midnight next Saturday, if Manager Bush can get the kind of material he wants in exchange for a couple of players whom he could spare.

Phil Goldstein.

THAT a boxer whose presence in the ring always assures a real fight is the kind that the fans want to see regularly, whether he wins or loses, is shown by the fact that Phil Goldstein, Pittsburgh boy, is one of the most popular cards here despite the fact that he has won only one match as a professional in his home town.

Goldstein's lone victory here was scored over U. S. Carpentier. He was defeated by Cuddy DeMarco and in three bouts with Tommy Crawley he lost two and got only a draw in the other. But he's always in there fighting and making the other fellow do the same, and that's what counts with the fans.

THOUGH they are only a step ahead of the tail-end Robins, those Reds may make some trouble for the Giants in the series starting today. The Cincinnati club has been playing improved ball this week, leads the National League in hits for the week and has played through its last five games without making an error.

Despite the improved showing, the rumor persists that a change in management is contemplated and that Jack Hendricks' days as pilot of the team are numbered. Ivy Wingo, present coach, is the latest to be tipped as a possible successor to Hendricks.

TENNIS LEADERS FACE TESTS TODAY

By PAUL G. SULLUAN

The third week of Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League competition finds the Section I race assuming interesting proportions. This afternoon's card offers two tussles that bear most directly upon the progress of the titular race, the pace-setting P. A. A. aggregation being slated to invade the powerful South Hills stronghold and Frank Smith's rehabilitated Edgewood host travelling to Westinghouse for a joust that will provide a real test of strength for the speeding visitors.

Meanwhile Edgewood, dark-horse of the contesting to date, will flash a formidable front in the face of Westinghouse. With Paul Hicks, Frank Smith, Chuck Cochrane, Andy Smeaton, McCaskey, Guthrie, and the rest in the line-up, the Edgewoodmen will stand off the best of 'em.

Rounding out the Section I schedule, College Hill and University Club will meet on the latter's lot.

Westinghouse Seconds and College Avenue top the Section II list with torrid tilting in prospect for the College and Walnut courts. Both teams have undergone transfusions of new blood and appear to have profited thereby.

BOYLES' RALLY BRINGS WIN

The J. J. Boyles continued their winning pace last night in the Gimbel Major League, hammering out a 7 to 5 win over the Mt. Lebanon Orioles. A three run rally in the fifth inning brought the victory.

In the City League, the North Side Civics walloped the Stowe Civics 6 to 2, returning their league leadership. The Roosevelt Club won a 9 to 4 victory over the East Liberty Red Sox in a Wagner Central League fracas. In the Crafton Church League, the Methodists topped St. Phillips 5 to 1, and in the Tri-Boro loop, Westinghouse took a fall out of Rankin, 7 to 2.

The Kokinos Cards and the Coraopolis Gastners battled to a 5-5 tie in seven innings in the Ohio Valley League. Equitable Gas lost to the Philadelphia Company team 11 to 2 in a Philadelphia Company League affair. The J. A. Lineys won a well played 1-0 victory over the Doelfels in a Central Pittsburgh League encounter. Carnegie Steel topped Gimbels in a C. and I. loop feature.

The Homestead Grays, with a new hurler, Miller, on the mound, won an easy 15 to 4 victory over Verona. Ingomar tripped up Glenfield Consolidated, 5 to 3 in another independent battle.

La Barba Winner Over Tommy Paul

BUFFALO, June 8.—(AP.)—Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, weighing 121¼ pounds, defeated Tommy Paul, Buffalo bantam, in a fast six-round bout here last night. Paul weighed 119.

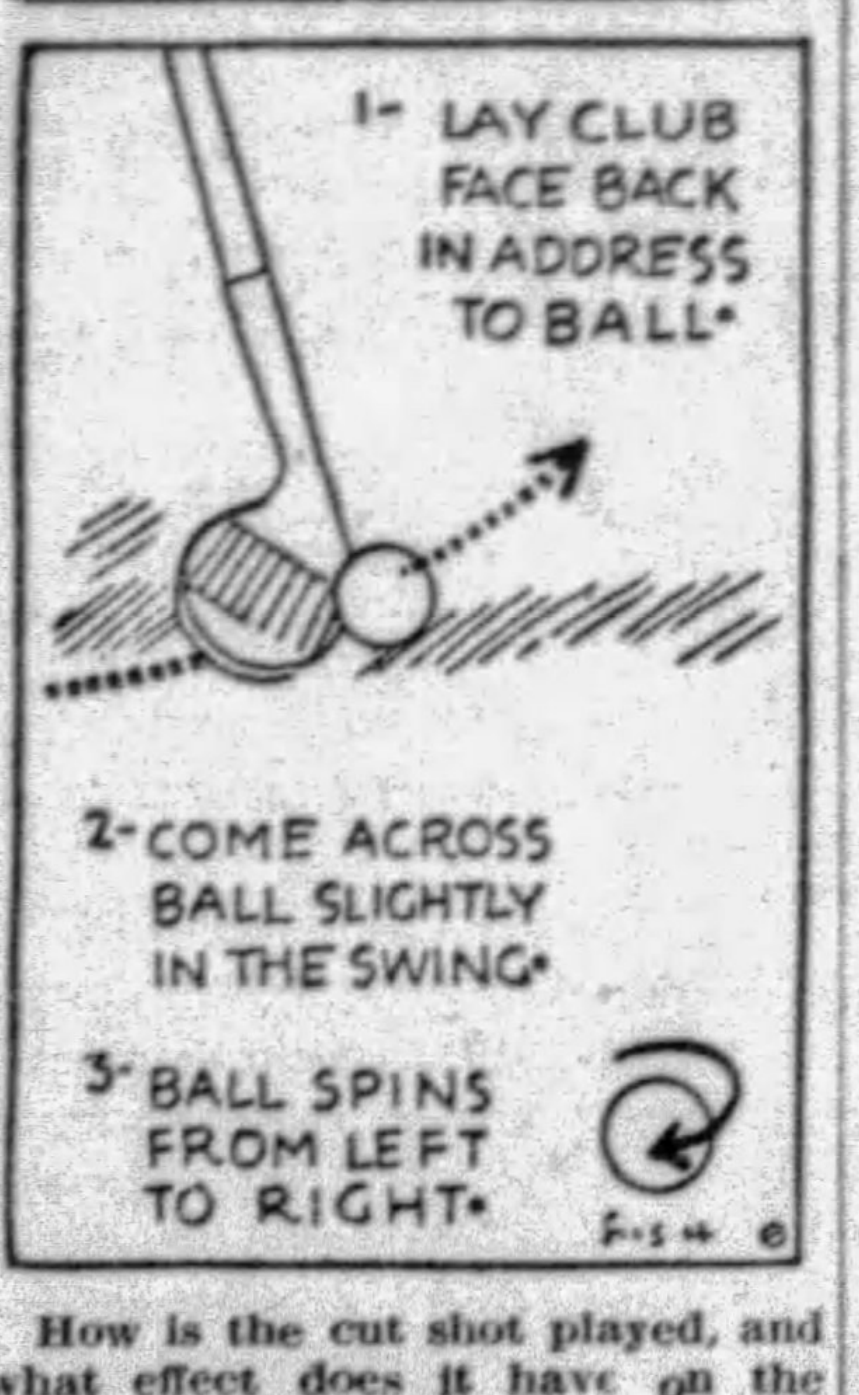
Paul gave La Barba a good battle for two rounds, then began to fade before the wicked left hooks and continuous assault Fidel launched at him. In the last two rounds, La Barba had Tommy in retreat and did his best work, while Paul lashed out with a right hand that was no match for LaL Barba's famous left hook.

A. L. Breaks Rule To Allow Dual Bill

CHICAGO, June 8.—(AP.)—The American League has broken a rule by permitting Boston and Chicago to bill a doubleheader at Boston tomorrow.

Under the rules no teams are allowed to play doubleheaders in their first series of the season. Because postponements are piling up and yesterday's game was rained out, President Barnard sanctioned the twin games tomorrow.

GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT



1- LAY CLUB FACE BACK IN ADDRESS TO BALL.
2- COME ACROSS BALL SLIGHTLY IN THE SWING.
3- BALL SPINS FROM LEFT TO RIGHT.

How is the cut shot played, and what effect does it have on the action of the ball?

Answered by
JOHNNY FARRELL,
Winner of Eastern, Metropolitan Wheeling, Massachusetts, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pennsylvania Open Championships, 1927; La Gorce Open, 1928; Tied for Bahamas Open, 1928; National Open, 1928.

In playing a cut shot which is played with a mashie or a mashie-niblick, lay the face of the club back in addressing the ball. Then in making the swing, keep the face of the club open, coming slightly across the ball. This gives the ball a slight spin from left to right, which means very little roll when it hits the green.

Local Boys Awarded Hun School Letters

PRINCETON, N. J., June 8.—Two Pittsburgh boys were among the numerous athletes awarded letters at the Hun School yesterday. Lawrence W. Knapp, Jr., of the Schenley Apartments, was awarded a letter in golf, while Thomas E. Pickering, 1050 Morewood avenue, received a tennis letter.

GIANTS, CUBS WIN; YANKS, A'S LOSE

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, June 8.—John McGraw's Giants, who can be counted upon every year to jump from one end of the National League standing to the other, either from top to bottom or vice versa, are running true to form again this season. Their sensational spurt of the past two weeks has netted them 14 victories in 16 starts and has carried them from the verge of last place to within three and one-half games of the league-leading Pirates.

The McGrawmen today begin a series with the lowly Reds, the only league rival they have not beaten this year. Then comes the important series with the Pirates.

The Cardinals, who dropped three straight games to the New Yorkers, were happy to see them leave St. Louis last night. Karl Hubbell, a native Missourian, turned in his second victory of the week in beating them yesterday, 8 to 1. Civic interest in the champions dripped still closer to the zero mark, only 2,500 fans attending the game.

CUBS PASS CARDS

The Cards dropped into third place below the Cubs, who trimmed Brooklyn again, and the runners-up in the American League also exchange berths. The Browns passed the Yankees by handing the Athletics their worst shellacking of the year, 15 to 6, while the Yanks lost to Cleveland.

Charley Root, of the Cubs, held Brooklyn to four hits, a homer by Gink Hendrick and three singles by Babe Herman, winning, 11 to 2. Johnny Moore, Chicago's rookie outfielder, had a perfect day at bat with four hits. Brooklyn incidentally subleased the league cellar to the Reds, who nosed out the Phillies in the eleventh by a 7-to-6 score.

Ervin Brame, towering Pittsburgh hurler, won a 6-to-2 decision over Ed Brandt, of the Braves, due to the latter's wildness.

BROWNS WALLOP A'S

The Browns nicked five Philadelphia pitchers for 18 hits, Manush and O'Rourke leading the attack with four smacks apiece. Manush hammered a homer with the bases loaded.

Cleveland seems to be the nemesis of the Yankees this season, having flimmed the Champs four times in five games. They won yesterday by a 7-to-3 count. Dead Pan Eddie Wells, the veteran southpaw who turned in a two-hit game in his last start for the Yanks, was knocked out of the box.

Detroit's heavy-hitting Tigers scored 14 runs in the last three innings to snatch a 17-to-11 batting bee from Washington. Charley Gehringer collected four of Detroit's 23 hits and drove in seven runs.

SCHENLEY COPS SERIES OPENER

Earl Stratton, who hopped into the scholastic limelight by pitching Schenley to the championship in Section I of the City League in the play-off game with Westinghouse on Tuesday, continued his fine mound work yesterday when he turned back Langley in the first game of the series for the league title. Schenley battered out a 9 to 1 victory, slamming four Langley hurlers for nine hits while Stratton gave up but seven and fanned nine men.

The victory gives Schenley the edge in the championship series, the second game of which will be played at Crafton High field next Tuesday. Langley is using Crafton's field as its home ground for this series.

Yesterday's contest was free from errors, Schenley's terrific hitting power overwhelming the Corliss Tunnel nine. Five of the Bellefielders' drives were good for two bases. The score:

Giusto Umek Wins Bunion Derby Lap

GILA BEND, Ariz., June 8.—(AP.)—Giusto Umek, of Italy, raced to victory in the sixty-ninth lap of the transcontinental foot race yesterday, covering the 47.2 miles of desert between Buckeye, Ariz., and Gila Bend, in 6 hours, 18 minutes and 40 seconds. Umek holds third place in elapsed time for the coast-to-coast derby.

Johnny Salo, the flying cop of Passaic, N. J., retained his lead in the derby by tying for second place with Pete Gavuzzi, of England, his closest competitor in elapsed time. Their time was 6 hours, 28 minutes and 50 seconds. Salo was penalized eight minutes before the start of the lap for taking a short cut Thursday.

'BUNYAN FUND' GETS $923

Reports of the Pittsburgh Bunyan tercentenary committee at a dinner in the Fort Pitt Hotel showed that $923 had been raised toward the $5,000 Pittsburgh quota in the campaign to keep "Pilgrim's Progress" in translation in many languages.

The Rev. William H. Matthews, general secretary of the American Tract Society, under whose auspices the national campaign is being made to raise $50,000 in the United States, was the speaker.

Sharon Mayor Fines Son and Councilman

SHARON, Pa., June 8.—Mayor Frank Gilbert meant what he said when he announced traffic laws were to be enforced. After fining Councilman E. O. Biggin $12 for not obeying a stop sign he collected $3 from his son, John, for violating parking regulations.

Davison Tries Out Huge Bomber For Army

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 8.—(AP.)—A huge Curtiss Condor bombing plane, capable of carrying more than a ton of explosives, was officially accepted for the Army Air Service by F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aviation.

Davison flew from Washington in his own plane and, stepping into the bomber with four Army officers, put it through maneuvers himself.

The craft has a wingspread of 90 feet, is 47 feet long and 16 feet high. Power is furnished by two water-cooled motors. The plane is manned by five men—the pilot, the bomber and assistant pilot, the nose machine gunner, the starboard machine gunner and radio operator, and the port machine gunner and photographer.

2 Youthful 'Thrill Bandits' Get Parole

George Taylor III, 21, Singer Place, Wilkinsburg, and Richard Phifer, 19, Wood street, Wilkinsburg, self-confessed "thrill bandits" who have spent the last seven months in the county jail, were released yesterday on parole by Judge Josiah Cohen.

They were sentenced to serve a minimum term of 16 months in January after they pleaded guilty to having held up three taxicab drivers. They testified that they did it "for a thrill."

Teacher to Retire After 52 Years

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 8.—After teaching in the Westmoreland county schools for 52 years, J. A. Hays of Greensburg, will retire with the closing of the Mt. Odin school near here, where he has taught for 10 years. During the past four years he had been supervising principal of the North Huntingdon and Mt. Pleasant Township schools. He is past 70.

683 IN HAYS GET CHARTER VOTE

Registration in the new Thirty-first ward, formerly Hays borough and part of Mifflin township, shows that 683 persons will be eligible to vote on the Metropolitan Charter at the special election June 25, the registration commission announced.

Last fall's registration of Pittsburgh voters will be sufficient for the special election, but a new registration will be necessary for the fall city election. This will be held September 5, 10 and 14.

For city voters who changed their addresses May 1, the commission has arranged a transfer system which will continue until June 25. To obtain this it will be necessary for these voters to apply personally to the commission's office in the court house.

FLAG WINNERS IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, June 8.—Still expressing amazement at the wonders of New York, 36 patriotic pilgrims, the regional winners of the national essay contest conducted by the United States Flag Association, arrived in Baltimore today.

Fatigued from the constant rush which their three-day program in New York had called for, they were of one voice in declaring it had been all too short. They were reluctant to leave the metropolis last night—there was so much still to be seen.

From Baltimore the patriotic pilgrimage takes them on to Washington tonight. They will spend a full week at the nation's capital, their tour of historic eastern cities coming to its climax next Friday, Flag Day, when the final competition will be held on the steps of the Capitol.

The winners of the national contest—two boys and two girls—will receive as their reward a four-month trip around the world.

Wife Dies in Crash, Mate Gets $15,000

MERCER, Pa., June 8.—A verdict of $15,000, the largest ever given in an automobile accident case in Mercer County, has been returned in county court in favor of Enoch W. Filer against F. P. Filer. Mrs. Enoch Filer was killed in an automobile accident while riding in the F. P. Filer car.

A jury also gave Mrs. Frances Hilkirk a verdict of $1,000 in her suit against John A. Hughes. Mr. Hilkirk was killed when he jumped from a railroad speed car to avoid being hit by Hughes' automobile at a crossing near Sharon, it was testified.

Two Drivers Freed In Fatal Collision

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., June 8.—Attorney John A. Elliott, of Beaver Falls, and Henry G. Singlup, of Detroit, Mich., were exonerated at a hearing before Justice Walter Lewis in the death of William Revel, 76, Harmony, Pa. Revel was killed when cars of Elliott and Singlup collided.

Planes Collide In Air; 3 Hurt, 2 Slightly

HAMILTON, Ontario, June 8.—(AP.)—Two planes crashed 40 feet above the new airport here, both pilots and a passenger being injured, although two only slightly.

Fred Shaylor, pilot, had just taken off with a passenger when his plane collided with a plane in which Capt. J. D. Parkenson was preparing to make a landing.

The planes fell to earth. Shaylor was seriously hurt and was taken to a hospital. Capt. Parkenson and Shaylor's passenger suffered only cuts and bruises.

FAIRFAX HOTEL PLANS ADDITION

Mifflin Blackstone, manager of the Fairfax Apartment Hotel, Fifth avenue and Craig street, announced plans for an 11-story, 600-room addition to the hotel, contracts for which will be awarded in the near future. The Fairfax has been opened about a year and is owned by the H. C. Maddux Properties, which controls 19 hotels and apartment houses in the eastern section of the country.

The addition, with furnishings, will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. Nine stories will contain single and double rooms, with tub and shower baths and radio sets. Tenth and eleventh floors will be given over to apartments with sleeping porches and sun parlors, which will overlook the Oakland district and the entrance to Schenley Park.

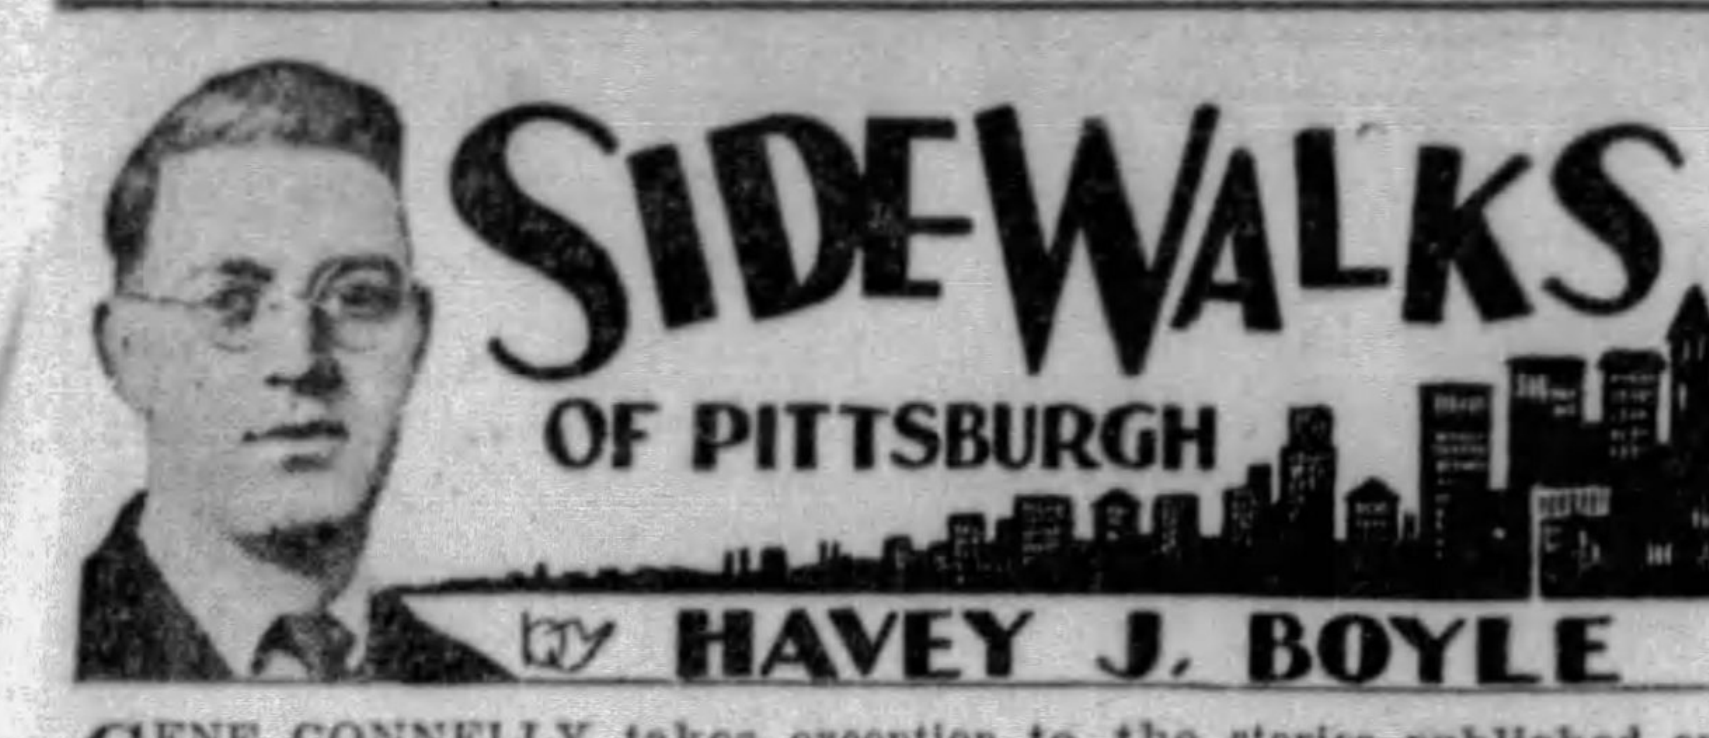
COURT BATTLE LOOMS OVER BILLBOARDS



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

GENE CONNELLY takes exception to the stories published on the death of Gallagher of Gallagher and Shean fame. The stories went on to say that Gallagher was an insignificant vaudeville figure until the popularity of the Gallagher and Shean duet became pronounced and this Mr. Connelly, who knows local theatrical history well, denies. Long before the amusement world was chuckling over the "Positively, Mr. Gallagher," and "Absolutely, Mr. Shean" lines, Gallagher was a well-priced figure in the vaudeville world. Contracts are still in Pittsburgh archives to show that Gallagher got $500 and as high as $700 a week before the famous song was introduced.

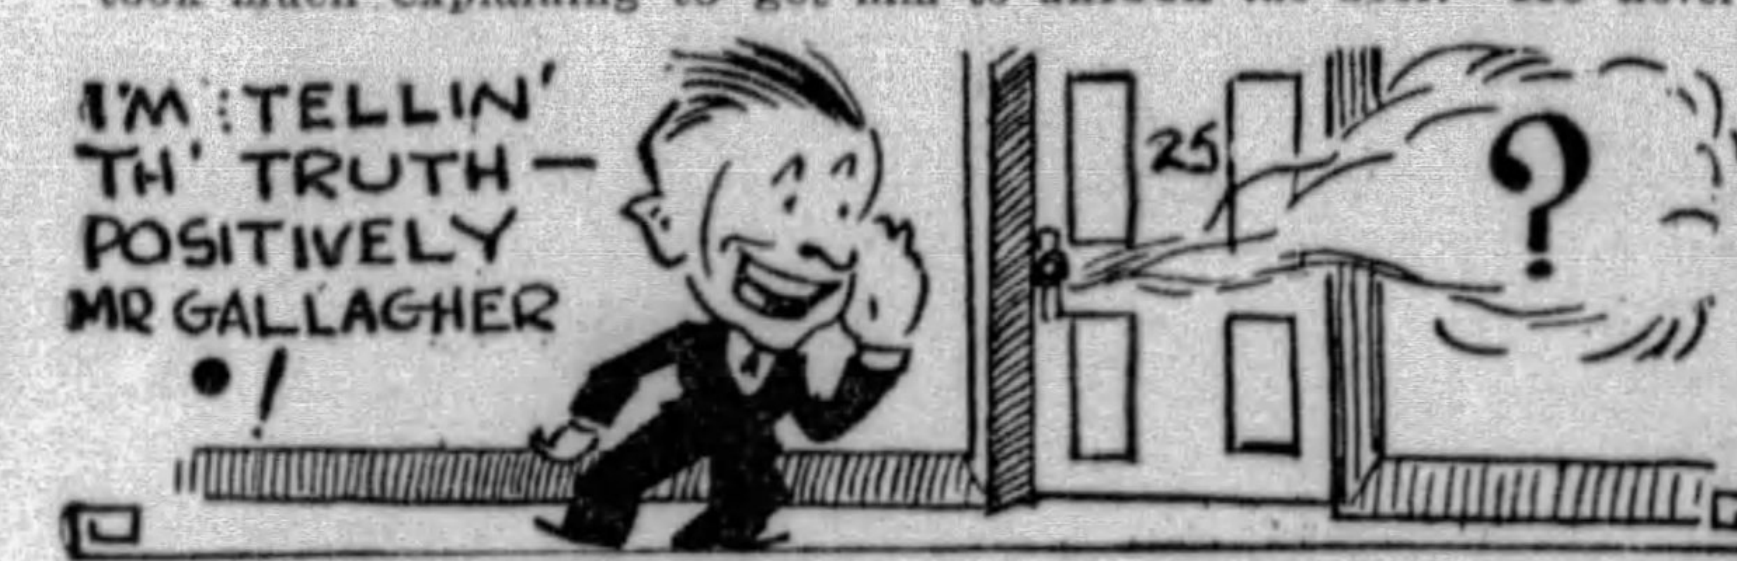
I remember one afternoon I went to the Davis to see but one act— Chic Sale's, entering late and leaving as soon as that famous comic was through his lines. The act following Chic's was billed as Gallagher and Shean, which at the time meant nothing, although reports drifting in later indicated this pair was rolling the customers from their chairs and into the aisles. It was not until four years later the team came back to Pittsburgh and by that time their act had grown a little stale.

* * *

GALLAGHER, by the way, never forgave Luke Barnett for tickling him here. Luke got into the usual altercation with Gallagher and the comedian ran and locked himself in a room. It took much explaining to get him to unlock the door. He never "made up" as most of Luke's victims do and in the midst of the excitement he said scornfully: "I should have better sense than to go to a party where the Irish and whisky get mixed together." Mr. Barnett had put on a few extra flourishes for Mr. Gallagher, chasing him with a homicidal look, supported by a treacherous butcher knife.



I'M TELLIN' TH' TRUTH— POSITIVELY MR GALLAGHER !

Gallagher's life story certainly was a contrast to the comic and debonair side he presented on the stage. A wife he cast aside when fame and fortune came along was found at his death-bed while the girl he took up in the height of his fame and married was not conspicuously near him when ill luck came his way. It isn't a new story, but to sentimental people it is always interesting.

That the talkies, featuring song and dance men, could well take up the story of Gallagher and produce a tearful tale, probably ere this, has struck the brain of the boys in Hollywood who can't supply the demand for just this kind of material.

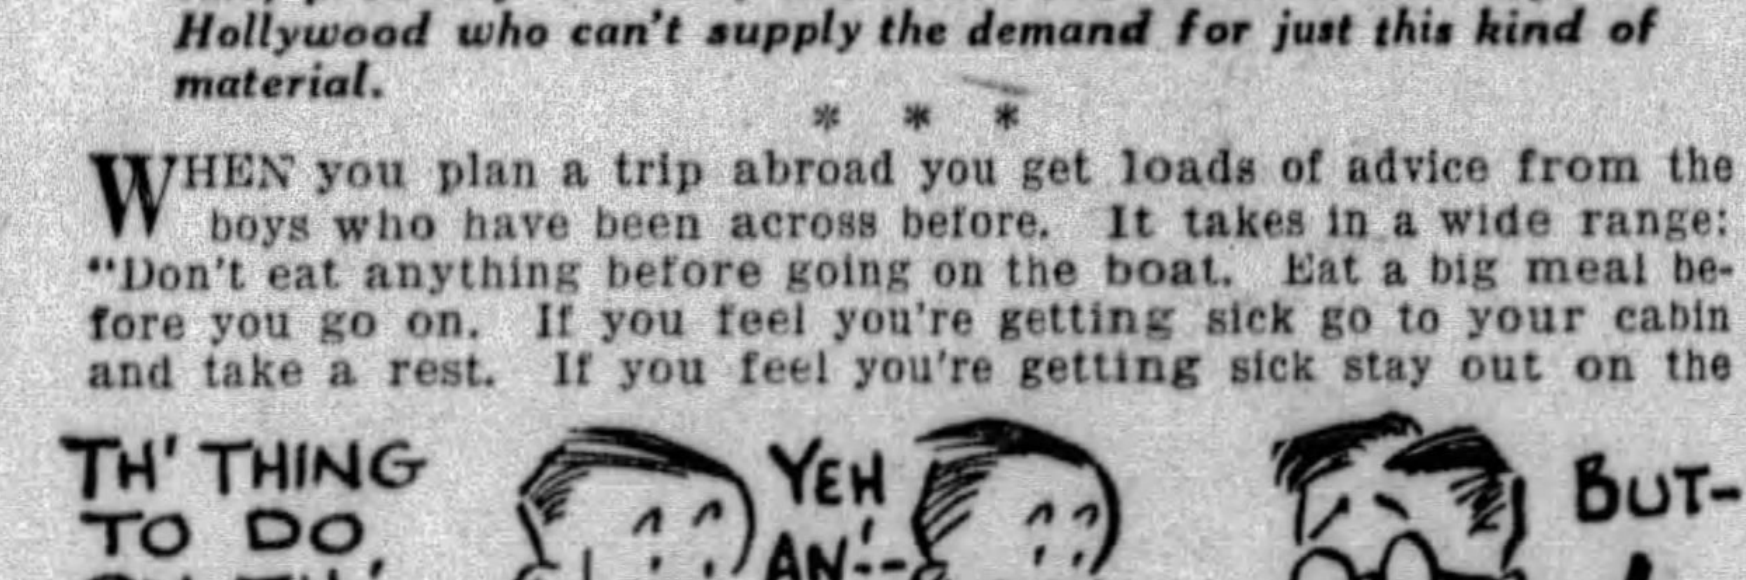
WHEN you plan a trip abroad you get loads of advice from the boys who have been across before. It takes in a wide range: "Don't eat anything before going on the boat. Eat a big meal before you go on. If you feel you're getting sick go to your cabin and take a rest. If you feel you're getting sick stay out on the deck and keep away from your cabin." Everyone has a different system and to a man who can develop symptoms of a sinister nature taking a ride on a porch swing the advice is just a little bewildering. And I always remember the time I went fishing when a man who thought himself a jokester called to me "that the boat was sinking," proved to be a cruel practical joker. The boat didn't sink at all. He had told me a mean lie after he had raised my hopes.



TH' THING TO DO, ON TH' BOAT IS THIS--- !

Business Blamed For Marital Break

The conflict between business and marital affairs of a wife was told by Edward Walliser, 1416 Franklin street, in a bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court in his suit for divorce from May Walliser, of Florence avenue, Avalon. He attributed her attitude partly to the fact she engaged in business against his wishes and refused to give it up, although he was able financially to support her.

Husband Was Cruel Wife Says in Suit

Mrs. Edna Marshall, 732 South Millvale avenue, asked a divorce from Clarence V. Marshall, 456 South Aiken avenue, in Common Pleas Court. They were married April 28, 1926, and she alleged she was compelled through his cruelty to withdraw recently from their home. She asked alimony.

SHE NAMED THE HIPPO!

JEAN HEINLE

Because the name she suggested, "Pirate," was selected by judges to be given the new baby hippopotamus at Highland Park zoo, Jean, 11, 1424 Juniata street, receives a prize of $25 from the Sun-Telegraph.

"Pirate" Picked as Hippo's Name, Girl Wins $25

Jean Heinle, a pupil in the 6-B grade at Manchester school, has offered the most appropriate name for the Hippo at the Highland park zoo, judges in the contest decided today after going over the several thousand names offered by local school-children.

The name Jean suggested was "Pirate," and she said the name was brought to mind by the local league-leading baseball team. The hippo also is a fierce looking creature and Jean likened this to the cruel pirates of Capt. Kidd days.

Pirate.

Jean lives at 1424 Juniata street, North Side. She is 11 years old, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Heinle. The name Pirate was not the first which came to Jean's mind as she thoughtfully wrote down names for the zoo's newest animal.

The judges, Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works department; Supt. James Moore, of the Bureau of Parks, and Ernest Tretow head keeper at the zoo, were unanimous in their selection of Pirate as the name for the hippo. Their decision was reached only after they had spent considerable time going over the big pile of letters sent in by Pittsburgh boys and girls.

The $25 reward which the Sun-Telegraph gives to Jean for her name delights her for, she says: "The school picnic is on Tuesday and I can spend some of the money at the park. I'll save most of it, though."

Rough Times Seen For Dogs In Mt. Lebanon

Rough times are ahead for the dog population of Mt. Lebanon, if orders issued by the commissioners of that township are effectively carried out.

A resolution passed by the commissioners authorizes the township manager, Elijah Gray, to employ a man of experience for a period of two weeks, at a salary of $50 per week, to conduct a dog cleanup campaign in the township. The commissioners have received many complaints about dogs running at large, and following the two weeks' drive the manager will return to see how effectively his work has been performed.

Cars Kill 10 in April; 56 Victims This Year

Ten persons, five women, four men and a child were killed by automobiles in Pittsburgh during April, according to a report of the Bureau of Traffic Planning, based on reports from the coroner's office. Of this number six were referred to as "jaywalkers." This was the same number killed during the same month of 1928. Thus far this year 56 persons have been killed in traffic accidents.

Baptism Will Feature St. Luke's Reopening

Anne Louise Cowan, a great-great-great granddaughter of John Benney, one of the founders of St. Luke's Episcopal Church of Chartiers, Woodville, will be baptized in the old stone chapel at 4 p. m. tomorrow, when the church will be opened for pilgrimage services during the summer season.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cowan, of McMurray road, near Brookside Farms. Her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Cinnamond Cowan, who will witness the ceremony, was a communicant at St. Luke's more than 60 years ago.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. Warren C. Herrick, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Mt. Lebanon. The music will be by St. Paul's choir. Continuing during the summer, services will be held each Sunday afternoon with pilgrimages from the various churches of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Pittsburgh, the visiting rectors officiating.

The first altar at St. Luke's was erected in 1765 and the earliest services were held by chaplains of the British army at Ft. Pitt. The first church was a log building stockaded in defense against Indian attack. The property was donated to the church by Maj. William Lea, an officer in Forbes army. Gen. John Neville, whose home at Bower Hill was destroyed during the Whisky insurrection, was one of the founders of the church. One of his neighbors was John Benney, who lived on Campbell's Run. The graves of the Leas and Benneys are in the churchyard.

ETNA MOVES TO BLOCK PLANS

Signs at School Athletic Field Held as Hazard; Board Ignores Citizens

A court battle looms over action of the Etna school board in authorizing an advertising company to erect signboards around the public school athletic field.

Citizens of the district, failing to block the move through a petition to council, have organized a finance committee to collect funds to institute injunction proceedings.

The school board is said to have informed the protesting citizens that unless the athletic field was inclosed by billboards no one would pay to see the games and there would be insufficient funds to meet expenses.

Residents of the district contend the billboards will be "unsightly" will depreciate property and will constitute a hazard to pedestrains.

petition asking that council not grant a permit to erect the signboard was signed by 120 persons but council voted to issue the permit.

At a meeing in the home of George P. Klein an organization was formed to fight the billboard proposal. Klein was chosen chairman and H. E. Williams secretary.

PRIZE CONTEST FOR MOTHERS

What five characteristics make up an ideal son? Mothers ought to know and they have been invited to submit their answers to the Sun-Telegraph.

The five qualities must each be expressed in a single word. And above all, the mother is asked to state what quality she would have the ideal boy possess above all others. She should tell why.

The questions are inspired by a film, "Mother's Boy," which opens June 10 at the Harris theater. The contest opened last Tuesday and all entries must be in by midnight tonight. The awards to be made to the winners follow:

FIRST PRIZE ....$25 in Cash
SECOND PRIZE ....$15 in Cash
THIRD PRIZE ....$10 in Cash
FOURTH PRIZE, theater box (12 seats) for "Mother's Boy," at the Harris Theater.

The rules of this contest are simple: On Question 1: What five qualities, each expressed in a single word, denote a mother's boy? It is necessary to write down only the five words. On the second question: What single virtue, above all others, does the ideal mother believe her ideal boy should possess, and why? It is only necessary to write the single word and THEN GIVE THE REASON IN ONE SENTENCE OF NOT MORE THAN 15 WORDS, telling WHY this virtue is selected. Your reason is very important for in the event the same virtue is selected, the best REASON will decide.

Write on one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to put your name and address on it. The decision of a committee of judges selected by the Sun-Telegraph is final, and in the event of a tie duplicate prizes will be paid winners. Address all letters to Mother's Boy Editor, Sun-Telegraph Pittsburgh.

3 Bellevue Men Leave for Mexico

Three Bellevue men, W. H. Swearingen, druggist; C. Edward Keck, and M. B. Porch, left last night to inspect banana plantations 400 miles south of Mexico City. They expect to return in three weeks.

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 8.

Congress passed a bill to redistribute some new Congressmen. United Cigar Stores have just done away with giving out coupons and now the government has taken it up and is giving out Congressmen instead.

If you remember, this session of Congress was called "just to relieve the farmer," so if you are a destitute farmer and can get enough other poor farmers to go in with you and sign the census rolls, why, they will relieve your stranded condition by giving you another Congressman.

The only relief I can see out of it is, send a fat one so they can eat him.

Yours, WILL.

JUNE'S VERY OWN!

JUNE! The month of roses and sunshine and Sweet Girl Graduates and Brides! The beginning of Summer and the beginning of life and a career for the Sweet Girl Graduate. But to the Bride it's the beginning of Happiness and a fulfilment of dreams. Once the Bride was a Graduate—then she thought that her cup of happiness was indeed overflowing. Through with school days! Through with all the long, dreary nights of studying and poring over books! True, there were some marvelous days in those dear, departed school days, but never a regret did she feel when at last they were over and she held the coveted diploma.

But now—shes' a bride! A June Bride! The lovliest thing on the face of the earth! And she laughs when she thinks what a little silly she was as a graduate! What big things she was going to do! How she would make the world ring with her name! But when Love came along how willingly she forgot everything else but just Love!

June specialties—Brides and Roses and Sweet Girl Graduates! Each marvelously happy; each wondrously beautiful! And how fitting it is that this month which marks the beginning of Summer—the lovliest season of all the year—should claim for its very own the Brides and Graduates, each beginning a new and wondrous life.

So here's to you all! May you find the happiness you seek, and may the Love you choose bring you the fulfilment of all your dreams!

Liquid Clothes

MY DAUGHTER, unless the inventory of the summer wardrobe readeth like a wine list, say not, "I am all SET!"

* * *

For what profiteth it a damsel, though she possess seventeen trunks filled with purple and fine linen and glad rags, and have not a drinking garment amongst them?

Verily, it hath not yet appeared when we shall add thereto a home brew outfit, a soup ensemble, a rum punch peignoir, a mint julep jacket, a moonshine robe de nuit and pousse cafe pajamas. But in good time all these shall, peradventure, grace a lovely woman's trousseau.

HELEN ROWLAND

For lo, these are the sweet, glad days of prohibition, when all the world speaketh and thinketh in LIQUIDS!

And for every hour of the day there is a favorite libation. And, for every drink a garment sacred to its ceremonial—or its memory.

Go to. How DULL was life in the days of wine-bibbing! Yea, verily, it was dryer than a Congressman in the presence of a customs inspector and flatter than a last year's alibi.

For then, alas, there was NO "Cocktail Hour," wherein women could foregather together arrayed as The Drinks of All Nations, and men could exchange wisdom and recipes.

Thus hath the world been cheered and brightened by Prohibition. For Drouth is the mother of Invention!

Behold, never, in all time, did the shops so glitter with strange and wondrous conceits! With quaint and beautiful cocktail shakers.

With electric "mixers" and patent orange-squeezers.

With flasks of silver and gold and precious jewels!

With flagons and goblets and glasses of a thousand dazzling hues and enchanting shapes! And with glorified corkscrews!

For, alas, the merchants and shopkeepers dwell in darkness. And they do not yet KNOW that this is a Dry Country! Yea, and a nation of ascetics and water-drinkers! SELAH.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Doctor Prescribes Form of Exercise

SEVERAL weeks ago I called on the President at the White House. This was just a few days after the inauguration and in the period when he had many vexing problems to settle.

DR. COPELAND

I was disturbed. I found his office hot as an oven. It was stifling in its lack of fresh air.

When I protested the President laughed, but jumped up immediately to open the window. On my official visits to the White House since then I have found his office cool, well ventilated and a suitable place to house the Chief Executive.

Because the alert newspapermen gave publicity to my first visit, they have been eager to inquire each time I am at the White House what I think of the President's health. As a matter of fact, he looks very well indeed.

He is fortunate in having a very sensible physician, Dr. Joel T. Boone, a medical officer of the Navy. This wise man keeps a watchful eye on the President. I am glad of it, because when unusual exercises are taken, particularly those of a violent nature, it is important to know the condition of the heart, lungs and other organs. For instance, so violent a form of exercise as "medicine ball," indulged in by the President, should not be undertaken by a person past middle life unless the vital organs, including the blood vessels, are in prime condition.

That is the thought I have in mind today. We are living in a period when thousands of our citizens are seeking to take off flesh.

Modern life is conducive to increased weight. City dwellers particularly have so many things done for them that they do not exercise as their ancestors did. This fact added to the further truth that many present-day foods are fattening makes it almost inevitable that fat should accumulate.

I sometimes think we lack character when we permit our conditions of life to do us harm rather than good. I'm glad I live in these times and I know you are.

But we must not permit softness and needless self-indulgence to mar our figures and shorten our lives. We may not be particularly concerned about how we look but my observation is that the average person does not wish to die before his time.

Once in a while, therefore, a suddenly aroused person will jump into the most violent exercises and wicked restriction of food. Please don't yield to the impulse to do these things until you have talked with your doctor.

I am glad the President recognized this fact. Under the eye of his physician he has done it in a way pleasing to him. My suggestion to you is that you have your physician, as the President did, tell you what to do.

Horoscopes

Sunday, June 9.

SUNDAY'S horoscope indicates much liveliness and activity, although accompanied by much upheaval and agitation. There may be some sudden visitation to disturb the Sabbath preoccupations. All things of a literary nature will be under high stimulus. Employment is under favorable rule.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a lively year, with possible excitement, agitation or upheaval of an unexpected nature. Employment and literary pursuits are under auspicious signs for success.

A child born on this day may be talented and lively, but probably subject to sudden upheavals in its life. It should succeed in a literary career or in the employment of others.

As the evening twilight fades away, the sky is filled with stars, invisible by day.—Longfellow.

Monday, June 10.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a fairly tedious day with little of interest, unless that interest be bound up in domestic or social inharmony or friction. Also employment may develop some anxieties but not of a serious character. Be careful in signing writings. Transactions with corporations or secret socities may flourish.

Those whose birthday it is may not experience a year of great activity. Affairs may move in routine grooves, although there may be some friction in employment and in personal affairs. Negotiations with corporations, rings or secret orders may be successfully managed, but sign papers cautiously.

A child born on this day may make its best success through strategy and secret understandings rather than straight-forward dealings.

How poor are they that have not patience; what wound did ever heal but by degrees?—Shakespeare.

Katie Returns From Her Mysterious 'Memorial' Trip

"NO, I don't see what he's done," I said in answer to Lillian's query concerning Samuel Brixton's ridiculously large tip to Katie. My voice was pettish, I knew, but I was seriously annoyed at the gratuity so disproportionate and so upsetting to discipline as I feared it would be.

"I don't wonder you're sore," Lillian said. "I could smack him soundly myself. But you see, he's reasoned this way, that you, a perfect stranger to him, were entertaining five of his family on this visit to me. He couldn't offer you payment, and that interview when you checked—and checked him so effectively—showed him that he couldn't send you flowers or bon bons. So he reckoned up what his bill for a day would have been at a good hotel, added a good little sum for tips, and gave the whole to Katie. He cannily made her wait until he had gone before opening the envelope, for he knew very well you wouldn't permit her to take it."

"Why did you tell her she could have it?" I asked reproachfully. "I must send it back to him, of course."

"You must do nothing of the kind," Lillian said sharply. "He's gotten away with the trick very cleverly, and you may never see him again. Let him have the honors of war. Besides I think he's done you a good turn with Katie. She's so joyous that she's likely to loosen up and spill that story about Mary that you suspect her of holding out on you."

I started and put Samuel Brixton's tip out of my mind.

"Here's a coincidence," I told her and Katherine, lowering my voice. "Today is remittance day for Mary—the Braithwaite letter came—she has announced her intention of driving with Prince Georges, and Katie asked for permission to go to a 'me-mor-ial' for the woman whose funeral she ostensibly attended the last time Mary drove out with Georges."

"It may be coincidence," Lillian said, "but I'm inclined to think our Katie has hold of something. Let's check." She began to tell off points on her fingers. "On that last drive of Mary's with Georges, she didn't go to Easthampton as she told you she meant to do. But when they came back, Georges, to Mary's evident annoyance, told of seeing a 'freak' in fantastic mourning, a heavy crepe veil covering her features and with a ridiculous walk, in the Southampton postoffice where Mary had mailed a letter. Katie, who said she was going to Quogue to a funeral, had an outfit almost similar in the suitcase which opened so inadvertently at your feet. And when Katie came back she hinted at knowing things which, in her peeve at you, she did not intend to tell."

"It clicks so far," Katherine assented. . . . "I think it will be decidedly worth while to keep your handmaiden in her present good humor, Madge. Don't let anything happen to upset her before she leaves, and for the love of Malachi, listen to her when she comes back if she shows signs of wanting to lay her head on your shoulder and give you her confidence."

"She will have a most attentive listener," I promised, and kept my word when, upon Katie's return following hard upon that of Mary and Georges, my little maid summoned me to the kitchen in a most mysterious manner, and seating me in her cherished rocking chair, said dramatically:

"Meesis Graham, I find out tings today I tink you ought to know about dot Mary."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Presents

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

The brother of the young man I go about with is going to be married soon. He is just going away to be married; there will not be any real wedding. Is it necessary for me to send the bride-to-be a wedding present? My girl friend thinks that a wedding announcement means a present, and I am under the impression that this is not necessary. Who is right?

JUST A READER.

IT isn't "necessary" for you to send a present; it is just how you feel about it. Send one if you wish to—this question of sending presents of any kind should be one of personal choice. A wedding announcement doesn't "call for" a present in the same intimate way that a wedding invitation might be interpreted as doing, since we receive wedding invitations from our close friends, and to our close friends we usually wish to send wedding presents.

A Bad Social Error

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Do the bride's parents give the dinner after the wedding, or is this the groom's responsibility?

2—I have been told that the groom buys the bride's bridal attire. Is this true?

ROSEMARY.

THE bride's parents, as the hosts of the occasion, give the wedding dinner.

2—If the bride should allow the groom to buy her bridal attire, she would be committing about the worst social error that she could. Mrs. Grundy strictly, most strictly, forbids this!

No Definite Rule

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it correct, when finishing the first page of a letter, to continue on the back of that page or on the third sheet?

G. E. M.

IT depends on how long your letter is to be. The usual form now is to write on the first page, last page, and, then turning the sheet, write down on the third and fourth pages as if they were one. This is if you are writing a letter that covers all four pages. But if you are writing a note that may, for instance, occupy two pages, it is customary to write on the third page, after the first. But remember that, for this question or sequence of pages, there is no definite rule. There is only the proportion of custom.

Henry L. Doherty Again Active After Illness.

By B. C. FORBES

HENRY L. DOHERTY, head of the Cities Service Company and scores of others identified with the utility and oil industries, is back on the job after a two years' breakdown. He is not yet able to play his favorite game, squash, to reduce his flourishing waistline, but he is steadily getting into fettle. This long rest has made his sharp mentality even sharper. He has not lost a spark of his fighting spirit.

DOHERTY, although only one-quarter Irish and three-quarters Scotch, has always been a fighter, a fighter against antiquated methods and men, in finance, in industry, in utilities, in engineering, in chemistry.

"I question whether the public are educated up to the point of accepting unquestioningly all these colossal utility consolidations now being rushed through," he told me. "It's time to go slower in that direction.

"The consolidations, most of them, are not conceived on a common-sense scientific ideal basis, on the basis of grouping together all the properties in one section of the country, but are the result too often of catch-as-catch-can tactics, one man, or one company, or one group grabbing hold of one available property here and another there.

"The public will resent it—even rebel—if consolidations of too great magnitude are brought into being. They don't like monstrous monopolies.

"The general business outlook is all right if one ignores conditions in Wall Street. I can't regard them as conducive to confidence. Many stocks have gone up too far. Nobody can tell just what the upshot will be."

For years Mr. Doherty was a stormy petrel in the banking world; the New York bankers didn't like his new ideas. They refused to finance some of his enterprising plans—they called him crazy, a visionary, unsafe. Well, for years past they have been mighty anxious to do business with him. He proved that his ideas and enterprises were not crazy. Today he and his companions, instead of borrowing, are lending millions of liquid cash in Wall Street.

Doherty, the truth is, has always been ahead of his time, a foreseer, a pioneer, something of a genius, with certain mental characteristics of genius which ordinary folks call eccentricities. It is the fate of most pioneers to have to fight against standpatism and standpatters. Doherty has done his share of fighting—and probably, now that he is back in the arena, will do some more. He still has unfilled ideas and visions and ambitions.

HENRY FORD was the star attraction at the National Electric Light Association's convention at Atlantic City this week. Edison was to have been, but his frailty kept him away. Incidentally, Mr. Ford would sooner face cannon than make a speech.

He disappointed the crowded hall by not performing oratorically. When Edison's works suffered a disastrous fire five years ago, his friend, Henry, came nobly to the rescue, as Edison had not properly protected himself by insurance. Edison has never bothered his head about money. In his very early days he kept accounts by means of two spikes, one for paid bills, the other for unpaid. The latter invariably was much the longer. Even today Edison's wealth is far from being commensurate with the magnitude of his contributions to the world. His health, unhappily, is not robust.

Governors of Oil States Meet Monday

NEW YORK, June 8.—Governors of the leading oil producing states, or their official representatives, will gather at Colorado Springs, on Monday, in response to the call issued by President Hoover some weeks ago for a conference, having as its aim the promotion of the industry's welfare. The gathering will discuss ways and means of conserving the nation's oil resources, through the elimination of waste and better regulation of production. The meeting, which will in all probability cover several days, is expected to bring suggestions which should be of considerable aid in guiding the actions of the leaders in the industry who are seeking to stabilize conditions after their bitter experience of the last several years.

Intervention Plea Of Wabash Denied

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has denied the petition of the Wabash Railroad to intervene in the anti-trust proceedings against the Nickel Plate, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio railroads because of their holdings of Wheeling and Lake Erie stock.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 8.—Cotton opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 9 points on covering promoted by private reports of rains in Arkansas and the Mississippi valley. There was some selling on relatively easy cables, but the offerings were light and the active months sold 7 to 13 points net higher during the early trading, with July advancing to 18.72c and December to 19.04c. These prices attracted week-end realizing and the market showed reactions of a few points around 10:30 o'clock. Private cables said there had been local, American and Bombay selling in Liverpool and that business in cotton cloth and yarns was restricted. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 98,000 bales against 99,000 last year and 113,000 two years ago.

Quiet Week-End Trading In Local Securities

The week-end session on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange was very quiet with stocks showing no important changes from previous levels and volume of business declining to the lowest average of the week.

Blaw Knox Company repeated on the opening at the price reached in the upturn yesterday when it sold up 2 points to 40 after having sagged off to a new low at 38. The rally was attributed as much to scarcity of supply around the prevailing levels as it was to the reports of a substantial increase in earnings for the four months to May 1. Net after taxes for that period was $622,488, as compared with $425,345 for the corresponding four months last year.

Pittsburgh Steel Foundry, another issue which scored a sharp recovery yesterday, was not in the market this morning, but the bid for the stock indicated the gain would hold. This company's earnings for the first five months are said to be 30 to 35 per cent ahead of the same period in 1928.

Fuels were dull but steady and the glass issues showed no noticeable changes. Allegheny Steel dropped the 1 point gain recorded in yesterday's trading.

STOCK MARKET ENDS WEEK IRREGULAR

Closes Heavy After Half Session Confined Chiefly to Adjustment of Accounts

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.—The stock market again failed to develop a definite trend today, price movements being extremely irregular throughout the brief session. There was little public interest in the proceedings, and the activities of professional operators were confined chiefly to a readjustment of speculative accounts.

A brief flurry of buying developed in the oil shares in anticipation of constructive developments at the Colorado Springs conservation conference next week. One block of 10,000 shares of Atlantic Refining changed hands at 70, followed by a further advance to 70⅞, or within a point of the year's high. Pan American B, Lago and Indian Refining sold 1½ to 2 points above yesterday's final quotations.

American Locomotive responded to the receipt of a $14,000,000 engine order from the New York Central by running up more than 4 points to 124¼, the highest price since 1925, when the stock sold at 144⅞. Adams Express, which broke more than 50 points last week, week, jumped 35¾ points today, the first sale of the week. Evans Auto Loading was marked up more than 4 points.

Renewal of selling pressure against Commonwealth Power carried that stock down more than 5 points. This tended to check the bullish demonstrations in American Water Works and American Power and Light, which moved into new high ground early in the session. Shubert Theaters was in good demand.

Weakness also developed in several of the motor and accessory stocks, Hayes Body breaking 4 points, Packard 3 and several others yielding a point or more. General Electric, Radio and American Tobacco B also yielded readily to selling pressure.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, June 8.—With offerings scarce, fresh upturns in wheat went hand in hand early today with dry weather complaints both from Canada and Argentine. The fact that Liverpool wheat quotations were relatively firm, operated also to lift values here. Opening unchanged to ½c higher, the Chicago wheat market later scored a decided general advance; corn, oats and provisions developed strength likewise, with corn starting unchanged to ⅜c up and subsequently showing a pronounced rise all around.

Friends of higher prices for wheat were not dependent fully upon farm relief alone as a stimulus. Advices from Winnipeg said reports from 335 points in the Canadian Northwest indicated more or less urgent need of rain. It was added that winds had done considerable but not irreparable damage to wheat at more than 100 places.

In view of recent advances that sub-soil moisture shortage continued in Canada and threatened to curtail the 1929 wheat crop, the news reports today telling of increased dearth of moisture had an immediate effect toward enlarging demand here for wheat future deliveries and toward lifting values as well. Meanwhile, dispatches from Argentina said although the weather was unsettled, there had not yet been rain enough to dispel the evil influence of recent prolonged drought.

Hal Smith Resigns Hayes Body Position

DETROIT, June 8.—Heavy liquidation of his holdings, followed by influx of eastern capital and control, are reasons attributed to the resignation of Hal Smith as vice president and member of board of directors of Hayes Body Corporation, it became known here today. At the last board meeting, May 23, Mr. Smith tendered his resignation requesting to be relieved of his duties immediately. W. W. Hoagland, president, stated he is the last of the "old guard," with the company since its formation, to be superceded by representatives of eastern interests. No efforts have been made to fill the vacancy, Mr. Hoagland declared.

Copper Buying Good For Foreign Account

NEW YORK, June 8—Feature of today's half session in copper market was the continued good buying for foreign account. Total sales contracted so far in the morning for shipment abroad are estimated over 2,000,000 pounds at 18.30c a pound C. I. F. Hamburg. A large portion of this copper bought was for German account. Domestic market was quiet, although inquiry was said to be improving. Leading producers continue to remain out of the dealings. Price held firm at 18c a pound delivered, Connecticut valley basis.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Woods Company Sets Record.

Definite evidence that the business structure of Pittsburgh is in very sound condition is found in the figures of the Edward A. Woods Company, forwarded yesterday to the home office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society in New York. During May the local organization set a new record of 1,277 applications for $6,918,000 of insurance, which makes a total of nearly $30,000,000 worth of paid life insurance produced by it in the local territory for the first five months of this year. According to William M. Duff, president of the Woods company, the increasing volume of life insurance written by his and other organizations in the Pittsburgh district points clearly to the fact that surplus profits accruing from boom conditions in trade and successful investment operations, are being diverted to life insurance as a precautionary measure to establish reserves. He observes the tendency of going concerns to insure their key men as well as their employes through group insurance.

Week's Failures Increase.

Business failures increased somewhat during the first week in June over recent weeks. The total, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., was 423 against 347 a week ago and 488 in the corresponding interval of 1928. The South was the only section showing an increase over last year's figure.

Grigsby Foreign Expansion.

Chicago advices to Wall Street say that plans are being made for the organization of an English company which will acquire exclusive rights to make and sell radio sets in Europe, Asia and Africa under the trade mark of the Grigsby-Grunow Company. The latter will receive approximately half of the capital stock of the proposed concern in exchange for patent rights.

Potter Employes' Bonus.

The Potter Title and Mortgage Company has voted a semi-annual salary dividend to all employes based on their annual salary, payable July 1. The company also declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent on the capital stock, payable June 15. Semi-annual of 5 per cent on the stock of the Potter Title and Trust Company was also declared, payable June 30.

Combined Store Sales Up.

Sales of 20 leading chain store systems in May increased $12,521,696 to $74,104,292 in May from $61,582,596 in May, 1928. This is a new high record for the month of May.

National Tea Company.

The National Tea Company May sales were $7,536,047, against $7,372,879 for May, 1928. Five months' sales aggregated $37,474,378, against $34,781,658 in the 1928 period.

J. C. Penney Company.

The J. C. Penney Company's May sales were $16,089,552, an increase of 8.5 per cent over May, 1928. Five months' sales totaled $63,547,209, an increase of 10.3 per cent over the 1928 period.

Offer for Tidewater Oil.

Directors of Tide Water Associated Oil Company have announced an exchange of stock offer to minority shareholders of Tide Water Oil Company, a subsidiary. The exchange is on the basis of 1¾ Tide Water Associated Oil common shares for one Tide Water Oil common share. Tide Water Associated, formed in 1926 as a holding company, holds a controlling interest in Associated Oil Company and Tide Water Ore and unites the management. Each is a complete unit in the petroleum industry, Tide Water Oil having large reserves of crude in Mid-Continent and eastern fields and Associated on the Pacific Coast.

Bond Offerings Decline.

The week's new bond offerings total $63,000,000, against $56,800,000 for the previous week. The latter figure was the smallest weekly aggregate since March 1, being partly due to the holiday. Weekly offerings a year ago for the corresponding period amounted to $223,000,000.

Utility Commission Rumored.

Wall Street heard today that a movement was on foot in Washington to form another federal commission, similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission, to supervise the utility corporations in all matters, including the consolidation of the big companies, and for that reason there would be redoubled efforts to complete the mergers that are hanging fire before such a commission could have its say in the matter.

TRADE RECEIVES RECOGNITION

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Dun's review today says:

After the recent change in speculative aspects, there has plainly developed a closer and wider interest in strictly commercial movements. The underlying importance of trade trends is receiving more recognition now, following a prolonged period during which this phase had relatively small influence in certain quarters, and the comparative stability of conditions remains a point for favorable comment. There is a clear distinction between the unevenness due to extreme variations in the weather and fundamental weaknesses in the economic structure, and the former element chiefly accounts for such restriction of activities as has lately occurred. With abrupt changes in temperatures over a large area of the country, a steady flow of goods to consumers has been prevented, and concessions in selling have appeared in some retail circles. It is evident from returns of railroad freight traffic, however, that distribution commodities continues notably heavy.

Weekly bank clearings, $13,004,394,000, an increase of 0.1 per cent over a year ago.

Glass Company Sale Confirmed by Court

The public auction sale of the property of the C. L. Flaccus Glass Company at Tarentum, to H. T. Rosenmyer for $48,900, was confirmed by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, on petition of the receivers, H. C. Burchial, J. H. Beal, Jr., and Alfred Martin. The sale concluded all assets of the company except accounts and notes receivable.

LAKE COAL RATE FIGHT TO GO ON

By GEORGE SNYDER.

COAL operators in the Pittsburgh and Ohio districts will take up the fight for a more favorable differential on Lake coal traffic with renewed vigor in spite of the severe blow delivered to this district by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday, it was intimated by the officials of leading coal companies.

The course of action to be followed was not made public but conferences of operators and counsel for the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic Bureau will be held within a few days to determine a new line of attack.

While the decision of the commission in refusing to reopen the Lake Cargo Coal Case did not make any change in the rates now in effect, it was a shock to local interests who had hoped that the commission would reiterate its former stand for a 45 cent differential, now that the court injunction against it has been dissolved.

THE present differential of 35 cents a ton is 10 cents a ton greater than that of two years ago but the operators feel that this is insufficient in view of the low labor costs in West Virginia and the nearness of Pittsburgh to the Lake ports.

Had the case been reopened and had favorable action by the commission been secured, complete victory still would have been far away. Another increase in the differential might have brought a repetition of the recent freight rate war. The powers of the commission to fix minimum rates would then have to be retested before the Supreme Court and the case would have to be brought up in such a way that it could not again be thrown out on a technicality.

The Supreme Court dodged the issue last March when the case came before it following the making of the present compromise differential by the carriers. The court ruled that the compromise made the case a moot question upon which it was no longer necessary to hand down a decision.

DEMAND for coal in this district is exceptionally good for this season of the year, but prices have shown only a moderate degree of improvement from their record low points.

Mines here show a wide range of operating rates. No difficulty is being experienced in selling coal if the price is sufficiently attractive. Mines willing to make suitable concessions are running at capacity, while adjoining properties, making a firmer stand in their sales policies, are running only a few days a week.

INDUSTRIAL requirements for coal are large. As a result of this slack is now selling at 90 cents to $1 a ton compared with about 75 cents a ton a few weeks ago. No such firmness is being shown in lump coal, good grades of which are bringing about $1.80 a ton.

Under the extreme competitive conditions existing in the industry most operators are taking orders for any price they can get and are then cutting their costs by placing lower wage scales into effect. The blame for such a policy does not rest entirely with the operators here, since they are forced to fight for their markets with West Virginia producers who are paying even lower scales. The collapse of the union in this district makes it an easy matter for operators to establish wage scales in conformity with prices.

BOTH the Pittsburgh Coal Company and the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation are operating their mines at a high rate. It is doubtful if they are showing any profit after charging off depreciation and depletion. It is quite probable, however, that they are making money before deducting these reserve items and that they are improving their cash position.

International Petroleum Company, Limited

To the Shareholders of International Petroleum Company, Limited

At the Special General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Company, held on the 16th day of April, 1929, the Shareholders confirmed and sanctioned a By-law sub-dividing each share of the Common Stock of the Company without nominal or par value into two shares of Common Stock without nominal or par value, and Supplementary Letters Patent have now issued confirming the said By-law and each Shareholder at the commencement of business on the 15th day of June, 1929, will be the owner of two new shares in the place of each share of the capital stock of the Company formerly held by him.

Share Certificates and Share Warrants representing the new shares will be issued on and after the 15th day of June, 1929, upon deposit at the General Office of the Company, Room 101, 56 Church Street, Toronto, Canada, for cancellation and exchange therefor of the Certificates or Share Warrants as the case may be, representing the old shares now issued and outstanding.

The transfer books will be closed from the 5th day of June to the 20th day of June, 1929, inclusive, except for the purpose of recording the exchange of Certificates and Share Warrants of the sub-divided shares for the shares now issued and outstanding so surrendered for cancellation, and no Bearer Share Warrants will be "split" during that period.

Shareholders are requested to deposit their old Share Certificates and Share Warrants with dividend coupon No. 20 attached, for shares now issued and outstanding as soon as possible after the 14th of June, 1929.

Bearer Share Warrants with dividend coupon No. 20 attached, and Registered Certificates delivered by hand at Room No. 101, 56 Church Street, Toronto, will be exchanged for the new Bearer Share Warrants and Registered Certificates between the hours of 10:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m., except on Saturdays, when the hours of exchange will be from 10:00 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon.

Share Certificates and Share Warrants forwarded by mail for cancellation and exchange for new Certificates and Warrants will be at the owner's risk and should be registered, and Warrants should be insured.

By Order of the Board,
J. R. CLARKE, Secretary.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 8. (AP.)—Trading in bonds was exceptionally light in today's short session and prices moved irregularly lower in the absence of support for all but a few issues.

Convertibles were dull. American I. G. Chemical 5½s, market leaders when they first were listed several weeks ago, showed fair volume and were bought at close to yesterday's final quotations. American and International Telephone four halfs also showed little variation.

Liberty bonds and the Treasury issues barely moved, so slack was the interest. Other sections of the list, including the foreigns, were equally stagnant, althought Cleveland Union Terminal 5's picked up nearly a point on the appearance of some inquiry.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows. 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Wife Held in Death Of Man Released

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 8.—Mrs. Mildred Kenney, of Enon Valley, held in jail since the finding of the body of George Collins, of Youngstown, on the Mt. Jackson-Enon Valley road May 24, was released yesterday at the order of District Attorney J. Elder Bryan on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

She and her husband, William Kenney, and her brother, Albert Martin, were taken into custody following the finding of the body of Collins and held as material witnesses until the coroner's inquest. The jury recommended that they be held for further investigation, but as there was no evidence on which to base an information against the men, they were released at that time.

Army Officer's Son Leads at West Point

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 8.—(AP.)—Horace F. Sykes, Jr., son of Lieut. Col. H. F. Sykes, stationed at Fort Omaha, Neb., was designated as the honor graduate of the United States Military Academy yesterday by Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent. He entered West Point in 1926 as a result of a competitive examination for a presidential vacancy.

Other distinguished graduates in the order of their standing are: R. L. Hill, Chico, Cal.; F. L. Blue, Jr., Fairmont, N. C.; G. A. Lincoln, Harbor Beach, Mich., and K. D. Nichols, Cleveland, O.

Rescuers Seek Man Entombed Five Days

SUTTER CREEK, Cal., June 8.—(INS.)—Although scant hope was entertained of finding him alive, crews today continued burrowing down to the 700-foot level of the Central Eureka mine where Michael Milovich has been entombed for five days.

Rescue workers report intense heat and the presence of suffocating gases as they dug near the shaft where Milovich was imprisoned by the collapse of supporting timbers.

Obituary

McKay Funeral

GROVE CITY, Pa., June 8.—Funeral services will be held here, today at 2 p. m. for Alexander B. McKay, 85, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. D. Shafer of St. George, Staten Island, N. Y. Mr. McKay was born near Pardoe and served in the Civil War. He came here in 1876 and started the McKay Carriage Company, one of this community's most thriving concerns. He was the first burgess of the town. Surviving are his widow; a son, William McKay, president of the Greenville National Bank; two daughters, Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Nelson Sutter, of Orange, N. J.; a sister, Mrs. M. B. Montgomery, and a brother, James McKay, both of Grove City.

Jacob S. Patterson

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 8.—Jacob S. Patterson, 78, wealthy Greene County coal dealer, died suddenly at his home here yesterday just after he had finished eating a meal. Mr. Patterson had been in poor health for some time. He was one of the first coal dealers to operate in Greene County and formerly held large acreages in this county and in West Virginia. He was considered an authority on coal valuations in this section. Besides his widow, Mrs. Melissa Patterson, he is survived by two sons, M. B. and E. D. Patterson, both of Waynesburg, and one daughter, Mrs. John Brickley, of Youngstown, O.

Harris Funeral

Funeral services will be held Monday from the home of Mrs. Samuel H. Vatz, 5856 Darlington road, for Samuel Harris, 73, former Pittsburgher, who died in Los Angeles Wednesday. Prior to going to California several years ago Mr. Harris had been a resident of Pittsburgh 50 years. He leaves his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Vatz, Mrs. Louis Meyers, of Carnegie; Mrs. Abe Lapidus, of New York; Mrs. Morris Gusky, of Los Angeles and Miss Eva Harris, of Pittsburgh; four sons, Morris H., Percy I.; Harry and Joseph Harris, all of Pittsburgh, 21 grandchildren and one great grandchild. He was a member of the Tifhereth Israel Congregation.

Mrs. Jane Craig Cullen

Mrs. Jane Craig Cullen, 65, wife of Andrew Cullen, 6941 Meade street, died Friday in the West Penn Hospital. She leaves her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Miller; one son, William Cullen; two sisters, Mrs. John French and Mrs. George B. Hamilton; one brother, Robert Craig, and one grandchild. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. from the Moreland funeral home, North Highland avenue and Rippey street.

Robins A. Wilkinson

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 8.—Robins A. Wilkinson, 37, died yesterday at her home near Hickory, Pa. She was a nurse for the past few years in Pittsburgh and had served a period of 19 months as a nurse in the United States Navy. Her death followed a lingering illness. Her parents and seven brothers and sisters survive.

Mrs. Andrew Cullen

Mrs. Andrew Cullen, 65, of 6941 Meade street, died in West Penn Hospital yesterday. She leaves her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Miller; a son, William Cullen; two sisters and a brother. Funeral services will be held from the Moreland funeral home, North Highland avenue and Rippey street, at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for all lines of fruit and vegetables was slack today at the Pittsburgh wholesale produce district. No change was made in the prices.

The poultry market was firm, demand fair, supplies nominal and quotations remaining the same.

Car lot supplies were fair with a total of 378 cars on track. Arrivals included 4 cars of apples, 10 cabbages, 2 carrots, 9 cantaloupes, 1 cauliflower, 3 celery, 5 beans, 2 corn, 13 cucumbers, 3 dewberries, 4 lemons, 5 lettuce, 4 onions, 17 oranges, 26 potatoes, 2 sweet potatoes, 18 tomatoes and 20 watermelons.

BUGS BAER Says

MABEL GOES TO A NEUTRAL CORNER.

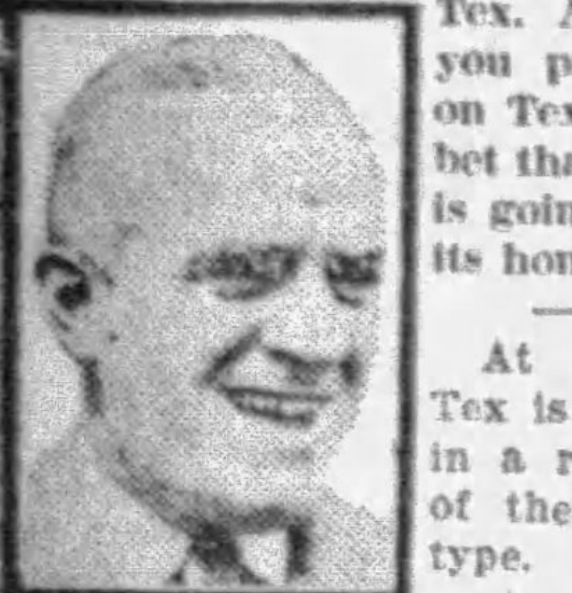
Mabel tried to put the bee on Tex. And when you put a bee on Tex you can bet that the bee is going to lose its honey.



"Bugs" Baer

We do not claim that Tex ever sold liquor in her flea-bags and nocturnal drums.

We do not say so because of the advice of our attorney. Our attorney had nothing to do with it.

We do not say so on the advice of our chemist.

Anyway, the long weary battle between the Amazonians of the front pages is over. Tex's name is still in electric lights while Mabel is spelling hers out with toothpicks.

Tex claimed that justice triumphed. Still Mabel's tenure of office has resulted in much confusion among the suspected elite.

It has gotten so that a bartender doesn't know where to go to get his license.

Being an average citizen of the bowlegged type with a streamline chassis and red ears, we are for law and order if you cannot avoid them.

But figures from the Department of Compulsory Justice show that there are 27,575 dry violations for the first six months of 1928.

We can do better than that. Still prohibition is only an infant industry. Our home boys might do better if Congress would put a prohibitive tariff on Canadian booze.

Tex has nothing to do with that. We were in the halls of equity when 12 good men, and what, decided that Tex has nothing to do with the sale of paints, oils and varnishes.

Men may come and men may go but the saps run on forever.

It was getting so that Tex never had to carry a vanity case. She could always powder her nose using a polished police badge for a mirror.

Now her little playmate Mabel has gone and Tex reigns supreme on the throne of moronishness.

It was a beautiful battle while it lasted. Some day, we hope the girls meet again under snappier circumstances.

BALLAD

(News Item.)

DANBURY (Ct.) — Earnest Whitney traded his girl friend, Mrs. Mabel L'Amour, to Anthony Delrocco, clerk in a local tire store, for two new tires. Judge Davis sentenced both men to six months in the county jail for breach of the peace.

Now Earnest Whitney had a girl genteel,
But lacked new tires for his automobile;
Tony Delrocco, who could shoe the crate,
Said, "I like your bebe, so let's arbitrate."
Remaining calm and cool, and undismayed,
Earnie the balance sagaciously weighed,
And had to agree with Tony the wop
That it was a most commendable swap.
But exceedingly brief's the bliss of men
Who live where justice is sudden and grim;
For Judge Davis, fearful lest crime increase,
Decreed the transaction a breach of peace.
So Earnie and Tony were sent to the jug
To stay there six months all safe and snug,
While the girl, and she gets no blame from me,
With car and tires will be making whoopee!

Pittsburgh Has Pride In Cultural Products

Secretary of the Interior Wilbur was the principal speaker at the graduation exercises at Pitt and also at the annual banquet of General Alumni Association of the University of Pittsburgh, one of the features of Pitt's impressive commencement program.

In his address at the latter function Secretary Wilbur proved that he had grasped the significance of Pittsburgh as a cultural center. So many not residents of Pittsburgh visualize it merely as a vast workshop of metallic materials, unaware that the shaping of spiritual and mental elements is part of our industry and that our products in that line include young women and men of whom we are more proud than we are of our great industrial accomplishments.

"A place," said Secretary Wilbur, "is known by its products, and Pittsburgh is known all over the world for its industries as well as its institutions of learning."

Many places plume themselves because they have a single institution of higher education. Pittsburgh, with the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pennsylvania College for Women, Duquesne University, Pittsburgh Theological Seminary and Western Theological Seminary, has an array of institutions which are prominent in the educational world, all turning out products of the highest importance.

Week Devoted to Flag Proclaimed by Mayor

The week beginning tomorrow has been designated Flag Week in a proclamation by Mayor Charles H. Kline, who urges business, civic and other organizations to aid in inculcating reverence for the flag and in making its meaning known.

Friday, June 14, will be Flag Day, marking the one hundred and fifty-second anniversary of the adoption of our flag. On that day, as usual, flags will be displayed as a tribute to our national emblem. Meantime there will be opportunity to renew our knowledge of the history of "the starry banner" and of its significance as a symbol of our ideals, accomplishments and aspirations.

The Flag Week idea is a good one, its beginning coinciding with a huge vesper flag service to be held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the west steps of the Capitol in Washington, with an impressive program, including the display of the largest flag in the world, 65 by 90 feet, weighing 640 pounds.

Among those in attendance will be winners of the national flag contest, 18 boys and 18 girls, selected from more than 250,000 children throughout the country, and who, as part of their reward for becoming "flag champions," have been enjoying a trip under the auspices of the Sun-Telegraph and all other Hearst newspapers, which assisted in promoting the contest. They will be presented with crosses of honor at the vesper service.

Reason for Gratitude in Facts of Sinclair Case

Confirming the six months' sentence of Harry Sinclair for jury shadowing, the Supreme Court again gives the lie to the statement that "you can't send a million dollars to jail."

Sinclair and his associates, Henry Mason Day and W. Sherman Burns, must take their medicine. The people of the United States will not gloat over them in their misfortune. But the people believe the lesson that no man is above the law, what ever his wealth or position, is a salutary one.

Sinclair and his associates forgot it. The country was in danger of forgetting it.

A year and a half ago the Washington Herald, a Hearst newspaper, uncovered the facts on which the Supreme Court now convicts Sinclair and his fellows.

In the public interest, the Herald withheld publication of its exclusive information until it could lay it before the court for action.

This course was termed by the New York Times "a notable public service, not one which all newspapers have adopted, and not only a cause for congratulation in the newspaper world but also the furnishing of a model for imitation by others."

The Supreme Court now makes that service effective.

It demonstrates that money is no insurance against a free and upright bench, aided by a free and enterprising press.

It proves that, despite sinister efforts to get a grip on both, there are still honest newspapers in America.

It serves notice that the people still have bulwarks against which the oily millions of oil millionaires, the powerful resources of Power Trust magnates, are alike powerless.

And, fellow citizens, in these facts there is reason for nationwide gratitude, linked with a nationwide resolve that those bulwarks of liberty shall not be broken down.

Tales That Are Told

The Romantic Guest

THERE was a sudden startled exclamation; then followed a resounding crash as a jug and basin smashed to atoms on the floor.

A light was switched on, and the burglar stood revealed.

"What are you doing here?" asked an angry and forbidding spinster sitting up in bed and scowling at him.

For a moment he was nonplussed. Then a brilliant idea flashed across his mind.

"Madam," he began, "do not be alarmed. I am the composer of the song, 'Moonbeam, Kiss Her for Me,' and I just dropped in to see if my instructions were being fulfilled."

A Simple Solution

AN angler had a four hours' tussle with a huge salmon before he was able to land it. When at length he had made sure of his catch, he took it home and related his triumph to his maiden aunt. He made as much of his adventure as possible, and laid special stress on the time it took and the immense energy he had to expend before he could secure the salmon.

When he had finished he waited anxiously for praise.

For some moments there was silence, and then, with a puzzled expression, his aunt looked up from her knitting.

"But, my dear Arthur," she said, "why didn't you cut the string and get rid of the brute?"

Not Enough Light

"Whaur are ye guan wi' the licht?" asked the farmer.

"I'm guan tai coort my lass," was the frank reply.

"Man, that's awfu'," remarked the farmer. "I didna tak' a lamp when I was coortin'."

"I thocht that," rejoined the plowman, "when I first saw your wife."

Beyond Him

THE cyclist had lost his way and had inadvertently got on a private road. Suddenly he was confronted by a very stout and irate bailiff.

"Look here, young man," shouted the bailiff, "you go back! You'll not proceed except over my dead body!"

"Very good," replied the cyclist. "If it's like that I'll go back. I've done quite enough hill-climbing for one day!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

A LADY that was up for shooting her husband in Chicago hadn't had time to rehearse much with her lawyer, she was so busy trying on gowns and stockings designed for the right sort of verdict.

When she got on the witness stand and told her name and a lot of other fiction, her lawyer says in a gentle voice, "Now, please tell the jury in your own words just what happened on the night of November fourteenth."

"Tell 'em what happened? Why, you big stiff, are you trying to get me hanged?" she says.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

JOHN B. WATSON, the famous psychologist, doesn't believe that men will marry 50 years from now. He'll tell you why in the June number of the Cosmopolitan magazine. You'll be surprised! And maybe considerably bothered, for he backs up his opinion with some arguments which are hard to refute.

To begin with, he shows that marriage isn't something that just has to happen, like teething or growing toenails and whiskers. For a very considerable portion of human history, marriage didn't happen at all. When it did, it took on various forms now considered decidedly de trop to polite society. Polygamy, for example — polyandry — infant marriages—group wives.

All of these forms of marriage had their root in some social necessity. Men took several wives because, under certain conditions, there were more women than men. Women took several husbands because under other conditions, such as now prevail in some parts of Thibet, there were more men than women.

ALWAYS MARRIAGE WAS SHAPED TO MEET SOME DEFINITE HUMAN NEED. NEED OF HOME—NEED OF HELPMATE—NEED OF A PLACE TO REAR THE CHILD. BUT NOW, ACCORDING TO DR. WATSON, WE HAVE OUTGROWN THE NEEDS FOR WHICH MARRIAGE WAS AN ANSWER.

Men, says he, no longer need to marry women in order to enjoy their company. In fact the worst way to enjoy a lady's company is to marry her. And what he then proceeds to say about fat mamas over 30 made me sit right down and weep big wet tears — the mean thing!

Helpmates are BUT when they cease to be playmates. And you don't need to marry to acquire a playmate. There are always dozens of attractive young women right at hand. Try and get away from them!

Nor does a man need to marry to get a home. He may have his pick of a hundred corner restaurants and furnished apartments—which is probably all he'll get anyway if he marries the average working wife.

And as for children, once more Dr. Watson blasts cherished traditions concerning the family circle. "All of them would be happier and better brought up, anyway, if kept away from parents and brought up by trained persons."

Wherefore, he concludes, that 50 years from now men won't be marrying. It's a wow of an article. I wouldn't have missed it for a month's salary. Read it, if it's the last thing you do in June, and I'll wager you'll consider it the best investment of time and money you've made in 1929.

Nevertheless, I don't believe a word of it!

I admit that we humans are silly and selfish and sensual. I admit we're easily bored and bothered and everlastingly itching to try something new. And yet—I believe in us! I believe we're going ahead instead of back. Going ahead into some more sane and steadfast form of human relationship, rather than slipping back into our original jungle looseness.

KICK OF GUN

By Garrett P. Serviss

"It has been my impression that when an explosion takes place inside the breech of a gun the explosion itself does not cause the gun to kick or recoil, but that the air rushing in to fill the vacuum created by the swift departure of the projectile does. As the pressure of the explosion is equal on all sides, wouldn't this have a tendency to neutralize or keep the gun stationary? And after the bullet had just left the cartridge wouldn't this tend to relieve the pressure at the breech, and, if anything, cause the gun to be pulled forward by the friction of the bullet on the barrel, if it were not for the inrush of air?—G. F. K., Menominee, Mich."

UP in the historic Mohawk Valley, New York, when I was a boy, there were to be found many old Revolutionary muskets which had been sawed off to make shot guns and I had the ever memorable luck to become the possessor of one at a very early age. From it I learned a great deal about the explosive force of gun powder even before a little square volume, bound in gorgeous gamboge-colored boards, with a picture on it of a wise looking boy at play, and the title, "Parker's Natural Philosophy," came into my delighted hands. In fact, I didn't learn half as much from the book as from the gun and from a sympathetic-minded teacher who himself was not averse to taking a shot at a red squirrel.

I thus found that when the gun was rusty there might be a spurt of fire from the touchhole, due to the choking of the barrel increasing reaction at the breech; also that if I put in too heavy a load I got a big kick for a similar reason. But I never observed and was never told either by book or teacher, or experience, that the air rushing back into the gun had any other perceptible effect than causing a great sonorous commotion in the surrounding atmosphere, sufficient to alarm a whole tribe of Indians, and scare the crows for a mile around. And later in college days, when I passed from good old gossipy "natural philosophy," to the stiff-mannered mathematico called "physics," I never heard of any cause for the recoil of the gun except the explosive reaction of the gunpowder.

Now, suppose we look at it a little for ourselves. Can you tell me why the kick should wait until the explosion has driven the projectile and the air out of the gun, and until air has had time to rush back into the breech, before making itself felt? And how is the pressure of the explosion inside the gun to keep the gun stationary, simply because it is equal on all sides? If it were equally resisted on all sides it would either, if powerful enough, blow the gun to pieces, or burst it open on one side, or deform it in some way so that there would be a bounding reaction against its supports.

But encountering less resistance on the side toward the projectile, it expands most in that direction and drives out the projectile with the other contents of the barrel. While doing this it reacts powerfully against the breech, and produces the recoil of the gun before the expelled air has a chance even to begin to enter the emptied barrel.

Bible Passages

God Requires Obedience

(Deuteronomy 6: 1-11.)

NOW these are the commandments, the statutes, and the judgments, which the Lord your God commanded to teach you, that ye might do them in the land whither ye go to possess it.

That thou mightest fear the Lord thy God, to keep all his statutes and his commandments, which I command thee, thou and thy son, and thy son's son, all the days of thy life; and that thy days may be prolonged.

Hear therefore, O Israel, and observe to do it; that it may be well with thee, and that ye may increase mightily, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath promised thee, in the land that floweth with milk and honey.

Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord:

And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might.

And these words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart:

And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

And thou shalt bind them for a sign upon thine hand, and they shall be as frontlets between thine eyes.

And thou shalt write them upon the posts of thy house, and on thy gates.

And it shall be, when the Lord thy God shall have brought thee into the land which he sware unto thy fathers, to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob, to give thee great and goodly cities, which thou buildedst not.

And houses full of all good things, which thou filledst not and wells digged, which thou diggedst not, vineyards and olive trees, which thou plantedst not; when thou shalt have eaten and be full;

The Things I Love

THESE are the things I love: the light
That dances on the quiet lake
When day has gone and crooning night
Leaves only wind and stars awake,
Soft music and the sudden fires
That flicker in a ruby's heart,
Youth, laughter, all the glad desires
The world's gay magic can impart.

So many things I love: at dawn
The murmur of the willow leaves;
Bright wings that flutter and are gone,
The wren's small nest beneath the eaves;
The lilting of a tuneful flute,
That drifts along a silent street,
Beauty and all its bright pursuit,
And memory with its echoes sweet.

So many things I love, yet oh,
When danger pauses at your door
The little loves I treasured so,
Forgotten, beckon me no more!
I prized them once; but now, grown wise,
Ignore their futile fingertips;
My only hope is in your eyes,
My only joy is on your lips!

'A Certain Rich Man'

By Herbert Kaufman

HE USED to believe in fairy tales. Now, he doesn't even believe in lawyers.

But that was before he discovered how Aladdin's lamp may be rubbed the wrong way, and that the biggest checks don't necessarily procure the best counsel.

He began as a druggist and he's back at the job, lastingly convinced, after six years of contrary opinion, that they do send rich men to jail.

Once upon a time he might have opened any gate to preferment with his golden key ring.

He had all the money in the world—folk become just that wealthy when they can't begin to spend incomes.

Millions poured in upon him faster than he could find recreations, offices, or honorable duties for them.

He schooled his dollars at the stock ticker; they learned to read the market reports, but not the shame of Benedict Arnold.

They played the race and politics—they hobnobbed with sports and lobbyists, instead of university endowments and medical research.

They were good fellows, but bad citizens—generous and unscrupulous—temptation for greed and weakness—a wanton, cynical force. And in the end, a defiant, defiling influence.

Blue Books have forgotten Harry Sinclair's name, but history will preserve it in Congressional Records and Supreme Court decisions.

He enjoys the unique, if dubious distinction of evoking from the nation's highest tribunal the most scathing denouncement that august body shall likely ever deliver.

His countrymen will vividly recall this withering indictment of the Teapot Dome conspiracy, when Grand Jury verdicts are nebulous memories.

Nor is America apt to forget the Elk Hill leases, the tawdry portrait of Fall, Doheney's technical whitewashing, or the miserable farce staged by the Los Angeles Breakfast Club at which he was showered with eulogies and presented to dumbfounded guests as a self-sacrificing patriot and a flag-wrapped martyr.

THEY DIDN'T GET AWAY WITH IT.

Blackmer must renationalize, or remain a man without a country. O'Neill, exiled and ill, hides his face in, God knows what cranny of Europe.

And Colonel Stewart's conceptions of Congressional authority and corporation responsibility have been over-ruled by public opinion and majority vote.

Justice, conscience and impartiality still rule the Republic.

Heaven may be barred to "certain rich men," but penitentiaries haven't yet discriminated against any governors, Veteran Bureau heads, Alien Property custodians or billionaires who belong there.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 8.—Many beautiful young girls in New York to all appearances take the easiest way, but are, as a matter of fact, "good girls." While they skate dangerously on thin ice they are not ostracized chiefly because of the looseness of metropolitan conventions.

To the world they appear to be old men's darlings, but are in some instances merely companions, and appease the ache of loneliness that so frequently comes to rich and aged widowers and bachelors. The attachments are purely platonic. Ladies must live, and the lonely must have companionship.

In exchange for their companionate service many girls are on salaries as fixed as those of stenographers and private secretaries. They go out to dinner, the play or opera whenever invited and the rest of the time is their own without restrictions.

Indeed, some are in love with other men and often marry them. Such attachments are peculiar to large centers where congestion paradoxically creates isolation. Elderly men in New York are not able to form the friendly contacts of smaller communities.

The rich old gazabo is not without his vanity. He not only enjoys squiring about the beautiful, well-dressed and cultured girl, but he is flattered by being seen in her company. And there are enough cultured girls of this sort who do not care a fig for conventions.

There is one dodderer of a Fifth avenue club whose private pay roll includes three girls of this sort. He takes one out for the evening one week and another the next, and so on. Each knows about the other, and the arrangement is strictly a commercial one.

This indulgence is said to cost him $30,000 a year—a $10,000 salary for each. For many years a millionaire widower h. escorted a talented actress to gay gatherings. He has no thought of marriage, nor has she. They are rare friends. She receives $20,000 annually, and will share in his estate.

A few blocks eastward from Park avenue is a collegiate speakeasy that is a high spot for campus cut-ups destined to miss chapel the morning after. It is an old house, and there is a room lined with Heidelberg steins. Slap a collegiate with a bar towel or give him two beers and he'll fidget if he cannot sing a drinking song and beat a tankard against a table top. Over the bar are pennants from all over, and bartenders exhibit a neat collection of pledged frat pins. The manager is a college man and interviews all the unknowns before admitting them. Two uke strummers sing boola boola songs to heighten the "atmosphere."

Speakeasy backrooms these days resemble the saloon backroom of other days. There is the sallow, shirt-sleeved piano player with the eternal cigaret drooping from loose lips, and those buxom blondes who sing tear-jerking melodies so touching in mawkish sentimentalities. There is sawdust on the floor, the odor of stale drinks and the hanging haze of cigaret smoke. To heighten the ancient cameo, a cop drifts in now and then, has his drain behind the door, and moseys away.

* * *

The "Frankie and Johnny" song is still a favorite of the speakeasy backroom. No one seems to know just how many verses there are to the jovial and ribald ditty. But one singer in West Forty-eighth street is able to sing 137 verses. And that, no matter how sloshed you are, is almost enough.

A fellow from home writes: "Your efforts at metropolitan sophistication are amusing to those of us who saw you turn pale the day you walked under the first electric fan in Kerr's drug store."

The electric auto sign across the Broadway frontage of the Claridge Hotel pays $60,000 a year rental. The tooth paste ad with so many slogans, at the head of Times Square pays $110,000 a year. High lights, as it were.

They get it, they get it!

Isn't It So?

Kiss a woman's tears away and she will keep on crying.

True, all things come to an end, but it is first necessary to start something.

In the old days when mother announced she was going to reduce, she referred to household expenses.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

WHEN you voice an opinion about a person, is it yours or are you repeating the opinion of another?

People don't have set opinions till they have stopped thinking.

It is rather a doubtful compliment to pay a person, to say he is one of strong opinions.

It might be your opinion today, but greater knowledge of tomorrow might noticeably change that opinion.

It takes a lot of courage to voice a strong opinion and then have to reverse yourself in order to be honest and live up to more accurate information to be gained as time passes.

Very often the one who likes to be known as a person of strong opinion is too lazy mentally to do more than take the opinions of others.

Don't be the mouthpiece of someone else, unless you are sure that you are willing to subscribe to the deductions of the one you quote.
